GERMANS CLOG ROADS SEEKING HOMES OR JOBS

Old, Young, and the Maimed on Move

BY LARRY RUE
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Oct. 22—Industrial Germany today is like a fine watch with its casing smashed open and its works being systematically destroyed or removed.

The country is one huge concentration camp where all human existence and all property of the inmates depends upon the whims of or instructions to the Russian, French, American, or British guards.

This correspondent has just completed a 10 day tour thru a large section of the British, French, and American zones of occupation. I was not alowed to go into the Russian sector except the Berlin area. My assignment was to explore living conditions in Germany.

I entered Germany thru Aachen, thence thru bitterly fought over terrain via Juelich to Cologne. From Cologne I went by the super-highway to Hanover. Bremerhaven, Bremen, Berlin, Brunswick, Kassel, Frankfurt, Wiesbaden, Nuernberg, Munich, Augsburg, Stuttgart, and Baden were included in the tour.

Masses on the Move

Of all these once great cities, Augsburg and Baden were the only ones not flattened by the war. In between there were countless minor cities and towns where brick and rubble and the cratered landscape told more than words ever can how the German people were punished long before surrender for their crimes in supporting or condoning Hitler and his nazi regime.

Everywhere Germans are on the move. They travel in groups. They are mostly women, children, and old men, altho here and there a young man with a leg off might be seen hobbling on crutches. Most of the able bodied still are prisoners of war, altho in the American and British zones more and more are being released and repatriated. The groups moving on the main highway usually are pulling small wagons or pushing carts loaded with personal belongings.

In some groups there are baby carriages. Others carry babies. Children of 6 or 7 into their teens walk, an older brother or sister sometimes pulling or carrying a younger member of the family.

Many Seeking Jobs

These groups of travelers appeared in driblets at Aachen, increased in numbers as I approached Cologne, and when I reached Berlin there was a constant stream going westward. Here they were not only walking but were being transported in British and American trucks or old German buses.

Inquiry disclosed that most of them were refugees from the Russian zone or from East Prussia, which was given to Poland. No provision had been made for their food or transportation. Not all were refugees. Many were trying to find friends or relatives or were looking for jobs. Most of the industrial life of Germany not dislocated by bombings and the war has been destroyed by allied military government directives. So far the allies have not been able to create new, productive jobs.

The military governments refuse to give rations to those who move without permits, but this still does not halt the migrations, for many, even when returned to the place they came from, are told to move elsewhere.

So far in their treks they have managed to get some food from farmers. Their diet—and this goes for most Germans—is mostly potatoes.

Canada Closes Door on 2,800 Germans Who Left

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 22—About 2,800 naturalized Germans who left Canada before the war and went back to Germany will not be permitted to return, Paul Martin, secretary of state, said today. Most were ardent Nazis and left Canada in 1933 and 1934.

Drop Clearing Site for New Airport Here

BY ROBERT HOWARD
(Map on page 8)

By eliminating the Clearing site from further consideration, Mayor Kelly's airport selection board yesterday moved closer to recommending that Chicago's future air terminal be developed at the Douglas field location northwest of the city. Concurrently, Cook county commissioners indorsed a report by their aviation committee recommending the Douglas site.

Engineers said that the Douglas terminal could be made superior to the Idlewild airport being built by the city of New York on Long Island. Selection board members, meeting in the city hall, took the view that a decision in favor of the Douglas airport was inevitable, but final action was held up until Ralph H. Burke, park district engineer, can compile comparative cost figures on the Douglas location and a lake front airport.

Army Clears Road for City

The army sent word that it has no further use for the 1,325 acre Douglas airport near Park Ridge and Chairman Merrill C. Meigs of the selection board announced that Chicago has first priority. The Defense Plant corporation is ready to entertain an offer, but Meigs said he didn't know whether more than nominal payment would be expected. Along with the landing field, the army air forces will abandon the factory, at the intersection of Higgins and La Grange rds., where the Douglas Aircraft company, Inc., built mammoth cargo planes during the war.

If properly reimbursed, the Chicago and North Western railroad would not interfere with relocation of its frate tracks west of the Douglas site, A. H. Mellinger of the board said he was informed by President R. L. Williams of the railroad. The city would have to pay for moving the tracks and to compensate the North Western for the additional cost of operating on an increased mileage.

Two Designs Submitted

Burke and George R. Kennaday, engineer for American Airlines, Inc., said it might not be necessary to move the railroad. Burke submitted two tentative layouts of 4,607 acre, 12 runway airports, each of the tangential or pinwheel design, which could be placed between the North Western and Soo Line tracks. One provided for each of the 12 runways to be 6,150 feet long. The other would extend every third runway to 7,700 feet.

Kennaday approved the plans, and said they would be superior to the Idlewild airport, which for normal operations will use 6,000 foot runways.

Should the North Western tracks be moved 3,000 feet westward 12 tangential runways each 7,700 feet long could be built at Douglas, Burke said. His plans called for the relocation of Higgins, La Grange, and Irving Park rds. in the area, with extra acreage acquired by condemnation.

An airport with 12 runways of 7,700 feet would be superior to any terminal being planned anywhere in the world, Kennaday said.

THE ANCIENT SPORT

'Cream in His Coffee' Asks More Sugar

Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 22 [Special]—Tho interested in the eloquent love making in 33 letters read to them, a jury of 11 men and one woman deliberated six hours and then disagreed tonight over a middle aged secretary's efforts to collect $25,000 she claimed was left her by the boss who called her "the cream in his coffee!"

Common Pleas Judge John A. Mawhinney discharged the jury and said a new trial would be necessary to settle the claim of Miss Grace Afflerbach, 52.

The small, auburn haired secretary contended she had given the best years of her life—29 of them—to her former employer, the late Judson C. Burns, electric appliance magnate and radio Sunday school teacher, who died in 1943.

$106,000 Already Collected

She conceded that the wealthy business man had given her $96,000 during his lifetime and had left her $10,000 more in his will. But he also left an additional $25,000 for her in the care of his son, R. Paul Burns, 44, who has refused to give it to her, she asserted. The son contends his father gave the money to him as a gift.

Miss Afflerbach, who testified she had been employed by the elder Burns most of the time since she was 18, told of his frequent pleas for her to marry him. He began asking her, she said, even before his second wife divorced him in 1930, and the wedding bells would have pealed for them in 1942 except that Burns was "too ill."

She introduced the 33 letters Burns had sent her, many of them written from distant parts of the world as inspiration gripped him as he traveled in Europe, Asia, Mexico, and Canada. He desired to show his "decent, genuine, and honorable affection" for her.

"You are mine and should be with me," he wrote her from Honolulu in 1939. "Here we see the little brown girls with their short grass skirts. But what I want is the little Dutch girl in my arms in a quiet little spot in Philadelphia."

"What a Chump"

From a luxurious Jasper Park lodge in the Canadian Rockies he wrote her in 1942, on his last trip before his death:

"What a chump I am not to have you here with me where you belong and where you have belonged for the past 20 years. . . . When I get back to Philly I am going to hold fast to you. I could not carry on without you. . . . I think you and I together could have a restful time in the chimney corner.

"Darling, I am homesick for you. You are my only love, the joy of my heart, my life. My heart goes out to you. It races over the miles to find a haven in the cosy corner waiting for me in your great, loving heart."

From Turkey in 1937 he had expressed a pensive doubt: "I don't see how you can love me—but then there is no accounting for taste."

RUSSIANS STOP U. S. EMBASSY CAR AND STEAL ITS WRENCH

WARSAW, Oct. 18 [Delayed] (AP)—Lt. Col. Edward J. York, air attache of the American embassy here, said he was halted in Warsaw tonight by Russian officers who demanded and took a lug wrench from the embassy car. The automobile was stopped by a Russian lieutenant, who grasped York's Polish chauffeur. The attache identified himself, but another lieutenant stepped forward and said:

"It makes no difference who you are—American, British, French, Belgian, or Polish. We take what we want. Now are you going to give us that wrench or do we have to take it from you?"

York deemed it wise to surrender the wrench. The incident was reported to United States Ambassador Arthur Bliss Lane. York participated in the Doolittle Tokyo raid and was downed in Russian territory. His home is in Batavia, N. Y.

Maj. Michael Hresan of Oak Hill, W. Va., embassy physician, said a Russian officer attempted to take his car.

Bill to Create Citizen Status for Canadians

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 22 (AP)—Establishing a new principle in the history of the British commonwealth, the Canadian government today introduced in parliament a bill creating for the first time a real "Canadian citizen" without altering Canadians' status as British subjects. No member of the commonwealth now has such a national status for its citizens.

After passage of the bill, Canadians traveling abroad will no longer list themselves as British subjects on passports, but rather as Canadians, and on many other official documents their nationality will be clearly stated as Canadian instead of British.

Symbol of Independence

Explained by Paul Martin, secretary of state, as a symbol of Canada's new importance as an independent country with her own national aspirations, the bill would supplant conflicting provisions of three old laws under which Canadians never had a clear definition of their status as such.

"Canada is today one of the most important nations," Martin said before introducing the bill. "We have borne our full responsibility for the preservation of freedom and civilization. Our fighting men have brought glory to Canada.

"Canadians have derived a growing national pride from what Canada has accomplished, and we feel that we can afford to hold our heads high and be proud of the fact that we are Canadians."

Women to Get New Rights

An important clause in the bill affects the status of women. Married women have been classed with "minors, lunatics, and idiots as persons under a disability," Martin said. They could not become naturalized or control their national status as independent persons except in special circumstances. Under the new bill all "disabilities" for married women have been eliminated.

The government is working on a design for a national flag that it hopes to propose in the current session of parliament.

200 Will Toil 2 Years on 30,250,000 British Medals

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

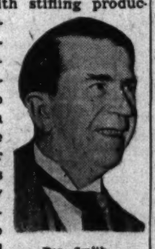
LONDON, Oct. 22—Woolwich arsenal, one of Britain's biggest war plants, has been given a contract by the government for 24 million medals, it was reported tonight. An order for 6,250,000 was placed in September. It is estimated 200 men will be kept busy on the contracts for more than two years.

CHARGE ABUSES HOLD UP GOODS AND MANY JOBS

Legislators Urge Drastic Reform

BY LAURENCE BURD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22—Charging the OPA with stifling production of household goods, creating unemployment, and boosting prices to consumers, a house committee today called for drastic reforms by that agency to speed the nation's return to an unfettered price economy.



Rep. Smith

The committee, headed by Rep. Smith [D., Va.] and created to look into abuses by executive agencies, reported unanimously that OPA's insistence on continuing rigid war controls in peace time has hamstrung consumer goods production.

Methods Called Unrealistic

Conceding that some price controls may be needed for the time being, the group declared, however, that OPA has bound itself to rigid "unrealistic" methods with a resulting loss of output of needed products.

It declared that the price agency's refusal to grant a "reasonable profit" to established manufacturers on a long line of household goods has prevented maximum output. At the same time, the report said, new producers are being granted the right by OPA to turn out and sell similar goods of inferior quality at higher prices.

The report cited numerous examples of OPA rulings that have allegedly forced consumers to pay higher prices while preventing established companies from returning to peace time output.

A Typical Example

In one typical instance, it said, an established maker of electric irons applied for a price ceiling to permit retail sale of the irons at less than $3. OPA refused to approve this price, but permitted a newcomer in the field to "price an inferior and inherently dangerous electric iron to retail at $5.50," the committee found.

The group declared that OPA is still adhering to the same "unrealistic" and "out-dated" decrees which kept business under federal control thruout the war.

"The policy of adherence to rigid formulas," said the report, "has retarded reconversion, prevented production, especially in low priced commodities, has restricted opportunity for full employment, and has at least in some instances actually caused prices of cost of living commodities to rise."

Profits and Prices

The committee declared OPA's denial of reasonable profits to business on low priced products is largely responsible for the return to shelves of only high priced goods in many lines.

It said shortage of such vital consumer items as underwear, shirts, sheets, and stoves, among others, is due partly, at least, to OPA's refusal to set ceiling prices to cover costs plus a reasonable return.

OPA's attempt to keep prices at 1942 levels in the face of greatly increased labor and material costs has, the group found, "throttled" output and worked hardship on the entire nation.

Simple Method Proposed

The report proposed that OPA's present complex methods of fixing prices be replaced by a simple rule that producers could charge a price reflecting current production costs plus a reasonable profit.

It proposed that producers file their price schedules on simple forms with regional or district OPA offices, and that these prices be effective unless objected to by such offices.

The committee further called upon OPA to permit wholesale and retail merchants to pass on price boosts to their customers.

Act to Remove Rule of Atom from Military

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22 (AP)—The senate today ended a two week stalemate over procedure on measures dealing with atomic energy by voting to create a special committee of 11 to handle them.

The decision represented a victory for senators who had argued, as some of them phrased it, that "this thing is too big to be left in the hands of the military."

The committee of 11—six Democrats and five Republicans — will study the atomic energy measure the administration has sent to the capitol.

U. S. Commission Proposed

This bill, reportedly drafted by the war department, would establish a commission appointed by the President to control domestic development and use of atomic energy.

It was introduced two weeks ago by Acting Chairman Johnson [D., Colo.] of the military committee. At the same time a companion bill was introduced in the house by Rep. May [D., Ky.], military chairman in that branch.

Sen. Vandenberg [R., Mich.] and others protested in the senate against letting the bill go to the military committee. They said that atomic energy's implications in international relations are of first importance.

9 Members First Proposed

Sen. McMahon [D., Conn.] sponsored the resolution for creation of the special committee, to be named by Senate President McKellar [D., Tenn.].

McMahon proposed nine members. The increase to 11 was accepted by a 45 to 27 vote when Majority Leader Barkley [Ky.] advanced it as a substitute for an increase to 18 proposed by Sen. Ball [R., Minn.].

Morse Warns of "Suspicion"

Supporting Ball, Sen. Morse [R., Ore.] told the senate that administration policies on atomic energy have "stirred up world-wide suspicion."

He said this has been aroused first by American use of the atomic bomb and second by the administration's announced plan to keep its manufacturing method secret.

THREE INJURED IN LAKE ST. 'L' TRAIN COLLISION

Evening rush hour "L" traffic on the Lake st. division was slowed at 5:30 p. m. yesterday by a collision of two trains on the ground right of way at Long av. Three persons were injured and other passengers were shaken.

A two car train headed for the division yards rammed the rear of a four car loopbound train, which had stopped on a flagman's signal. Harry Dvorak, 36, of 259 N. Kostner av., motorman of the two car train, said his brakes did not hold. He was cut on the right hand.

Others injured are Mrs. Sarah Radcliffe, 45, who suffered a possible fractured shoulder and rib injuries, and her sister, Mrs. Anna Rindzuner, 47, who incurred a possible spinal fracture. The women, who reside at 2319 Orchard st., were taken to Loretto hospital.

FRANCO GRANTS BILL OF RIGHTS WITHIN 'ESTABLISHED' LAWS

MADRID, Spain, Oct. 22 (AP)—Generalissimo Franco today issued a decree giving the Spanish people "a bill of rights" that granted freedom of expression, provided it does not run contrary to "the fundamentals of the state."

The decree sets forth individual guarantees and provides for freedom of assembly for nonpolitical associations and others considered legal and in accordance with established laws. Other rights enumerated include freedom of private worship, with the Catholic religion remaining the official state religion, and the right of the individual to petition the chief of state and the Spanish parliament.

The decree provides also for the right of enterprise and protection of private property subject to "the common good." In the event of emergency, all rights can be suspended by act of the Spanish cabinet.

G. M. EMPLOYES GIVEN WARNING OF LONG TIEUP

45 Hour Work Week Rejected by Union

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 22 [Special]—The nation's largest labor union and largest automotive corporation fired salvos at each other here tonight in their impending battle over wages. The expected struggle of the labor and industrial giants is expected to have a profound effect on living costs and price standards in postwar America.

Walter P. Reuther

The CIO United Automobile Workers union on the one hand and the General Motors corporation on the other took it for granted in official statements that a strike is a certainty and each charged the other with responsibility for it.

325,000 to Vote

This pre-battle bombardment came as 325,000 employes of General Motors in 135 plants thruout the nation were preparing to vote Wednesday on whether to strike in support of the CIO-UAW demand for a 30 per cent wage increase.

General Motors made public a letter sent today to all salaried employes stating that "the vote will undoubtedly be in favor of a strike" and warning that "we must anticipate a very serious situation which may endure for a long time."

Another General Motors letter to hourly rated employes said that General Motors employes have been singled out by international officers of CIO-UAW "to spearhead their attack on the country's wage and price control policy." This letter cautioned that the voting will not be for or against a 30 per cent wage increase but for or against a strike and that "this strike vote may result in a long strike."

Respect of Legal Rights

The letter urged the workers in the event of a strike to "respect the legal rights of others and under no circumstances" cause or permit damage to "the plants and equipment with which you must earn your living when the strike finally ends."

"In such strike votes, the vote is usually overwhelmingly in favor of the strike," the letter said. "Probably most employes who vote for a strike really don't want one and hope the threat of a strike will be enough. But a majority strike vote usually results in a strike."

Salaried workers were told not to attempt to force picket lines in the event of a strike or to "expose yourself to violence in any way." If they are unable to come to the plant, their salary checks will be mailed to their homes on regular paydays, the corporation promised.

Refers to "Singling Out"

"If it is possible for you to get into the plant, we want you to be there, but otherwise go home and make the most of the enforced holiday," the letter advised.

Reference in the corporation letter to hourly rated employes to a union "singling out" policy was to a CIO-UAW announcement last month of a revolutionary strike plan to select and wreck one large corporation with a blockade of strikes while aiding the victim's competitors.

At that time the CIO said, "We'll take on General Motors because it sets the wage policy for the entire industry. We'll strike at the time General Motors is the weakest and we are the strongest."

Charges G. M. "Sitdown"

Walter P. Reuther, CIO-UAW vice president in charge of the General Motors division, said the corporation has "given notice of a sitdown strike against the announced government policy of raising wages to maintain take home pay wherever such increases do not require price increases."

Reuther made this charge in a wire to Sen. Murray [D., Mont.], chairman of the senate's education and labor committee, and appealed to him to bring General Motors' position in the wage dispute to the immediate attention of the senate.

Reuther supplemented his wire to Sen. Murray with a statement commenting on a proposal made last week in a press conference by C. E. Wilson, General Motors president, for a 45 hour work week coupled with a 5 to 8 per cent an hour increase and overtime after 45 hours.

Reuther said this would mean scrapping the federal wage and hours act, "one of the basic principles for which labor fought so hard and so long," and added that "General Motors workers and their union will never agree to this."

R. J. Thomas, CIO-UAW president, termed the Wilson proposal a "phony bribe," and said, "I can assure him [Wilson] that no bribe, phony or real, could persuade the auto workers to such a betrayal of their own people."

In his wire to Sen. Murray, Reuther described Wilson's position as amounting to an "either or" ultimatum to the government, the people, and the corporation's 325,000 employes. He charged Wilson with saying that either the government will have to raise prices, labor will have to take the present 23 per cent cut in take-home pay, or congress will have to amend the wage-hour act to increase the normal work week.

Calls It Labor Baiting

"If none of these ultimatums is accepted, Mr. Wilson said, General Motors will push out sample cars to dealers thruout the country and then go on a sitdown strike, relying on public opinion to force congress to take the backward step of increasing the work week to 45 hours at a time when 8 million unemployed within the year are anticipated," Reuther's wire stated.

Reuther added that "General Motors wants a strike. That is plain."

"It is baiting labor; it is baiting the government," he charged. "It is planning to use its vast economic power and propaganda machine to coerce congress."

Elaborating on his opposition to a 45 hour week, Reuther said in his public statement that acceptance of the proposal would be "a crass betrayal of the service men coming home looking for jobs, as well as a betrayal of all Americans who justifiably expect industry to do its part to insure an economy of full employment."

"Part of Whole Pattern"

"Mr. Wilson's statement that a 40 hour week does not increase employment is completely specious, and he is enough of a production man to know it," Reuther said. "On a 40 hour week you work more shifts and add more people to afternoon and night shifts to meet production schedules. That makes more jobs and its makes for more production efficiency than long work weeks."

Reuther emphasized that Wilson's 45 hour week proposal was made at a press conference and has never been presented to the union. He said this method of presenting the proposal was a part of "the whole pattern of the corporation's attempt to evade collective bargaining in good faith and a peaceable settlement of this dispute."

As part of this pattern, Reuther said, Wilson has met with everybody on our demands except the union. He has met with President Truman and with the press, has written letters to congressmen and governors, and published full page newspaper advertisements, Reuther said, but "Wilson himself has yet to attend negotiations with the union on the 30 per cent pay demand."

G. M. Issues Reply

"The corporation is obviously trying to transfer the negotiations out of the conference room to the picket line, the White House and legislative halls," Reuther asserted.

The General Motors office today issued a reply to an earlier statement by Reuther that the corporation could pay the 30 per cent pay increase, cut at least $100 from the price of Chevrolet automobiles, and still earn for its stockholders more than the 1936-39 average of 180 million dollars. This, the corporation said, was "an Alice-in-Wonderland theory."

A DRAFT BOARD VIEWS STRIKES; STARTS ITS OWN

McCrae, Ga., Oct. 22 (AP)—Disliking the strike situation, the Telfair county draft board has gone on strike itself.

Chairman O. F. McEachin announced today the board would refuse to send any more men up for induction so long as the present widespread strikes continue.

"We feel," said McEachin, "that it is unfair to take 18 year olds who are badly needed on the farm and are willing to work as long as the present situation continues. It just doesn't add up."

CLEANER ROBBED OF $1,000

Sigmund Steiner, 5559 Adams st., part owner of the Publix Cleaners chain, was held up yesterday by two bandits in his store at 3400 Harrison st. and robbed of $1,000 in collections.

MORE STUDIOS FACE THREAT OF UNION TIEUP

Mass Picketing Spreads to Two Others

Hollywood, Cal., Oct. 22 (AP)—Mass picketing—which strike leader Herbert K. Sorrell says will close every movie plant this week—spread today to two more studios, virtually closing one of them.

RKO officials reported that only one company was shooting today of the six scheduled to work. Most actors were on hand, they said, but there were no technicians to operate the equipment.

Paramount, picketed by approximately 300, reported that production had not been affected so far and that the only five companies scheduled to work today were going ahead.

Three Pickets Arrested

About 300 pickets massed at RKO and 500 at Warners, which has been shut down two weeks by the movie strike.

Three pickets were arrested at Paramount after a fight started when 20 nonstrikers tried to break thru the picket line. About 15 succeeded in getting thru the gate.

Settlement of the strike seemed no nearer after a week of conferences between representatives of studios and unions. Eric Johnston, head of the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors association, flew today to Cincinnati to meet with the AFL executive council.

At Cincinnati William Green, AFL president, said the AFL executive council had set Wednesday for hearing of Johnston's appeal.

Reports "Some Progress"

He admitted he had not accomplished the purpose for which he came to Hollywood, but said "some progress has been made." He said he would urge at Cincinnati a "prompt and fair settlement" of the walkout, which involves a jurisdictional dispute between the Conference of Studio Unions and the International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes, both AFL.

Sorrell, head of the CSU, has promised to "settle this strike quicker than those people back in Cincinnati."

Later today Warner Brothers obtained a Superior court order for Sorrell to appear next Monday and show cause why he should not be punished for contempt of court in connection with the violence and rioting at that studio recently.

Universal Pictures also filed a court action to enjoin various locals and individuals from picketing.

GLASS WORKERS STRIKE

Columbus, O., Oct. 22 (AP)—CIO unionists halted production at 12 plants of Libbey-Owens-Ford and Pittsburgh Plate Glass companies in seven states today and a union spokesman said "they'll stay closed until we get a contract." An estimated 15,800 were idle.

Joseph Froesch of Ford City, Pa., international president of the CIO Federation of Glass, Ceramic, and Silica Sand Workers of America, said a federal conciliator would meet here with union officers tomorrow but added, "I don't know if anything will come of it."

He described the situation as a "technical lockout" resulting from refusal of company representatives to continue contract negotiations because of a walkout of less than 400 workers at an Ottawa, Ill., plant.

John D. Biggers, president of Libbey-Owens-Ford, Toledo, O., said company-union discussions at Chicago were terminated last week after 15 days of deliberations because of the Ottawa walkout.

Both company and union spokesmen agreed that negotiators were only about 5 cents apart on wage differences.

The following plants reported workers idle: Ford City, Pa., 2,700; Creighton, Pa., 2,500; Clarksburg, W. Va., 1,100; Charleston, W. Va., 1,700; Toledo, O., [three plants] 4,000; Mount Vernon, O., 700; Ottawa, Ill., 400; Henryetta, Okla., 500; Crystal City, Mo., 1,600, and Shreveport, La., 600.

MINERS BACK IN 6 STATES

Pittsburgh, Pa., Oct. 22 (AP)—Virtually all the 211,000 soft coal miners made idle in six states by the mine bosses' strike returned to work today, signaling start of a pickup in the sagging steel industry.

Heading the back to the pits trek were 93,000 West Virginia miners. Only 3,900 out of 64,000 were still idle in Pennsylvania, and they were involved in local grievances.

Coal operations were returning to normal in Kentucky, Ohio, Tennessee, and Indiana, which altogether had more than 54,000 idle last week.

John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers, had ordered the four week old stoppage ended today, postponing settlement of the union recognition demand of his Clerical, Technical, and Supervisory Employes union.

Speeches Upheld

[Acme Telephoto]

Frederick C. Crawford, president of Thompson Products company in Cleveland, O., addressing plant workers yesterday after being upheld in federal court.

Cleveland, O., Oct. 22 [Special]—Waving a striped prison suit, Frederick C. Crawford, president of Thompson Products, Inc., today urged his employes, in a lunch time address, to "think deeply" about tomorrow's election when they will vote for the third time whether they want the CIO United Automobile Workers' union to represent them.

Crawford said he brought along the prison suit because he "wasn't sure whether he would be here." He referred to his federal court victory in Cincinnati last week in which he was upheld in his contention that he had the right to talk to his employes about their voting.

In two previous elections, employes of the machine parts firm voted overwhelmingly against the CIO. On each occasion the CIO contended Crawford had intimidated his employes by his talks and the national labor relations board upheld that contention and ordered new elections.

PORT AGAIN TIED UP

Houston, Tex., Oct. 22 (AP)—An embargo halting all railroad frate traffic for export at Port Houston went into effect this afternoon as port activities remained paralyzed by a strike of warehousemen and clerks' and checkers' locals of the International Longshoremen's association [AFL].

Earlier today the different units in the longshoremen's organizations announced that unless compromise wage proposals are met, they will abandon the offer and return to their original demands. Original demands were $1.50 an hour for clerks, $1.35 for checkers and tallymen, $1.25 for coastwise longshoremen, and $1.12½ for carloaders and warehousemen.

BUS STRIKE ENDS

San Francisco, Cal., Oct. 22 (AP)—The Greyhound bus strike, which tied up service in seven western states, was settled tonight and buses will resume operation immediately, United States Conciliation Commissioner Omar F. Hoskins announced.

STRIKE ON 'L' IS THREATENED FOR TOMORROW

A two hour strike on the Chicago Rapid Transit Lines between 1 and 3 p. m. tomorrow was threatened yesterday by 4,200 union operational employes over a pay priority dispute. They are members of division 308, Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes [AFL].

The threat was made when the operating employes learned there had been scheduled for today the payment of a 10 per cent wage increase retroactive to June 1, this year, to 450 clerical and supervisory employes, under a federal court order. The amalgamated also has been granted pay increases, retroactive to June 1, last year. The amalgamated wants to be paid first. If payment to the other group is deferred today, the protest strike presumably will be canceled, it was said.

Elevated line officials said last night that they are eager to pay the back wages to the 4,200 operating workers. However, they said, the task of computing each man's time, at varying hourly rates, with overtime, for 15½ months, is so colossal that checks may be delayed until November. The other workers were paid on a flat monthly scale and it was not difficult to compute their back pay, it was said.

BRAKE SHOE CO. PLANTS TARGET IN TWO STRIKES

Production at the forge foundry of the American Brake Shoe company, 1220 W. 119th st., was halted yesterday when 500 employes, members of the United Farm Equipment and Metal Workers [CIO], refused to cross picket lines established by the United Auto Workers [CIO].

About 400 members of the latter union have been on strike at the company's plant at 26th st. and Hoyne av. since Sept. 22. They are asking a 30 per cent wage increase, and retroactive pay to July 1, 1943, totaling $535,000. Their average individual pay has been $3,560 a year.

Walkout at Second Plant

Another plant of the same company, 26th st. and Cicero av., Cicero, also was hit by a walkout, but union men said there was no link between the strikes. In Cicero, 175 UAW workers walked off the job because, the union said, the company refused to discharge a nonunion Negro employe who had attacked two Negro unionists.

Sam Wolchok, president of the United Mail Order, Warehouse, and Retail Employes union [CIO], said he had received a letter from Montgomery Ward & Co. asking for resumption of wage contract negotiations and suggesting the meetings be held in Albany, N. Y. Wolchok said a date probably would be set after further correspondence.

Oil Companies Boost Wages

A 15 per cent pay boost was given yesterday by several oil companies to gasoline and fuel truck drivers of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters [AFL]. Nevertheless, the union proceeded to vote 213 to 37 for a strike, altho its officers said this action was only a formality.

A picket line was established around the plant of the Scott Radio Laboratories, Inc., at 4541 N. Ravenswood av. by local 73, General Service Employes union [AFL].

Revere Plant Resumes

At the same time, 1,500 strikers returned to work at the General Electric X-Ray corporation, 2017 Jackson blvd. They are members of the International Association of Machinists [AFL].

United Packinghouse Workers of America [CIO] will hold a mass picket demonstration and union dues card inspection at the stock yards Friday morning.

REACH PRINTERS' STRIKE ACCORD; VOTE SET TODAY

Some 1,700 striking printers in 127 of the city's 300 job printing shops will be urged to return to work today by officers of local 16, International Typographical union [AFL], under the terms of a compromise agreement reached last night.

The agreement was reached at a meeting between the union's officers and scale committee and representatives of the Franklin association, representing part of the city's job shops.

The printers had asked a 7¼ hour day, two weeks vacation with pay, pay for six legal holidays, and $4 a week pay increase. Employers were willing to grant two weeks vacation and the pay increase. Under the compromise agreement, the printers would work a 7½ hour day for the first six months of a two-year contract and 7¼ hours thereafter; they would receive pay for three holidays, Christmas, Labor day, and the Fourth of July; time and a half for the first three hours overtime on any one day except the fifth, when they would receive double time. Overtime above three hours would be at double rates on any day.

The contract would be dated Sept. 4, when the old contract expired, and could be reopened 10 months after that date for readjustment of wages. If no agreement on wages were reached by the 13th month the contract would be void.

Thomas Canty, president of the union, said the provisions of the contract also would apply to 173 shops which previously had accepted the union's original terms. The agreement will be submitted to the strikers at a meeting at 2 p. m. today at 1340 Washington blvd.

N. Y. SERVICE UNION MEMBERS WIN FIGHT HERE

Convention Upholds 'Rank and File'

The Building Service Employes International union, headed by William L. McFetridge of Chicago, yesterday upheld a rank and file revolt among the membership of New York local 32-B, with 22,376 members, by voting to seat 10 rank and file delegates at its national convention in the Morrison hotel.

The vote was 56,494 for the credentials committee report, seating the 10 rank and file members in addition to 28 regularly elected delegates from the local, and 8,143 against, with 2,307 votes withheld.

The rank and file delegates, whose fares to Chicago were paid by a collection taken up among union members, charged election irregularities as the result of high handed methods adopted by officers of the local.

President Under Suspension

David Sullivan, president of the local, recently was suspended by McFetridge, pending an audit of the local's books. He is not attending the convention.

The fight was injected into the regular sessions of the convention on a motion to approve the credentials committee report.

Christopher Lynch, chairman of the rank and file group, told the convention that the rank and file members were denied an opportunity to have watchers check the voting at the last election and that the ballots were counted by a hand picked election committee. Chief movers in the procedure, he said, were Thomas Shortman, local vice president, who also is a vice president of the international, and a David Richey.

Asks Aid to Oust "Gang"

He appealed to the convention to help the rank and file members oust what he described as "gangster and hoodlum" control of the local.

Caesar Denkerlin, spokesman for the regular delegation, denied Lynch's charges of election irregularities, and said he wanted to defend the local's officers because their "sanctity, honesty, and purity" had been questioned.

TRUMAN MEETS WITH AIDS ON WAGE POLICIES

Presidential Statement Delayed Again

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22—At a White House conference of most of the administration's economic big wigs President Truman made another effort today to hit upon a plan for raising wages substantially without raising prices, or raising them very much.

Walter P. Stacy

At the close of the conference the President found himself still unprepared to make the announcement of policy he had promised for today. The White House said a statement was being evolved and probably would be made later in the week.

The White House announced that Judge Walter P. Stacy of Wilmington, N. C., will preside at the labor-management conference called by the President to meet here Nov. 5 to consider measures to establish and maintain peace between employers and labor. Judge Stacy is presiding judge of the North Carolina Supreme court, and for many years has served as a neutral arbitrator in wage and other employer-labor disputes. He is an associate member of the war labor board.

Take Part in Meeting

Participation in the White House conference were Treasury Secretary Vinson, Navy Secretary Forrestal, who, as a Wall street financier, qualified as economic adviser; Agriculture Secretary Anderson, Second Assistant Labor Secretary Moran, Economic Stabilizer Collet, and OPA Director Bowles.

Following the session Moran told reporters that "a very definite policy was substantially agreed to." He did not elaborate.

The President's statement of policy was promised originally for last Friday, following cabinet meeting. The cabinet, however, proved to be widely split on the economics and the mechanics of raising wages and at the same time holding the line against further inflation. Mr. Truman came away from the cabinet meeting confused on the subject, and postponed the announcement till today. The meeting today failed to dispel the confusion sufficiently for a Presidential pronouncement.

The President finds himself in a dilemma that caused him to complain that labor is letting him down. The CIO, with whose political boss, Sidney Hillman, the nomination of Mr. Truman for Vice President was "cleared," is cracking the whip over the administration to deliver on the labor program, which includes 30 per cent wage advances, a 65 cent minimum wage, $25 unemployment compensation, and full employment legislation.

Mr. Truman has gone to bat on all these propositions except the 30 per cent wage raise, the current task confronting him.

Threaten Entire Program

Strikes to enforce wage demands are in progress and others impend that threaten to retard seriously, if not fatally, the entire program of reconversion of industry from war to peace production. The National Labor Relations board is opening the polls this week for 500 strike plebiscites.

In demanding 30 per cent higher wages labor is seeking as much take-home pay for the 40 hours a week to which employment has now reverted as it received during the war, which with overtime was equivalent to pay for 52 hours. The CIO contends that the raise can be granted without raising prices and thereby giving inflation another fillip.

The employers assert that a 30 per cent raise would necessitate price advances, without which industry would be compelled to fold up, with depression and widespread unemployment the result.

In the cabinet and other conferences discussion has revolved around a proposal to sanction wage advances not exceeding 15 or 20 per cent, which Commerce Secretary Wallace figures would entail a price rise of only 3 or 4 per cent.

One suggestion reputed to appeal favorably to Mr. Truman is that a price advance be allowed only when the producer could demonstrate that a wage increase had increased the cost of his product.

Moves Her House

Mrs. Helen Centers as she supervised the job of moving a house she bought to a new location in Harvey.

This is to let Cecil Centers, a carpenter's mate 2d class with the Seabees on Okinawa, know that his wife, Helen, and their son, Robert, 13 months old, have found a place to live. Here's how she did it.

She found a vacant five room house on the farm of Bernard Tysen at 171st st. a block east of Halsted st. Tysen was willing to sell and Mrs. Centers bought the house.

She obtained permission from the state and county to move the house from Tysen's farm to a lot she and her husband own at 162d and Wallace st., Harvey, two miles away. She arranged with the Illinois Bell Telephone company and the Public Service company to raise wires along the route so the house could pass. Then she called house movers who jacked the house off its foundation and started it on its way, with Mrs. Centers supervising the job.

Yesterday the house arrived. As soon as a foundation is built, Mrs. Centers will leave the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter T. Kelly, 173d st. and Chicago rd., Thornton, and take up her residence there to await her husband's return.

SEES BANKRUPTCY START

New York, Oct. 22 [Special]—In an attack on national planning, John Hancock, co-author with Bernard Baruch of the Baruch-Hancock report on reconversion in 1944, said today that what the planners "have done so far in this country is to create about a decade of large unemployment and a fair start toward bankruptcy."

Speaking at the first national marketing forum under the auspices of the Sales Executive Clubs of New York, Hancock added that "all long range planning by industry and individuals" will be hampered as long as pressure groups "are allowed to feed at the public trough."

He said federal policies in pricing goods not manufactured during the war were an example of "governmental ineptness." Even if they were "sound and well executed," Hancock continued, "they are not applied equitably or in a manner that removes uncertainties."

TRUMAN'S STAND ON TRAINING TO BE GIVEN TODAY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22—President Truman will personally deliver his special message on the subject of military training before a joint session of congress shortly after noon tomorrow. The speech will be carried by all radio networks.

The speech is expected to run some 2,500 words for 28 minutes, White House Assistant Press Secretary Eben Ayers said. He added "lots of dope" has been printed about the course the President will take, but all of the "dope stories" that have come to the attention of the White House have been wrong.

A-BOMB DEFENSE INSTITUTE URGED BY SOCIOLOGIST

Creation of an institute to direct a long range inquiry into the social consequences of nuclear energy and the atomic bomb was advocated yesterday by Dr. William Fielding Ogburn, chairman of the department of sociology and Sewell L. Avery, distinguished service professor at the University of Chicago.

"We have spent two billion dollars bringing the bomb into existence. Why should we haggle over a few thousand dollars more to learn where this newest invention is leading us?" Ogburn asked.

Investigation of the bomb's impact on human behavior, he said, might take 10 years and should be conducted by "cold blooded" social scientists using mathematics, charts, and statistics.

Can't Bank on Promises

Realism, not idealism, he said, should guide such investigators while there still is time for the world to realize that agreements not to use the bomb in war time probably would be disregarded when World War III. comes along, perhaps in another 25 years.

His pessimism about the success of such agrements, he explains, stems from the failure of the Kellogg-Briand pact to outlaw war and the ineffectiveness of the league of nations to accomplish the same purpose following World War I.

Decentralization of America's principal cities into small rural communities less vulnerable to atomic destruction is recommended by Ogburn as a "secondary defense" against the atomic bomb.

The atomic bomb will have a big role in deciding the world's great powers of the future, said Ogburn, who is noted for his studies on the effects of technological improvements and inventions on human society. His three year study on the social consequences of the airplane is now awaiting publication.

Study Can Minimize Evils

England, he pointed out, rose to the top of the international heap on steam. And steam, he said, had as some of its social consequences the emancipation of women, the breaking up of homes, and the multiplication of divorce.

In like manner, he explained, the automobile was responsible for almost complete abandonment of the rural church, the creation of consolidated schools, and the bankruptcy of many railroads. With intelligent study, some of the harm done by these inventions might have been avoided, Ogburn said.

Today, he pointed out, the country with the most factories has the greatest power. That country is America.

"But what has been our great strength in the last war will be our great weakness in the next war," he maintained. "Because we have more factories than any other nation, we also have more large cities which will be targets for atomic bomb attack."

Russian Situation Better

Russia, he said, is better situated in this respect than is the United States. She has relatively few large cities and during the war, under great secrecy, constructed cities in the Ural mountains, far from her borders.

Such communities would be far less vulnerable to destruction by atomic bombs than our own thickly populated eastern seaboard, where 30 million inhabitants are packed into a relatively small area, he said.

Cities like Chicago, he suggested, might make a start in preparing for the atomic age by condemning slum areas and refusing to allow them to be rebuilt. This, he explained would "hasten the process of decentralization," which transportation is now effecting by slower means in our largest urban centers.

Cities "Exploding Outward"

In a sense, Ogburn explained "our principal cities are now exploding outward," toward their peripheries, as populations move toward the suburbs.

As many as 200 different projects might be involved in social studies to determine the effects of nuclear energy and the atomic bomb on our largest centers of population, he said.

In advance of such scientific inquiry, he advocated immediate selection of sites and preparation of foundations so that essential industries and key plants, such as public utility installations and ball bearing factories, could be moved with a minimum loss of time to camouflaged locations immediately after the first enemy atomic bomb falls.

CANADA PLANS TRANSATLANTIC AIR LINE SOON

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

OTTAWA, Ont., Oct. 22—Within a few weeks, the Trans-Canada Air Lines, government-owned company, will have a commercial service in operation across the Atlantic, C. D. Howe, minister of reconstruction, told commons this afternoon.

Within a year, it is hoped to have a Canadian service to the West Indies and Latin-America, Howe said. Next priority will be given to establishment of a Pacific service.

With a new domestic line from Winnipeg to Edmonton via Saskatoon and a shorter transcontinental line over the Great Lakes, plus the ocean routes and seven new routes into the United States, Howe said plans are to increase air mileage five or six times. Howe was speaking for a measure increasing Trans-Canada capital from $5,000,000 to $25,000,000.

3 LEFTIST BLOCS COME OUT ON TOP IN FRENCH VOTING

BY DAVID DARRAH
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

PARIS, Oct. 22—Gen. De Gaulle was acclaimed by his partisans today as the French George Washington as almost complete returns confirmed his personal triumph in yesterday's general election and referendum.

Returns also confirm that the Communists will be the strongest party in the new constituent assembly, with the Socialists and the new MRP [Popular Republican movement] party having almost equal strength and thus forming three main blocs—all to the left of center—in the future political setup.

With only about 30 per cent of the seats, however, the Communists will not be strong enough to hamper what may be a working majority of Socialists and the MRP, which embraces Catholic sentiment and is the bugbear of the Communists.

Reds Win 151 Seats

Latest unofficial returns tonight put the Communists' seats at 151, the MRP at 142, Socialists at 139, Radicals 19, Rightists 40, and Independents 40, which means that the MRP and Socialists can command a majority between them if they wish to work together.

The strength of the Communists and the MRP stood out as surprises in the election.

The fact that the Socialists ran third also upset predictions. The emergence of the MRP to a dominant position was unexpected for it was founded only a few months ago, and an equal surprise was the virtual eclipse of Rightists and Radicals.

The overwhelming response to the first referendum question indicates that the French people want a complete break with the old regime and a renovated constitutional system. At the same time they expressed confidence in De Gaulle and his program for a stable interim authority during the next troubled seven months.

Four Chief Figures

In the future there will be three main currents in French politics, all on the left side—Socialists, Communists, and Catholic Socialists, who among them will have about 80 per cent of the seats in the assembly.

There will be four chief figures; first, Gen. de Gaulle, who will play an Olympian, untouchable role—he did not even bother to vote altho Third Republic presidents always have made a point of doing so. De Gaulle certainly will be chosen to head the new government when the new assembly is organized on Nov. 6. Second will be Maurice Thorez, head of the Communist party and said to be under the thumb of Moscow. Third will be Leon Blum, head of the Socialist party and former Popular Front premier, and the fourth Maurice Schumann, active leader of the MRP and a close follower of De Gaulle.

STEAL $800, FURS, AND AUTO

Two men who robbed Sigmund Steiner, part owner of a cleaning and dyeing establishment at 3400 Harrison st., of $800 and two fur coats yesterday, also took the keys to his car and drove away in it, he told police.

15 ROOM HOUSE, WITH 5 BATHS, TO BE HOME OF CITIZEN LA GUARDIA

New York, Oct. 22 [Special]—Mayor Fiorella La Guardia, who must vacate Gracie mansion, home provided by the city, by Jan. 1, when his term expires, announced today he had purchased a 15 room house in Riverdale, N. Y. He told city hall reporters he paid more than $40,000 for it. La Guardia will complete 12 years as mayor at $25,000 a year on Jan. 1.

The 38 year old Riverdale house was bought from Roderick Stephens Sr., president of Stephens Fuel company, member of the triborough bridge authority and chairman of the Bronx No Deal party. Stephens is an independent Republican who was selected to run on the No Deal platform for Bronx borough president.

There are five baths and a finished attic made over for a children's playroom in the house. On the main floor are a sunken dining room, kitchen, breakfast room, and a living room leading to a glass enclosed sun parlor.

BISHOP SHEIL, CIO HEAD WIN AWARD FOR HUMANITY

New York, Oct. 22 [Special]—Auxiliary Bishop Bernard J. Sheil of Chicago, and Philip Murray, president of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, won the first annual Msgr. John A. Ryan awards to the Catholic clergyman and layman who have contributed most to the defense of human rights and the furthering of interracial amity.

The awards, made by the committee of Catholics for human rights, were announced today by Dr. Emmanuel Chapman, chairman of the committee. They will be presented at a dinner in the Hotel Roosevelt on Nov. 28.

"Thru positive and constructive contributions to human fellowship in their particular spheres of activity and in the general American community," Dr. Chapman said, "Bishop Sheil and Mr. Murray have rendered distinguished service in promoting human welfare in all fields and in combating assaults against the dignity of the individual."

DISCUSS FUTURE OF 500,000 POLES ON GERMAN SOIL

80 Per Cent Wish to Stay Thru Winter

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 22—Half a million Polish displaced persons sent 150 delegates to a meeting at Bartowick, near here, to discuss their future and work out an educational program for the numerous children and youths in their midst.

Most of these Poles, who have not been repatriated to date, were deported by the Germans as slave workers or political prisoners. Some of them came to Germany voluntarily to seek work.

Anxious to Keep Traditions

All of them are anxious to keep up their Polish traditions, and therefore numerous schools for the children were opened in their bigger Polish communities. The meeting at Bartowick was to discuss the possibility of founding a Polish university on German soil in British controled territory, to enable the youths to acquire Polish university training. The Germans tried to eliminate all intellectual life in Poland.

About 20 per cent of the Poles in Germany are now anxious to return as soon as possible, but 80 per cent elected to remain in Germany for the winter, feeling that hard as the winter will be here, it will be even harder in Poland.

Several Polish groups do not want to return to Poland fearing soviet influence has deepened in their country.

Receives First Letter

A Polish observer at the Lueneburg trial, Lt. Racieski, who followed closely the tale of horrors of Auschwitz and Belsen, where innumerable Poles were killed, has received the first letter from his wife since Warsaw was liberated. She told him five of his relatives were killed at Auschwitz.

Among the Poles killed at Auschwitz was Archduke Albrecht of Hapsburg, who married a Polish countess and lively entirely on a former Hapsburg estate in Poland. The Nazis tried to win him to their side, when they invaded Poland, but the archduke refused to sign a pledge of loyalty to Hitler.

FARRAND VIEWS REDS AS LIKELY ENEMIES OF U.S.

BY MAXWELL MURPHY
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Milwaukee, Wis., Oct. 22—Soviet Russia has ambitions in the world which top anything desired by America and she may be a potential enemy of the United States, Brig. Gen. Roy F. Farrand, president of St. John's Military academy, Delafield, Wis., said in an address here tonight advocating universal military training.

Gen. Farrand, who spoke to the members of the 3d ward Republican club at the Cudahy Tower, 925 E. Wells st., pointed out that there are only two countries in the world today with greater man power than America's.

"The first is China, the second is Russia," he said. "China has little else than man power, but that is not true of Russia. Russia has potential wealth and raw materials in excess of our own. Russia has ambition in excess of our own. In the light of many things that have happened since and during the San Francisco conference, I am not sure that Josef Stalin may not prove to be the man that came to dinner.

"I know that we are presumed to take the Russians to our bosom and extend a comradely hand to Stalin, but I cannot stomach it. Clashes of interest between ourselves and Russia are inevitable in the future. A line of scripture keeps recurring to me. It reads thus: 'Can the leopard change his spots.'"

Gen. Farrand advocated 12 months of military training for American youth, saying that the experiences of this war has shown that such a period is necessary for complete training, not alone for the individual soldier but for divisions, corps, and army groups.

AUSSIE BRIDES RETURN 'FED UP' WITH AMERICA

BRISBANE, Australia, Oct. 22 (AP)—More than 50 Australian brides of American service men returned from the United States aboard the Matsonia today, some saying they were simply homesick and others disappointed because the country was "not like the movies and magazine advertisements."

Among the women were some widows and divorcees and others who said they were "just fed up."

"I felt like an outcast," said Mrs. Betty Schultz of Sydney. "The American women resented us and were always saying we pinched [stole] their men. America is likeable but the people are dreadful. Every one rushes around like lightning and after the quiet life in Australia, America is absolute bedlam."

Reds in Iran

TEHRAN, Iran, Oct. 22 (AP)—Advices from northern Iran said tonight that new contingents of Russian troops, including cavalry, infantry, tank, and air units, had arrived in Tabriz, capital of the Iranian province of Azerbaijan, about 200 miles east of the Turkish Iranian border.

These accounts followed reports in the Iranian press that disorders were continuing in Kurdistan, Russian occupied area in northern Iran. The incidents were attributed to a local independence movement. The Russians, who have policed the territory since 1941, recently have refused to permit Iranian police to enter.

Premier Muhsin Sadr resigned today as head of the Iranian government but consented to hold office at the request of the shah until a new cabinet could be formed. Parliament had heard Foreign Minister Sepahbodi report that the allies had agreed to withdraw all troops from Iran by March 2, 1946, in accordance with a treaty.

FORBID POLES TO RENT HOMES IN 6 BIGGEST CITIES

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 20 [Delayed]—(AP)—The Polish government took over exclusive management of all housing today in the nation's six largest cities—Warsaw, Lodz, Gdansk [Danzig], Lublin, Katowice, and Poznan.

The decree forbids house owners to rent their own properties and assigned this function to a single person to be designated for each city by the municipal governments. The order provides that only public workers, soldiers, clergymen, professional workers, traders, sick persons, and youths of school age may live permanently in any house. Others may stay only two weeks.

The decree provides that a person may have only one apartment in any of the six cities. The government estimated 400,000 persons in Warsaw still are living in cellars or small rooms built over the ruins of burned out buildings. The health ministry said Warsaw had 10,000 cases of typhoid as of Sept. 30.

17 U. S. EMBASSY GUARDS TO QUIT WARSAW SOON

WARSAW, Poland, Oct. 21 [Delayed]—Of the 45 United States soldiers who came to Poland to help establish the American embassy, 17 may be en route home for discharge soon after Nov. 1.

All will be glad to go. As one put it, "We have seen all we want to see of Poland. It's going to be refreshing to be in an American city where there are no shootings every night."

Three aides of the military attache are to leave. One is Sgt. Charles M. Parker, West Lafayette, Ind. Other eligible 60 pointers from Chicagoland are Sgt. Douglas A. F. Ulrich, Indianapolis, Ind., and Pfc. Raymond H. Peters, Peoria, Ill.

REPORT KING ZOG SEEKS SUPPORT OF ARAB LEAGUE

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ISTANBUL, Turkey, Oct. 21 [delayed]—Exiled King Zog of Albania is seeking the support of the Arab league for his pro-monarchist movement and developments are expected soon, it was reported in information received here today from reliable sources.

The king, now in London, will go to Cairo early in November, it was said. Political circles here expressed the opinion that the pro-Zog movement will be greatly strengthened thru diplomatic representation the Arab league has with the allies, if the king succeeds in obtaining the league's support. Moslems are in the great majority in Albania.

Unite to Fight Communists

Albanian political refugees in the Italian town of Bari, meanwhile, are forming a British sponsored committee to fight the Communists in Albania, it was said. Two hundred refugees of the monarchist [Zog] and Nationalist parties are living in Bari. As soon as it is constituted, the committee will proceed to London but its headquarters will be in western Greece, where close contacts with Albania offer the best ground for its activities.

A former Albanian official, arrived recently from Tirana, said the present Albanian government of Premier Enver Hodja is the only Balkan government that is exclusively Communist. Enver Hodja is secretary general of the Albanian Communist party. The former official said:

"Albania is totally under the authority and influence of Marshal Tito of Yugoslavia. Enver Hodja makes no decision without the approval of his master. All the members of the puppet Albanian cabinet were promoted to the rank of general by Tito.

Opposition Parties "Eliminated"

"The Monarchist and Nationalist parties were totally eliminated by well known methods. The Communists seized power in Albania with Tito's aid and, especially, thanks to the arms and money the British gave them to fight the Italian occupation. The arms and money were used to constitute communist brigades, instead of fighting the Italians.

"The Albanian Communists who are ruling the country at will number only a few thousand. They are aided by nearly 1,000 Greek Communists, members of the Elias organization."

RUSSIANS SEIZE GERMAN ASSETS OF RED CROSS

Decree Liquidation of National Offices

BERLIN, Oct. 22 (AP)—A secret order issued last month by Marshal G. K. Zhukov doomed the German Red Cross to confiscation of its assets in the Russian occupation zone and liquidation of its national headquarters, it was learned today.

Dr. Paul Konitzer, health director for the soviet zone, was named by the Russian army to supervise the carrying out of Zhukov's instructions.

Records showing Red Cross bank accounts and other funds totaling 350,000,000 marks [$35,000,000 at the current military exchange rate], distributed thruout Germany, have been submitted to Konitzer on behalf of the Red Cross president, Rudolf Nadolny, pre-Hitler ambassador to Moscow.

U. S. Aides Get Copies

Copies were presented to American and British officials.

Zhukov's confiscation order was dated Sept. 18, several weeks after the national headquarters had appealed in vain to the allied control council for formal recognition of the German Red Cross. Just before Zhukov acted, the Red Cross addressed a second message to the council, asking special aid for 4,500,000 refugees estimated to be flooding into eastern Germany.

Enforcement Reported Spotty

Scattered reports from soviet-ruled eastern provinces showed some local governments dominated by left-wing elements were enforcing the confiscation order. Others had told Red Cross units to continue working but to remove the Red Cross insignia.

[American authorities permitted the Bavarian Red Cross to reorganize several months ago. The agency was to be divorced from the German Red Cross and seek a charter from international headquarters.]

Some Russian observers were known to regard the German Red Cross as a potential intelligence network that could be put to other than merciful activities. It has been attacked by German communists as a tool of "reactionary interests."

U. S. PROPOSES 3 POWER PACT TO AID BALKANS

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22 (AP)—The United States has proposed development of a three power program for economic recovery in the Balkans, but officials are fearful that Russia will continue a lone wolf course there.

It was learned today that the proposition was made as part of an expression of disapproval of a Russian-Hungarian trade treaty which is almost ready to go into effect. Officials here carefully refrained from saying they "protested" against the treaty, which would give Russia a virtual stranglehold on Hungarian economy, but they did not seek to cloak their disapproval.

Yalta Pact Cited

The message which went to Moscow on Oct. 13 invoked the Yalta agreement for collaboration among the allied powers in all matters affecting the liberated and former enemy satellite countries of Europe. It was made clear in the communication that officials here do not consider Russia as living up to that agreement in the Hungarian instance.

The Russo-Hungarian treaty terms were not officially disclosed here, but they were reported to be of such a nature as to leave Hungary no resources with which to establish normal economic relations with other countries.

The United States, it was stated at the state department, seeks to prevent the Hungarian-Russia treaty from going into effect and proposes instead that this government and Britain and Russia discuss formulation of a program of economic collaboration to assist the economic recovery of Hungary. The same formula, once accepted, could be applied to other soviet dominated Balkan states—Romania and Bulgaria.

No Agreement Expected

But the expectation here is that Russia will not yield—that she is intent upon firmly establishing her economic as well as political position in the Balkan states.

There have been comparable Balkan deals in the past and so far as can be learned here the results of opposition from America and Britain have been wholly negative.

State department officials go to some lengths to avoid giving the impression that there is any plan to have a big struggle with the Russians over this issue. Evidently there is some hope here that the general atmosphere of United States-Russian relations may be improved as a result of direct approach by President Truman to Generalissimo Stalin.

Opinions on Austria

There is some tendency to see this same sort of kid gloves approach in political relations with Austria. On Oct. 15 the state department announced that it was ready to recognize the "provisional Austrian government" as a government for all of Austria but subject still to the guidance and control of the allied council at Vienna.

Tonight it was said at the state department that United States officials are not even thinking now of sending diplomatic representatives to Vienna, which would mean establishment of full diplomatic relations. The Russians have indicated that they will accord the regime such recognition. The effect of the American policy may be to avoid an appearance of competing with Moscow for favor.

BRITISH REPORT STALIN DYING; CAPITAL STIRRED

Dictator Declared Victim of Wasting Disease

BY WALTER TROHAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22.—Highest official circles were stirred today by a British intelligence dispatch, quietly circulated among key administration figures, that Dictator Stalin, 66, of Russia is dying.

According to information gleaned by British agents, the soviet marshall is undergoing a physical deterioration which may bring death momentarily or in weeks or months.

Stalin's illness, according to the dispatch, accounts for the curious inactivity of the soviets in the international scene in recent weeks. The dictator apparently is unable to make decisions, and his underlings fear to take the initiative.

The possibility that Stalin might already be dead was discussed in unofficial quarters, although discounted by most observers. Stalin's death might be concealed, it was noted, in order to straighten out the succession so that the name of the new soviet leader might be announced along with the fact of the generalissimo's death.

Leaders Apparently Fearful

There is no behind the scenes struggle in the Kremlin for succession, as far as can be determined, evidently because the Red leaders—military and political—fear that Stalin may return and mark the plotters for death.

The list of Stalin purge victims is probably the longest of its kind in history. All who crossed his path, balked his will, or aspired to his power have been executed or have disappeared.

An unauthorized aspirant to the Kremlin throne probably would find his post most unhealthy if Stalin should return.

It is considered possible, although unlikely, that a medical miracle might save the marshal, according to the report. A special medical institution has been maintained in Moscow for years for the principal purpose of guarding and prolonging the life of the No. 1 Red, according to Alexander Barmine, former soviet diplomat, who renounced Communism in his book, "One Who Survived."

Reported Ailing 15 Years

Stalin has been ailing for 15 years, according to observers of the soviet scene. The marshal has a slightly withered left arm, a fact reported by the late Leon Trotsky, his former superior and later his mortal enemy. Circulatory difficulties probably have contributed to the deterioration, it was said here.

Those who saw Stalin at Potsdam, who also had seen him at the Tehran and Yalta conferences, said he appeared to be worn and tired. One observer, not a physician, ventured the prediction Stalin would be dead within a year. The Potsdam conference was held in late July and early August.

The British intelligence report ascribed the deadlock of the London conference to Stalin's illness. It was said Russian Foreign Commissar Molotov held unyieldingly to his line because he was unable to get orders from the premier.

"Have No Information"

LONDON, Oct. 22 (AP)—The soviet embassy here, in answer to a question concerning reports that Generalissimo Stalin was gravely ill, replied tonight that "We have no information to that effect." Earlier, Andrei Gromyko, Russian ambassador to the United States, said that he had "no information" to support such rumors.

U.S. REPAIR SHIP IS FIRED UPON IN YANGTZE RIVER

Chinese Say Area Is 'Full of Reds'

SHANGHAI, China, Oct. 22 (AP)—The American navy repair ship Seize was fired on by a Yangtze river shore battery and small arms today near Chinkiang village, halfway to Nanking.

The Seize returned the fire with machine guns. No Americans were hurt but the Seize's mast was hit and she sustained minor damage. The episode was disclosed by Rear Adm. C. T. Joy, commander of the newely reinstituted Yangtze patrol. It was the first such incident since the patrol was resumed.

Joy notified Gen. Tang En-po, commander of government troops in this area. Tang said that the area was "full of Chinese Communists." He promised to take action to prevent a recurrence of the attack.

Central Troops Advance

CHUNGKING, Oct. 22 (AP)—Chinese central government troops under Gen. Sun Lien-chung continued to move northward today toward Peiping, the high command announced. The statement followed Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek's recent assertion that United States marines in North China—estimated at 60,000—would withdraw as soon as they could be relieved by central Chinese forces.

The Chinese were reported moving toward Peiping from the northern Honan town of Anyang, on the Peiping-Hankow railroad.

Tells of Civil Strife

A fantastic situation in Shantung province, in which the Japanese sought to maintain their supremacy by promoting civil strife, was described today by the 46 year old governor of the province, Ho Ssu-yuan.

He came here with an appeal to the central government and Communist leaders to halt the internal conflict in his territory.

According to Ho, both central government and Communist forces in Shantung bought much of their ammunition from the Japanese, and Japanese troops still are "protecting" cities against the Communists.

Ho said that both Communist and central government forces fought against the Japanese until 1938, when the Reds began to ignore the Japanese and concentrated their efforts against him.

22 DIE AS ARMY PLANE FALLS IN ALASKA SWAMP

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Oct. 22 (AP)—The army's Alaskan department disclosed today that 17 enlisted men from Aleutian bases and five officers were killed last night when a C-47 transport command plane crashed and exploded in a swamp 2½ miles southwest of Elmendorf field.

The soldiers were en route home for redeployment or discharge. The army said no list of the dead would be available until a copy of the plane's manifest arrives and next of kin are notified. Among the dead were the plane's pilot and co-pilot, attached to the 54th troop carrier squadron. No general officers were aboard.

The plane had left Cold Bay, in the Aleutians, on a flight from Adak. It approached Elmendorf field shortly after 10 o'clock, made a pass at the field, and then circled for a new attempt to land. Observers said it apparently was caught in the updraft of a williwaw wind and scraped the tops of cottonwood trees. It hurtled into the swamp.

MANILA STRIKE SEEKS 100% RISE IN PAY BY R. C. A.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

MANILA, P. I., Oct. 22—About 100 Filipino employes of the Radio Corporation of America struck today because the new manager, E. Baumgardner, who arrived in Manila yesterday, turned down their demands to increase their wages 100 per cent. Employes of Press Wireless also made plans to strike, and Associated Press and United Press workers, it was said, would strike in sympathy with both groups.

The R. C. A. walkout was a continuation of a strike that began on Oct. 3, but was halted on Oct. 5 when the CIO of America wired the strikers, linked to the Philippine committee on labor organization, a CIO affiliate, to go back to work pending negotiations.

The R. C. A. management took the case to the Philippine court of industrial relations, which told the strikers to go back to work pending further hearings. A hearing was scheduled for Oct. 29 but the strikers became impatient over "red tape."

INDONESE, JAPS, BRITISH REACH MID-JAVA TRUCE

BY ARTHUR VEYSEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

SEMARANG, Java, Oct. 21 [Delayed]—Peace came to mid-Java today as British and Japanese officers agreed to stop shooting and Indonesians agreed to share with British troops the job of restoring order.

The smell of death pervaded this city. Indonesians, wearing masks, went about the city in Japanese trucks gathering the bodies of 300 Indonesians killed during the past week's battling. The Japs have already buried their 200 victims.

The truce reaches inland to Ambarawa, 20 miles from here, where the Indonesians have been holding 1,200 Dutchmen, Eurasians, and Japs as hostages in jail since Oct. 15. Indonesian leaders agreed to release the prisoners and to resume supplying food to internment camps, where 9,500 Dutch women and children are still living. During the past week the Indonesians have cut food entering the camps to a trickle, seizing almost all of the 70 trucks from some of the camps.

Will Remove Japs

The truce provides that the only Indonesians to carry arms will be members of the police force. In return the allies agreed to remove Jap troops "as soon as law and order can be guaranteed and controled by us."

Semarang's streets, quiet as death two days ago when British Gurkha troops arrived after five days of street fighting, were thronged with Indonesians on foot and bicycles. Wherever the Gurkhas stopped, hundreds of Indonesians gathered and stared curiously.

One platoon of Gurkhas went by truck to Ambarawa. Scores of blockades which the Indonesians had maintained along the rutty road had been removed during the night by the Indonesians. Once in a while youths shouted "Merdeka!" Malayan for freedom, which is the Nationalist password.

Trucking on Heads

Men, women and children, in pitiful rags instead of bright sarongs which are supposed to be the popular dress in Java, trudged silently along roads with heavy loads of wood, rice, tapioca, fruits or greens. In the entire 20 miles we passed only three or four carts drawn by small tropical ponies. All other native trucking was done on the backs or heads of the people.

At Ambarawa internment camps the kids crowded around. Women dressed in shabby remnants of three years' prison clothes came to the doorways of houses or the prison cells which have been their homes. Wives of a plantation owner and dock clerk, of a major general and a private—they all lived alike.

One internment camp was in a prison built 105 years ago to hold 1,000 men. For the past three years it has been the home of 5,000 men and children. More than two months after the end of the war, they are still there, still eating the rice and bean fare, still plodding barefooted on the stony prison yard, with the day of returning to their homes still clouded by hatred and civil war.

Seek to Bring Peace

BATAVIA, Java, Oct. 22 (AP)—The British and American governments tonight intensified their efforts to bring peace to the East Indies. Med Denning, chief political advisor to Adm. Mountbatten, arrived by plane to make a personal investigation of the political situation.

Earlier Brig. Gen. Robin Pape, American liaison officer attached to the southeast Asia command, arrived. He emphasized that he was merely an observer.

So far only Batavia, Bandoeng, and Semarang have come under British control. Some sources said the British have advised the Dutch not to land troops in large numbers at present, and that the Dutch have complied with British suggestions to demilitarize the Netherlands colonial forces.

The unrecognized Indonesian republic, headed by President Soekarno, informed British Lt. Gen. Philip Christison that it could not insure the safety of 250,000 Dutch nationals and Eurasians, and asserted that endless bloodshed would result if more Dutch troops were landed.

Soekarno asked Christison for clarification of British army aims, and charged that the British were "supporting and buttressing the Dutch against us."

Troops Unload Ships

SINGAPORE, Oct. 22 (AP)—British troops and Japanese prisoners went to work on Singapore's wharves unloading ships today as the vast majority of the port's dock workers continued an unauthorized strike protesting current wage-scales and avowing sympathy for the Indonesian independent movement.

Divorce Parley

Judge Edwin A. Robson of the Superior court, told a group of ministers, judges, and lawyers yesterday that the growing incidence of divorce can be blamed on drinking, war marriages, working wives who neglect their homes, and unsettled economic conditions.

The group addressed by Judge Robson was formed last year by Judge John A. Sbarbaro who was then assigned to the divorce calendar. Under a program adopted yesterday at the gathering, religious groups will act as observers in divorce courts in an effort to curb the increase in marital rifts.

Judge Robson criticized ministers who fail to consult with couples prior to marrying them. He said a telephone check disclosed that only two of 25 ministers of all faiths had talked with engaged couples before the ceremony.

He refuted a charge that Chicago is a divorce mill, by comparing the city's average of one divorce to every 3.3 marriages to that of Wayne county, Mich., where there is one divorce to every two marriages.

SIAM'S REGENT INSISTS HE LED JAP RESISTANCE

BY ALFRED WAGG

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

BANGKOK, Siam, Oct. 22—Answering British charges that the Siamese government is fraught with internal graft and corruption, thereby providing the necessity for supervision by British troops, Pridi Phanomyong, regent for the boy king, Ananda Mahidol, today explained his government's position.

While the regent freely admitted there was graft, he pointed out it was convenient to ballyhoo these charges while negotiations are going on for a treaty settling differences between the allies and Siam. He expressed alarm over threats that Siam had no choice except to accept British terms.

Underground Leader

The regent told of early days of the war when he formed Siam's underground and became its leader while still driving daily bargains with the Japanese. In fact, he said, half his house was devoted to entertaining and conducting business with the Japs, while the other half was devoted to underground activities.

The regent was known to British and American liaison agents as "Truth," and his assistant as the famous "Betty," upon whom the Japs placed half a million dollars' reward for his capture. They never did find out they had been talking to him nearly every day.

Siam's Strong Man

The regent is presently the "strong man" in Siam. He pointed out that unlike French Indo-China and Java, his people are keeping calm, with the exception of minor rioting by Chinese gangs which a few weeks ago started warring over funds collected for Chiang Kai-shek's government.

He came to Chicago a year ago and has been employed by a packaging company.

2 NEW PARTIES DEFEND JAPAN'S EMPEROR RULE

Breaking Up of Trusts Branded Phony

TOKYO, Oct. 23 [Tuesday]—(AP)—The emperor system became an active fundamental political issue when two fledgling parties pointedly demanded its retention today.

A preparatory committee of 183 diet members, seeking to re-form old line political party elements, listed two platform planks:

"Absolute and unqualified defense of Tenno" [the emperor system].

Trust Setup Hit

Meanwhile, the cabinet scheduled another extraordinary meeting this afternoon to discuss the announced liquidation of the zaibatsu—family-owned industrial monopolies.

The family-operated industrial monopolies have agreed to liquidate, Finance Minister Keizo Shibusawa announced yesterday.

The powerful Tokyo paper Asahi immediately challenged the announcement. It declared that the dissolution plans of such industrial giants as Mitsui, Sumotomo, and Mitsubishi were merely a blind intended to evade responsibility for the war, protect profits, and await opportunities to go warmongering again in the future.

Shibusawa said that "with regard to the fundamental policy of the allied powers concerning liquidation of the Zaibatsu, the imperial government has had no intention of raising objections." He added that "in case of their spontaneous liquidation we desire to take appropriate measures consonant with the policy expounded by the allied powers."

May Require Years

Asked if this was a definite announcement of the breakup of the huge financial-industrial combines, he replied, "It is."

The minister told newsmen, however, that liquidation was a huge undertaking and details would have to be submitted to allied headquarters for approval. He said it should not take long, but at another point said, "Real democratization" would require years.

A fortnight ago Gen. MacArthur ordered the Zaibatsu to break up. Today's statement appeared designed to counter growing demands of Japanese themselves for an end to these trusts.

Striking deeper at the ideological roots of aggression, Gen. MacArthur's headquarters ordered feudal militarism cleared from the schools and replaced with instruction in the ways of peace. A directive instructed the cabinet to keep in close touch with the educational changes. Elimination of teachers and school officials "actively antagonistic" to the principles of occupation also was called for.

REVEAL TORTURE AND MURDER OF 3 B-29 FLYERS

Hero Smiles at Jap Tormentors

HANKOW, China, Oct. 22 (AP)—The charred bones of three American airmen, at least one of whom was burned alive after falling into Japanese hands, have been recovered here. The story came from information obtained by American intelligence officers and reliable local witnesses.

The men were survivors of a B-29 bomber from Chengtu which crashed 50 miles north of Hankow. Before being murdered, all were prodded for miles thru the wintry streets of Hankow last Dec. 18 clad only in short underwear.

Police Incite Crowds

Gendarmes exhorted the crowds along the route to beat the already injured men with sticks, to spit on them, douse them with icy water, and strike them in the face with fists.

Witnesses said that one person, dressed as a civilian Chinese but actually a Japanese, poked out one flyer's eyes with a sharp stick.

"Most of us looked briefly, then turned our heads, it was so barbarous," said a witness.

"The men could hardly stagger, they were so bruised and beaten, but one of them—and I'll never forget him—smiled thru it all, a broad, set smile that must have irritated his tormentors."

At Least One Burned Alive

The men were then held in a schoolhouse until late at night, when they were taken to a suburban crematorium. There, according to evidence in American intelligence officers' hands, they were doused with a gasoline and set ablaze. At least one was still alive when the torch was applied.

Gen. Naosaburo Okabe, Japanese commander in the Hankow area, has informed American officers that his subordinates who were responsible "are not here now, but I am trying to get in touch with them, and they will be strictly dealt with."

Identification of the three Americans, two officers and an enlisted man, probably never will be disclosed, lest it cause their relatives anguish.

PEPPER ASSERTS U. S. COMMITTED TO WORLD ARMS COLLABORATION

BY SEYMOUR KORMAN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

ROME, Oct. 22—Sen. Pepper [D., Fla.], long one of the most vociferous interventionists, said today the United States is "fully committed to military and economic collaboration thruout the world" and is prepared to use force to prevent the starting of another war.

"The United States has abandoned its isolationism and is now the most collaborationist nation. If any one doubts that he doesn't know the temper of our people," Pepper asserted.

Pepper, who is a member of the senate foreign affairs committee, gave a press conference in his suite in the Grand hotel here. He has visited France, Germany, Russia, Iran, Turkey, and Greece and is proceeding to Austria and the Balkans and thence to Nuernberg to view the war crime trials. Pepper said he is paying his own expenses. Since his arrival in Rome he has conferred with United States Ambassador Alexander C. Kirk, the allied commission, and Italian officials.

UNRRA ORDERS ACCUSED TEAM TO COME HOME

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22 (AP)—Five American workers of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration have been recalled from Germany pending investigation of their activities around Stuttgart, UNRRA headquarters said today, adding that there were no political implications.

The five are John Beecher, who headed the UNRRA team of which the other four were members; Clifford A. Hood, Trenton, N. J.; Lee Schwartz, former Red Cross worker and federal public housing authority official; Mrs. Frances Cummins, former Reconstruction Finance corporation and foreign economic administration official, and Miss Lydia Robertson, former navy employe.

Alex E. Squadrilli of Riverside, Cal., deputy area director for UNRRA, recently complained that the five had refused to leave one area and go to another assignment when ordered to do so.

The five workers counter-charged that Squadrilli and two subordinates were guilty of inefficiency.

YANK RE-ENLISTS TO SEE MARCEL BACK IN FRANCE

When Pvt. Everett A. Jackson, 28, of 118½ W. Carpenter st., Springfield [Sangamon county], was in Lyons, France, on detached service last May he met Marcel Charconet, 22 and pretty. He asked her to marry him. She said she would.

Soon after that Pvt. Jackson came home to be a civilian again. He held battle stars from Algiers, Tunis, Sicily, Naples-Foggia, Rome-Arno, Rhineland, Central Europe, and the combat infantry man's badge.

Probably he would have been glad to forget it all except that once home he found communications between Springfield and Lyons quite unsatisfactory. So yesterday he took advantage of the army's offer to allow men to choose their own theater. He reënlisted here and he figures he'll be getting back to Europe and better communications with Marcel before too long.

TELLS 'INSIDE' OF ANTI-HITLER PLOT'S FAILURE

General's Tanks Blocked at Berlin Gates

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

HAMBURG, Germany, Oct. 22—"The attempt on Hitler's life on July 20 [1944] which might have ended the war 10 months earlier, failed because we who helped prepare it failed to destroy the radio stations and telephone connections in Hitler's headquarters at the time the bomb was thrown," Gen. John von Cramer said in an interview today in Hamburg.

Von Cramer, who was Gen. Rommel's right hand man in North Africa, is the only high officer in the German army who avoided swearing loyalty to the fuehrer when Hitler made himself chief of the German army after Hindenburg's death.

His Tanks Stopped

Von Cramer said as his part in the plot against Hitler he agreed to send tanks into Berlin as soon as he received the code word at Krampnitz, outside the capital.

"My tanks reached Fehrbelliner platz in Berlin on the afternoon of July 20," which is about 10 minutes' ride to the chancellery, the government center, Von Cramer recalled, "but then they were stopped by the tanks of [Col. Gen. Heinz] Guderian, who was alarmed in time by orders telephoned from Hitler's headquarters near Reastenburg."

Captured by the British in North Africa in 1943, the general was so ill that after a year in England he was exchanged via Algiers and Lisbon, and returned to Germany in May, 1944. He was summoned to Berchtesgaden, where he reported to Hitler on June 1.

Hitler's One Question

Von Cramer said the only question Hitler asked was, "Is the enemy preparing to use gas?" The general answered that he presumed from the carelessness with which the troops cared for their gas masks the allies did not intend to use gas.

The general said Rommel begged Hitler repeatedly to allow him to withdraw from Africa, even before he was compelled to retreat. But Hitler ordered the African corps to remain at its post, tho Rommel considered opposition hopeless.

"The Germans planned a giant pincer movement, with troops from the Caucasus pressing over Turkey and the Mediterranean and toward the middle east, and Rommel's armies pressing eastward to effect a junction in Egypt, Palestine, or Iraq," the general said. "When Rommel realized this plan could not be carried out he begged Hitler for orders to withdraw, but Hitler was deaf.

Short of Gas

"We knew we could take Alexandria," Von Cramer continued, "but Rommel believed that even if we took Egypt we would not be able to hold it because we were short of gas. We had gas and we had huge stocks of material we needed, in Italy; but we received too little because the Italians did not get it to us across the sea."

Von Cramer spoke of the "great days of battle when we had trouble fighting Gen. Patton," and described the war in North Africa as a "gentleman's war—Rommel never allowed the schutzstaffel [nazi elite guard] forces in his ranks, and Rommel himself, despite what some people said, was not a Nazi. He may have been impressed for a while by Hitler, but he soon realized the tragedy awaiting his country under Hitler's command."

That is why Rommel also was involved in plans for an attempt on Hitler's life, Von Cramer said.

TRAGEDY STALKS LITTLE FAMILY OF A U. S. MARINE

Charleston, W. Va., Oct. 22 (AP)—Four month old Georgine Shingleton was in a serious condition today while her mother, Imogene, sought to locate Pvt. George E. Shingleton Jr., of the marines believed to be stationed in China. She wants to inform him of the latest misfortune to befall his family since he went overseas in December, 1944.

The baby went blind last month—physicians don't know why. Last February, Mrs. Shingleton fractured her right arm. A day after Georgine was born, the father was wounded on Okinawa. A few weeks later the baby became ill, and then unconscious. An examination disclosed a fractured skull. Then Pvt. Shingleton's younger brother was killed by a bus.

The Shingletons have two other daughters, Clara Jean, 8, and Carrie, 3. Their only son drowned six years ago.

THE QUESTION
Should we give England 6 billion dollars?

WHERE ASKED

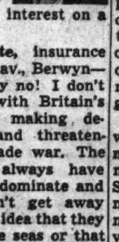
THE ANSWERS

Milton T. Raynor, attorney, 232 Woodlawn av., Glencoe—We should not give England 6 billion dollars or lend it to her until such time as a definite plan has been evolved regarding her foreign policy. We shouldn't contribute to her financially until she grants liberty to all over whom she holds an imperialistic whip.

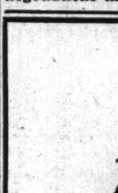
Leo F. Jeanmene, state chairman, Prohibition party, 117 Van Buren st.—I'm in favor of doing anything that will help Great Britain get back on her feet as a nation. I think the preservation of the British empire is necessary to the preservation of our own country. Poor conditions in England are bound to affect us.

Lt. A. E. Croney, 1110 S. Euclid av., Oak Park—The British threaten to wage a trade war if we don't give them 6 billions, but I don't think they have the equipment to do this without our ships. I don't know why we should give them an outright gift, but we probably will end up doing just that.

Harry Franklin, salesman, 3346 Lawrence av.—It seems to me that England is not entitled to it, because she has not lived up to her agreements. She likes to borrow money, but doesn't want to pay it back. Must we support that country always? I'd like to have my creditors cancel my debts.



Louis T. Dodds, real estate broker, Dundee rd., Northbrook—I don't see any reason why we should give them 6 billions. We've been giving them money for years. After the last war, we lent them money that was never returned. There's no reason why they shouldn't at least pay interest on a new loan.



Samuel E. Shumate, insurance agent, 3245 Wisconsin av., Berwyn—Positively no! I don't concur with Britain's idea of making demands and threatening a trade war. The British always have tried to dominate and they can't get away from the idea that they were once ruler of the seas or that they should control world trade.

U. S. CONSIDERS SCALING DOWN LOAN TO BRIT AIN

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22 (AP)—United States economic officials are reconsidering a proposed loan to Britain with a view to scaling it down to a size which congress may be expected to approve without too great opposition.

At the moment, it was learned, Americans negotiating with British representatives here are considering a loan of between $4,000,000,000 and $5,000,000,000. Previously they had been talking in terms of $5,000,000,000 but discovered this was not very popular with some congressmen since it would provide a margin of money that the British might never have to use.

Negotiations may be completed next week and President Truman's recommendations, based on reports to him from State Secretary Byrnes, Treasury Secretary Vinson and Assistant State Secretary Clayton, may go to congress the first half of November.

No one on the American side and few other Britishers, if any, appeared to share the pessimism of British Ambassador Halifax who told reporters at the White House today that it was possible the loan negotiations might not succeed.

RELEASE BRITISH TROOPS FASTER, CHURCHILL PLEA

BY E. R. NODERER
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LONDON, Oct. 22—Asserting that the slow rate of demobilization was the fountain head of all Britain's domestic difficulties, former Prime Minister Churchill today demanded that the Labor government release 2,292,000 men from the army, navy, and air force.

Churchill told the house of commons he understood there would be 3,842,000 in the armed forces on Dec. 31. He urged that the forces be cut to a total of 1,550,000 men and women, with 1,000,000 in the army, 400,000 in the air force, and 150,000 in the navy.

Churchill empasized that in his calculations he has excluded the possibility of a major war in the next few years. "If the government considers this wrong, it would not be a case of demobilization but of remobilization," he said.

Industry Needs Labor

Making his first appearance since he was reported ill with a sore throat, Churchill said the fear of unemployment should not deter speeding demobilization since every industry is clamoring for labor.

He also asserted the housing shortage was not a valid reason for keeping men in the army and called on the government to commandeer land for houses and use billeting if necessary.

Churchill recalled before the war the naval strength was 133,000, whereas at the end of this year it will be 665,000. In suggesting a personnel of 400,000 with 4,000 aircraft for the R. A. F., Churchill stated that the present plan was to have 819,000 in this branch by Dec. 31.

The army, he said, would have a strength of 2,343,000 at the end of this year, of whom 130,000 would be women. A total of 1,000,000, he asserted, would be sufficient to have 400,000 in Germany, 400,000 in the Mediterranean, plus another 200,000 for Britain and India. Churchill said there are more than a million men under arms in Britain doing nothing.

Calls Speech "Mischievous"

Minister of Labor Isaacs, who is responsible for operating the demobilization program, called Churchill's speech "irresponsible and mischievous" and implied that Churchill sought to create dissatisfaction with the Labor government among the forces.

The chiefs of staffs, Isaacs said, had examined military requirements and brought the figure for service personnel down to 2,250,000 by June of next year. It might be necessary to keep excess servicemen on the continent, he indicated, in order to cover Britain's military commitments and deal with any contingencies.

Asserting that the world situation was not likely to settle down in the next few months to a state of permanent peace, Wing Comdr. John Strachey, undersecretary of the air ministry, said that the suggestions made by Churchill had little relevance to the question of demobilization during the immediate future. He charged that Churchill adopted a buoyant, optimistic view of the world situation.

A long walk for unsuccessful attempts to borrow money was the reason Mrs. Bessie Doherty, 18, of 14 S. Hoyne av., gave yesterday for leaving her four children alone Sunday. She said she lost her allotment of $120 a month when her husband, Apprentice Seaman Everett Paul Doherty, 26, was sent to the brig at Great Lakes Naval Training center on a year's sentence for being 31 days absent without leave last fall.

She has been receiving $29.90 a month from county relief, but the baby, Everett Paul Jr., 9 months, has been ill lately and she needed money for medicine, she said. She walked to Ashland and North avs., and then to Sacramento blvd. and Van Buren st. In both cases the people she sought were not at home.

Returning to her apartment, she said the landlady told her police had taken the children. Mrs. Doherty was exhausted and went to sleep. She was married at 13, she said.

'DEAD' COMRADE CITED IN ALIBI AT BELSEN TRIAL

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

LUENEBURG, Germany, Oct. 22.—A note of mystery was introduced into the war crimes trial at Lueneburg today when the accused Ansgar Pinchen testified that a fellow Belsen guard who could have provided an alibi for him hanged himself in prison. The prosecution asserted that it knew nothing of the suicide.

Pinchen asserted that his fellow aid could have testified that he did not take part in the killing of internees in Belsen. Like the other accused, he denied that he ever beat prisoners.

Another accused who testified was Otto Kulessa, who denied that he could have shot a man picking up carrots on Easter Sunday near the Belsen kitchen since he spent that day "at another camp attending Easter services."

JEWISH WOMEN ASSAIL BYRNES' ZIONIST STAND

BY IRENE STEYSKAL

Secretary of State Byrnes' recent pronouncement on the Palestinian problem caused a protest here yesterday from 1,000 delegates at the 31st convention of Hadassah, women's Zionist organization of America.

At the first session of a four day meeting, the women passed a resolution to be sent to President Truman. The resolution said there would be "no backing down" on Zionist demands for a Jewish commonwealth in Palestine. It also indorsed the immediate mass emigration of Jews from Europe. The convention center is in the Stevens hotel.

Shocked by Byrnes' Statement

Expressing a "sense of shock" at Secretary Byrnes' statement, the delegates asserted that "Byrnes disregarded the fact that the American government already has a positive policy with regard to Palestine." The Balour declaration and the mandate for Palestine had been indorsed by both political parties, they pointed out, adding the comment that "these do not make the future of the Jewish people dependent upon the will of Arab potentates."

Byrnes issued his statement after a discussion of the problem of Jewish immigration into the Holy Land by the President at a news conference. He said, in effect, that the United States never would support a final decision on the "basic situation" in Palestine without first consulting both Jews and Arabs.

Appeal to Truman

President Truman was asked by the Hadassah delegates "to see that the United States stands uncompromisingly in its pursuit of justice; that it lives up to the promises of its great leaders and parties so that, at long last, the Jewish people shall be granted freedom, dignity, and security in their own homeland." The resolution was presented by Mrs. Samuel W. Halperin of New York City, chairman of the organization's political committee.

Dr. Solomon Goldman, rabbi of Anshe Emet synagog in Chicago and former president of the Zionist Organization of America, asserted in a talk that "Palestine belongs to the Jews and only the ignorant or the prejudiced" would hold otherwise.

Despite the "white paper" forbidding sale of property to the Jews, the Arabs sold more property to the Jews since it was issued in 1939 than the Jews had been able to acquire during the previous 20 years, the women were told by Elias Epstein of Jerusalem.

Mrs. Nathan D. Perlman of New York City assailed Sen. Bilbo and Rep. Rankin of Mississippi at the evening session. She accused them of making statements derogatory to the Jewish people.

The convention will continue thru Thursday.

NEW VENEZUELA REGIME TRIES TO RESTORE ORDER

Opposition Fails, Says Leftist Government

CARACAS, Venezuela, Oct. 22 (AP)—Venezuela's new leftist government worked to restore order to this revolution torn country tonight as it announced that all opposition to its week-end coup d'etat had collapsed.

Armored scout cars, filled with green clad troops carrying rifles and machine guns, continued to cruise the streets of Caracas searching for a few isolated snipers, but a goverentment office announced:

"At noon today no resistance was reported from any part of Venezuela."

The new 10 man cabinet, installed last night by the military junta which directed the overthrow of the government, thus appeared to be firmly in control, but order had not been fully restored.

Tanks Roam Streets

Miraflores palace, in the center of the city, was still guarded by three lend-lease medium tanks. The roar of tanks and armored troop trucks echoed thru the narrow, twisting streets which were jammed with helmeted soldiers and civilians.

Civilian automobiles, flying white flags and handkerchiefs, were halted at all main intersections by insurgent riflemen, all armed to the teeth and wearing heavy cartridge belts. Numerous boys 12 to 15 years old carried carbines.

Swarms of women and children gathered in front of the palace garage where hundreds of prisoners, mostly police forces who had been loyal to the deposed President Isaias Medina y Angarita, were quartered.

The city's hospitals were still receiving wounded from last night's sniping which resulted in some casualties in scattered sections of the capital.

Planes Resume Service

Communications were being restored by emergency linemen, guarded by military patrols. The food situation was normal and transportation between Venezuela and the outside world was being restored. The Dutch air line KLM announced it was resuming its schedule.

Confessed Bank Robber Admits Holdup Slaying

Columbus, O., Oct. 22 (AP)—Prosecutor Ralph J. Bartlett reported today that Louis Holliday, 29, identified by FBI agents as a Grand Rapids, Mich., bank robber, had confessed the fatal shooting here of George Boyer, 51, in an attempted holdup of a gasoline station. He said the confession followed discovery of a revolver in a junk yard where Holliday admitted hiding it after the shooting. FBI agents said Holliday previously admitted robbing a branch of the Peoples National bank in Grand Rapids last May 28 of $2,000

Halt Plans for Clearing Airport

CLEARING SITE ELIMINATED BY AIRPORT GROUP

Douglas Field Is Now Major Candidate

further consideration was made by Ald. Kells [28th] and seconded by Atty. Werner W. Schroeder. The vote was unanimous.

Mayor Kelly sent word that he had no intention of limiting the board to recommending only one airport, should the members feel that more are needed.

"I earnestly desire that Chicago shall have the best airport facilities of any city on the continent," the mayor wrote to Meigs.

Third Airport Advocated

Selection of Douglas would permit the Chicago airport to be retained. Ald. Lindell [8th] said a third airport, possibly of smaller size, should be located in the Calumet district.

Lt. Gen. Ira C. Eaker, deputy commander of the army air forces, sent word that when military facilities are adequate planes can land or take off every 50 seconds.

By landing planes on three of the tangential runways at the Douglas site and having planes take off from three runways on the opposite side of the field, Burke and Kennaday said, 360 operations an hour would be possible. One or two of the runways could be extended to 10,000 or more feet for occasional use by exceptionally heavy planes.

COUNTY WILL HIRE ENGINEERS TO DRAW UP HIGHWAY PLANS

The Cook county highway department obtained authority yesterday to get help from private engineers in drafting plans for post-war superhighway projects. The county commissioners approved a recommendation that a firm of consulting engineers be retained to draft blueprints for the Congress st. project between Des Plaines and Canal sts.

Maj. George A. Quinlan, county highway superintendent, told the board that his staff is workng on a series of expressways scheduled for early construction. They include the Illinois and Michigan canal expressway, which is a county project from Kedzie to Cicero avs., and the Edens, Calumet, and Tri-state parkways in the suburbs.

The county staff, with many keymen still in the army and navy, can't be enlarged in time to do all the planning for the super-highways, Quinlan said. Officials said it was the first move to get help of private consultants in preparing plans for highway projects in Illinois, altho such firms have been used elsewhere.

BRADEN GETS SENATE O. K. FOR STATE DEPT. JOB

BY PHILIP DODD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22—The senate today unanimously confirmed the nomination of Spruille Braden, recently ambassador to Argentina, as assistant state secretary, but the state department was warned during the debate preceding the confirmation that it had better do a better job of reporting events in other countries.

Braden's return to Washington last month followed a period in Buenos Aires during which Braden attacked Col. Peron, army strong man in the Argentine government, as a fascist dictator. When Peron was ousted this month, the state department hailed the revolution as a triumph over fascism.

But when Peron was returned to power in a counter-revolution last week, it was disclosed he had the backing of Argentine labor, and the counter-revolution caught the state department in a major intelligence blunder.

La Follette Hits Reporting

Sen. La Follette [Prog., Wis.] called the diplomatic fiasco to the attention of the senate today and warned American diplomatic, military, and other missions that "Faulty reporting like this can only lead to disaster in our foreign policy."

La Follette also criticized the state department for abruptly calling off the conference of American republics which was scheduled to open in Rio de Janeiro last Saturday. That action, coupled with Braden's recall, raised doubts in every Central and South American capital as to whether the United States is abandoning its good neighbor policy, La Follette said.

Urges Treaty Adherence

Sen Vandenberg [R., Mich.], entering the debate, said the United States should scrupulously adhere to exisiting treaties and agreements with other American nations which call for consultation between nations.

"We have not fully abided by our acts and treaties with other nations of this hemisphere in the last few months," Vandenberg said. "We need the confidence of our neighbors and they need ours. . . . We must avoid unfounded suspicions that the 'colossus of the north' is again resorting to imperialism."

Chairman Connally [D., Tex.] of the senate foreign relations committee, acknowledging that many members of his committee had been critical of Braden's views, asked for confirmation of the nomination on the grounds that assistant state secretaries didn't make policies anyhow.

Laval's Body Exhumed, then Put Back in Grave

PARIS, Oct. 22 [Reuters]—The body of former Vichy Premier Pierre Laval, shot by an execution squad last week, was exhumed early today from "traitors' corner" at Fresnes prison, but reinterred after the police commissioner conferred with a higher authority, the France Presse agency said.

LINDBLOM HIGH GIRL KILLED BY FALL OFF HER RUNAWAY HORSE

Betty Jane Kuehnle [top], and Betty Coffey

Betty Jane Kuehnle, 15, of 1945 W. 59th st., a Lindblom High school pupil, died yesterday in Holy Cross hospital of a skull fracture suffered when she fell from her runaway horse at 67th st. and Hoyne av. on Sunday.

The horse was a Christmas gift in 1944 from Betty Jane's father, Robert Kuehnle, meat market owner. On Sunday she took Betty Coffey, 12, also of the 59th st. address, for a ride, with both in the saddle.

At 59th st. and Damen av. the horse shied in traffic and bolted thru the sparsely settled neighborhood. After a mile Betty Jane fell. The Coffey girl clung to the saddle until the horse stopped.

Dorothy Chellman, 21, of 4550 Wrightwood av. was critically injured yesterday when her horse rolled on her after it fell on a bridal path in a county forest preserve near 1st and North avs. in Leyden township. She suffered five fractures of the back.

WE'RE MOVING AT FULL SPEED to make your travel better!

New Passenger and Freight Locomotives are being built . . New Modern Coaches have been ordered—other improvements in service on the way

HERE'S NEWS all traveling Americans will be glad to hear!

Great new passenger and freight locomotives—the most powerful built to date—are being assembled for the Pennsylvania Railroad as fast as skilled technicians can do it.

New modern coaches embodying ideas never before enjoyed in coach travel have been ordered, with instructions to complete as quickly as possible.

First steps on the part of the Pennsylvania Railroad in a vast rebuilding program, these moves not only forecast a great travel future for the American people—they create, almost without pause, hundreds of jobs for American workmen.

Side by side with these steps, we are doing all within our power to put more and more existing equipment at the service of civilians—to provide more berths and seats.

Of course practically everybody realizes our war job is by no means over. At least 7,000,000 demobilized soldiers and sailors must be moved by the railroads in a matter of months. (In fact, right now, troop movements are twice as heavy over the Pennsylvania Railroad as they were a year ago.)

This demobilization movement will continue to take a large number of Pullmans and coaches. So there may be times when you will still have difficulty getting a berth or a seat.

Meanwhile, thanks for your patience as we strive to make your travel better . . . and better!

POLICE BOSSES CUT SELVES OFF AFTER DAY ENDS

Highest Ones Can't Be Reached at Night

(This is the second of a series of articles in a survey of the Chicago police department, the things it does well, and the things it does poorly, its make-up, and recommendations for its improvement.)

BY ORVILLE DWYER

If criminals had bombed or attempted to bomb the apartment of Mayor Kelly at 10 o'clock on a recent evening, it would have been almost impossible to have found Police Commissioner Allman to tell him about it.

Moreover only one of Chicago's five supervising police captains could have been reached by phone.

A denunciation of the police department, ostensibly issued by Allman himself with orders that it be read at roll call to the rank and file, had reached THE TRIBUNE. It seemed improbable that the commissioner would so bitterly condemn his own force—and the effort to reach Allman or some one in authority who could explain it was begun.

Aids Couldn't Reach Him

Telephone calls were repeated at 15 minute intervals. They were put in to the home of Allman, to a south side fire station where Allman frequently may be found, and to the homes of all the supervising captains. Time after time there was no answer on any except one. This was a call to Supervising Capt. William A. Byrne of the 1st district.

In the police commissioner's office there are two men assigned to keep in touch with Allman at all times of day and night. These men insisted they could not reach him.

"Put thru a call on the PAX wire to Allman's home," suggested a veteran police reporter. [The PAX is a private police department telephone system.] Allman's man dialed Allman's home. As on the public phone, there was no answer. The reporter added:

"Suppose the mayor were shot—how would you notify Allman?"

No Response at Allman's Door

Meanwhile the calls at 15 minute periods were being made to the homes of Supervising Captains Andrew Barry, in charge of the 2d and 3d districts; Richard Gill, 4th; John Horan, 5th, and Joseph Goldberg, 6th.

Twice when Allman's home was called during this period there were busy signals. Allman has a one party phone. Yet when it was tried again immediately no one responded. Evidently some one had telephoned out, but refused to answer incoming calls. Finally a reporter was sent to ring Allman's door bell. He did—insistently. No one came to the door.

At midnight Capt. John Prendergast called in and said he understood THE TRIBUNE was trying to reach some one in authority. Prendergast is chief of the uniformed forces and chief deputy commissioner.

Averse to Night Calls

Most rapes, robberies, burglaries, automobile and other thefts are committed at night. These appear to be the hours when the city's responsible police officials—the commissioner and captains—do not wish to be disturbed.

Chicago's active police force today numbers 5,272. Its members are the men who man the detective bureau and the stations, speed thru the districts in squad cars, walk beats, answer calls for help, escort pay rolls, guard children crossing streets, do fire and strike and disaster duty, and meet trouble as it comes.

What Policemen Are Paid

The force is commanded by 35 captains—four acting—124 lieutenants, and 395 sergeants. The salaries are:

Commissioner	$10,080
Department secretary	5,262
Department inspector	5,300
Director of personnel	5,040
Chief of detectives	7,560
Deputy chief of detectives	5,346
Assistant identification inspector	5,000
Chief of uniformed force	7,560
Supervisors of police divisions	5,340
Chief of traffic bureau	5,240
Captains	4,500
Lieutenants	3,660
Sergeants	3,252
Patrolmen—1st year	2,598
2d year	2,730
3d and successive years	3,000
Policewomen—46 at	2,598
10 at	3,000
Matrons—23 at	2,598
3 at	3,000
Patrolmen-operators	3,000

The detective bureau, commanded by the chief of detectives, has a complement of 427 men, including all ranks.

There are 41 police districts [the first and second being combined] and these are divided into six zones. Each zone is under the supervision of a supervising captain; each district under the command of a captain or a lieutenant as acting captain. Appropriations for 50 captains at $4,500 a year each were made by the city council finance committee for 1945. In addition to captains assigned to districts, several are employed in the commissioner's office, the detective bureau, or special divisions, but there are usually six to 10 captaincies vacant.

Besides the vacancies filled by four lieutenants as acting captains, captaincy vacancies are being held open for six who were discharged a year ago until the Appellate court decides whether these men should be put back.

In addition to the men actively engaged in fighting crime, some are assigned to such departments as the personnel bureau, printing section, bureau of records and property, the property division, bureau of criminal information and statistics, and traffic bureau.

5,276 Patrolmen; 1,927 Patrol

There is a clerical division consisting of 60 clerks and stenographers; a statistical division consisting of six; a medical division employing a dozen police surgeons, and a division of six motion picture censors and two movie operators.

The force of 5,276 patrolmen in 1944 was reduced by 1,581 men assigned permanently to public offices, clerical and chauffeuring duty; this left 3,695, which was reduced to 2,485 by the detailing of 1,210 as special squads and to divisions such as traffic, vice, gambling, plain clothes duty, etc. Vacations, suspensions, rest days, sickness, and injury reduced this by 558 daily and left but 1,927 available for actual patrol duty.

For patrolling beats and manning an average of two squad cars to a station, there is a daily average of 1,200 men. Divided into three shifts, this gives the entire city 400 men to a shift.

DAY by DAY on the FARM

By GAIL COMPTON

Oct. 22, 1945.

IT COST an average of $11.20 to produce a ton of alfalfa hay last year on cost accounting farms under the supervision of the college of agriculture at the University of Illinois. With the fields yielding an average of 2.47 tons an acre, the farmers realized a net profit of $30.57 an acre for their hay.

In the cost records of the farms, alfalfa proved to be the most profitable crop. Clover hay produced a net profit of $14.64 an acre and soybean hay was grown at a loss of $2.20 an acre. It cost $13.09 to produce a ton of clover hay and $21.45 to produce a ton of soybean hay.

Cost Factors in Alfalfa

A breakdown of the various cost factors in producing alfalfa gives an interesting insight into the multitude of costs the farmer must figure to get an accurate estimate of his profit or loss. The figures also may serve as a guide for other farmers in arriving at a financial statement on haying operations.

Alfalfa a Money Maker

The high yield of hay from alfalfa puts it above other hay crops as a money maker. It is a universal favorite of corn belt farmers, not only for its yields but also because it is one of the most nutritive forage crops.

The GARDEN by Ben Markland

THE hard leafy crops — celery, kale, and Chinese cabbage—may be stored in a cold basement room, as described yesterday in this space, or outdoors. A garden trench, 14 inches deep and about 12 inches wide, may be used to hold any of the three vegetables. After being placed upright in the trench, sand should be poured around the stalks, leaving only the terminal leaves exposed.

All three of these leaf vegetables will keep without additional protection until surface soil freezes. When severe winter weather arrives, the trench should be covered with a layer of leaves, cornstalks, snap bean foliage, or similar insulating material. With this protection, the vegetables will remain in good condition most of the winter.

Gardeners who have cold frames may store these leaf vegetables in the frame instead of digging a trench, utilizing the same methods of weather protection.

SLAIN WOMAN'S FATHER QUIZZED IN AX MYSTERY

Pontiac, Mich., Oct. 22 [Special]—Andrew Shevchenko, 70, father of the slain Mrs. Lydia Thompson, attended her funeral services today in the Assumption of the Virgin Mary cathedral of the Russian Orthodox church in Detroit under guard of deputy sheriffs.

After the burial, Shevchenko, a Russian born immigrant who does not speak English, was brought to the sheriff's office here for what Sheriff Edward K. Thomas described as "intensive questioning." The sheriff said Shevchenko has not been arrested and that whether he will be detained as a witness depends on the outcome of the questioning.

Authorities want to ask Shevchenko what he knows about a person named by Mrs. Thompson in an unmailed letter to her father as having threatened her and as being the person to seek "if something happens to me."

The sheriff found this letter Saturday in a search of Mrs. Thompson's elaborate home at Orchard lake, near here.

Mrs. Thompson was slain with an ax or a hatchet the night of Oct. 11 and her body was found two days later in a clump of weeds near the city limits of Pontiac. She and her husband had been living apart for three months after a quarrel over Thompson's attentions to a former secretary.

THE FRENCH ELECTION

The outcome of the French election evidences the disappearance, for the time at least, of the whole right wing of French politics as it existed under the Third Republic. Herriot's Radical Socialists, whose traditional place is somewhat to the left of center, now find themselves on the extreme right and too weak in numbers to have much influence. In England the Conservative party was defeated, but it remains a going concern. In France its counterparts have disappeared.

Presumably this means that France will move rapidly toward socialism, if not toward a communist dictatorship. Nationalization of the basic industries, insofar as it has not already been achieved, is to be expected and probably a great many collateral economic measures will be instituted.

Inflation already has played havoc with much of the liquid capital of France and war damage has destroyed a substantial part of the fixed capital. Actually, the loss from destruction probably is less than the loss thru obsolescence and lack of repair. At any rate, an obvious explanation, tho not the only one, for the disappearance of the conservative parties is the disappearance of much of the property which they sought to conserve. The parties of the right had lost much of their reason for existing long before the election took place.

France moves into collectivism in circumstances which can hardly be to the liking of the collectivists. They are not taking over a prosperous country or a healthy economy. The Europe of which France is a part is in torment. Long established trade relations are disrupted and everywhere there is an absence of the political stability which must serve as the foundation for reconstruction. The collectivists will have little prosperity to divide among their followers; the French will be lucky if anything is shared but deprivations.

The gradual improvement in living standards in the century before the first World war was founded upon the protection of property rights, relative freedom of enterprise, and relative freedom of markets. It remains to be seen if the abandonment of these institutions in whole or in part will bring about a prompt recovery. A considerable skepticism seems warranted.

There is another aspect of the French elections that deserves notice. France, having suffered from her multiplicity of parties, seems as determined as ever to continue the system. More than a dozen parties elected at least a few representatives and it is to be expected that the usual horse trading now will be resumed.

The moral is obvious. Nations have their political habits and they are not easily changed. The only way the French know of conducting a representative government is the way of fragmentation. To any one brought up in the Anglo-American tradition the two party system seems obviously preferable, but is quite literally unthinkable to the French and no doubt to other continental peoples as well. In short, those who have been expecting the war to bring about revolutionary changes in men's political habits are likely to be disappointed. Evidently in France the only practical alternative to political fragmentation is the dictatorship advocated by the strongest single party to emerge from the election, the Communists.

Persons who believe that the traditions and institutions of nations can be made over in a twinkling on orders from a conquering general or somebody else should not fail to note that this can be accomplished only by coercion, which is the negation of freedom. Changes in the political institutions of free men must be gradual, for only so can men learn to work them, work with them, and work under them in freedom.

AMERICA IN THE SLAVE TRADE

Lt. Gen. Walter B. Smith, chief of staff to Gen. Eisenhower, has found what he describes as "a very satisfactory solution" of the problem of the German war prisoners who were turned over to France as slave laborers by our army. The problem, as Gen. Smith conceives it, arose when it was discovered that the prisoners were being systematically starved by the French. The International Red Cross reported the abuse, it was promptly confirmed by other observers, and only then did our army decline to deliver more slaves.

Gen. Smith's "very satisfactory solution" is delightfully simple. We shall take back the most wretched 90,000, feed them up, give them medical treatment, and then when they are again fat, return them to their French masters. Meanwhile, we shall resume at once the delivery of new levies of slaves to Gen. de Gaulle's tender care.

The "very satisfactory solution" is satisfactory only as an evidence of the degradation of morals in the middle years of the 20th century. In truth, there is only one satisfactory solution of the problem of the German prisoners, and that is to send them home. The war is over. Germany is disarmed and has no government except the interallied commission of control. There is no conceivable military excuse for continuing to hold German prisoners in captivity unless slavery itself is excusable.

The wholesale slave trade in which "the two great, enlightened republics," as they used to be called, are engaged, hasn't thrived on such a scale in Europe since the days when the Roman conquerors were in it. Their prisoner slaves were sold by thousands to work in the mines on starvation diets. How close is the contemporary parallel may be judged from a Paris dispatch dated Oct. 19 and reading as follows:

"Large scale use of German prisoners of war in the mines has enabled France to step up its coal production steadily, until last week it reached 86 per cent of the 1938 level. . . . Of the 190,000 underground workers today, 28,000 are German prisoners of war, 40,000 are Poles, and the remainder French. . . . Government plans are to increase the number of German miners to a maximum of 45,000. . . ."

Gen. Smith will long be remembered as the secretary of the army's general staff at the time of Pearl Harbor, who might have sent adequate warnings to the commanders in Hawaii, but failed to do so. No doubt, he regarded his course at that time as another "very satisfactory solution." One may well inquire to whom it was satisfactory, apart from Gen. Smith. It surely was not very satisfactory to the American people to find their fleet battered and sunk; and it surely is not very satisfactory to them today to find their government engaged in the slave traffic.

SABOTAGE IN WASHINGTON

The only alert ordered in Pearl Harbor before the Japanese attack was against sabotage. The orders for this kind of protection ought to be given in Washington now. The New Deal majority on the joint congressional committee instructed to investigate the Pearl Harbor disaster is attempting to stall the inquiry, so that a hasty, sketchy, and ill-considered report suitable to the administration can be the only possible product of the investigation.

The joint committee was constituted six weeks ago. Republican members now assert that it will probably be three more weeks before the committee can start conducting open hearings. More than two months will thus have been killed, and only a month and a half will be left within the authorized period for investigation, for the committee is under instructions to file its report by next Jan. 3.

So much time has already passed without action that members of the committee who are sincere in their desire to bring out the truth and fix responsibility for the disaster now say that it is physically impossible to assemble the evidence, weigh it, and write the report within the allotted time. The responsibility for this sabotage rests squarely with the New Deal majority leader, Sen. Barkley, who is chairman of the joint committee. Mr. Barkley's long and intimate association with the Pearl Harbor commander in chief, Mr. Roosevelt, and his concern for the reputation of the late New Deal chieftain, as well as for his personal political welfare and the future of his party, explain why he is stalling. He wants another whitewash.

The army Pearl Harbor inquiry board was in continuous session from July 24, 1944, to October, 20, 1944, three full months. That much time was necessary for the examination of witnesses and to draft the board's findings. Yet the army investigation was by no means exhaustive. The board was without power of subpena, and there were some personages in official life whom it did not dare to summon for examination. The congressional investigation, if honestly conducted, would develop much new evidence and fill the gaps in the record. But Mr. Barkley has no such intention. He proposes, working part time, to do in a month and a half what the army board, working full time, required three months to do.

But, whatever Mr. Barkley and his party intend, we believe that their efforts are doomed to backfire. They may desire to conceal the truth, to confuse the issues, to accentuate irrelevant details. These tactics will only create a greater public demand that the truth be brought out. They will only serve to spur those who are bent upon developing the truth in their efforts to throw light into corners purposely left dark.

Enough truth has already been established in various official reports, inconclusive as they may have been, and in John T. Flynn's remarkable analysis, "The Final Secret of Pearl Harbor," which was first published in THE TRIBUNE, so that the story of the disaster can be pieced together by any one who wants to do so. THE TRIBUNE, in numerous editorials, has reconstructed various aspects of the episode and pointed out the direction in which responsibility lies.

While Mr. Barkley and his party colleagues are stalling, we intend to use the time thus afforded to bring out the whole truth as we conceive it to be. The majority of the committee will combat this evidence as best they may. Let them start getting their rebuttal in shape. They are going to need it.

A GANG FOR PROFIT

[Kansas City Star]

The revelations concerning incomes of leading Nazis, published in a Berlin newspaper, help explain the devotion of some of the top Germans to Hitler. In recent years he had made presents of $200,000 to Von Ribbentrop, foreign minister; the same to Walter Funk, minister of economic affairs; the same to Field Marshal Milch; $80,000 to Field Marshal Keitel, and $100,000 to Alfred Rosenberg, grand exponent of the master race doctrine.

The incomes of other prominent men in the government jumped under the Hitler regime. Goebbels was one of the leading new rich. Von Neurath—not a Nazi—long foreign minister, who was pointed to as the embodiment of all the old German virtues, made hay so that he emerged a millionaire. All the German higher-ups were experts in what the eminent Tammany politician of the 1890s called "honest graft" at the hands of the fuehrer.

It was generally known in Germany long before the war that Hitler and his associates were not in government for their health. Guesses were often made as to the newly acquired fortunes. But now the figures from the official tax records are printed.

Hitler is revealed as simply a vaster Al Capone, holding his gang together by the cohesive power of loot. And the men who were bought and paid for included leaders of Germany. A blinding flash exposing again the degradation of the once proud German reich.

In Wyoming, a lamb has been born with an extra leg and shoulder. 'Twas just mother nature, in her well-meaning way, trying to help out the meat shortage.—Cincinnati Enquirer.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS

This column's minister of foreign affairs, avidly reading the newspapers in search of post-war curiosities, discovered that the so-called Indonesians, who are Javanese to him, had announced in their declaration of revolutionary war that their secret weapon would be snakes. "Tut, tut," said the foreign minister. "The most densely populated island in the world ought not to have any snakes, if the natives carry bush knives." Then he investigated and learned that there are 24 species of poisonous snakes in Java, including the hooded cobra.

* * *

A few days later he saw in dispatches that the quelling of the snaky Indonesians had been assigned to Gurkha troops of the British army, and decided that the situation was well in hand. These Gurkhas, who cleaned the Japanese out of Burma, carry as their favorite fighting tool the biggest bush knife in the world. It is a heavy, crooked chopper with an inside edge called the kukri, about whose effect in hand-to-hand fighting Rudyard Kipling has written a few memorable words. The Indonesian cobras will soon learn that the kukri is more deadly than the mongoose.

* * *

Almost every American soldier who served in Burma has come home with a kukri among his souvenirs, and he usually calls it a Burmese knife. The place of origin, however, is Nepal, a free state on the northeast border of British India. The kukri is carried in a wooden sheath slung over the shoulder, and is used with a side-wiping or scything stroke.

* * *

The foreign minister then interviewed War Correspondent Walter Simmons about the snakes of the Philippine Islands. "Well," said the laconic Walt, "I heard some talk about cobras, but the worst thing I saw was a spider as big as a football. It lived in a native house where I was billeted, and the owner told me not to worry. It was not poisonous; its only enemy was cockroaches; and its name was Albert."

THE PATCHWORK QUILT

The old woman sews with needle and thread,
She sews for her pleasure, sews for her bread;
All day she sews and all the night long,
And her needles make a clicking song.
A song of the patchwork quilt she must stitch,
Russet and gold, royal purple and green.
She loses her thimble beneath the old oak—
An acorn cup serves, say the fairy folk.
She stitches by day and under the moon,
And always her lullaby song will croon:
Snow brings a white spread, I must make haste.

'S'Amuser

Little Tin Soldier

During the war my little tin alarm clock faithfully marked the long hours, called me each morning, and sent me forth to do my bit in what has been hopefully termed "making the world safe for democracy."

Other timepieces faltered and quit. The French clock on the living room mantel was the first to give up. Jewelers shook their heads. No repair parts. A few weeks later the electric clock in the kitchen blew out with an angry ph-t-t! Same story. My white gold wristwatch—a loafer, anyway—suddenly tired of the job. A jeweler said he'd have it back in six months. It's now 11. My old hunting case watch, a present from mother on my 21st birthday, was drafted into service. After years of idleness, age couldn't take it.

This morning my little tin alarm clock sounded reveille at 6:30. Fifteen minutes passed. The room seemed unusually quiet. I glanced at the little clock. Its hands were still folded at 6:30. No amount of shaking made any difference.

But the little tin alarm clock had not quit until it was sure that our enemies had laid down their arms, that it had fulfilled its war job. It had been a good soldier.

Soberly I released the alarm so that it would run down, and set out for the office. Taps!

PHILOSOPHER'S STONE

If you are quite depressed and blue,
And all the world looks sad to you,
Pretend that you are blithe and gay,
And very soon you'll feel that way.
For action, and your state of mind
Are bound so closely, you will find
That blues you'll banish, cheer you'll bring
If you will only smile and sing.

[The Friend of the Yanks will answer questions of service men, veterans, and their dependents by mail if stamped envelope is sent to 435 N. Michigan av. The Tribune's veterans' bureau, 1 S. Dearborn st., Superior 0200, gives personal interviews.]

C. R. asks: "If a man 21 was drafted in 1941, has been in the army ever since, and now decides to reënlist in the regulars, how long will he have to serve to be entitled to retirement pay? How much would he get? Would his service as a draftee count?"

He would have to serve a total of 30 years under existing law. His war service counts, so he would have approximately 26 more years to serve and could retire at 47 on three-quarters pay of his grade at time of retirement.

A. W. asks: "How much pension is a World War II. veteran entitled to if he becomes disabled on his job?"

He may be entitled to $50 a month if his disabilities are total and permanent, not the result of his own misconduct, and if his income does not exceed $1,000 a year if single or $2,500 if married or he has dependent children. Application must be made to the veterans administration, where a board will make final determination.

A. G. asks: "Can a boy who was drafted soon after completing his last year in high school continue his studies while in service to avoid loss of time toward a college degree?"

Correspondence courses for which college credit may be obtained are given by the Armed Forces institute, Madison, Wis. Write there for information about desired courses.

QUINSY, A COMPLICATION OF TONSILLITIS

VICTIMS of quinsy [peritonsillar abscess] will agree that it can be a painful and dramatic disorder. It usually comes subsequent to an attack of tonsillitis and generally afflicts those who have recurrent bouts.

The tonsils are located in a strategic place where they are easy prey for the hordes of bacteria that inhabit the mouth. Should the organisms take the upper hand, infection is sure to follow and the area becomes red and swollen. Because the glands are surrounded by a capsule, the disorder is ordinarily confined to the organs themselves but now and then the inflammation breaks loose on one side or the other and spreads to the neighboring tissues. If an abscess develops, quinsy is said to exist.

The staphylococcus, pneumococcus, and streptococcus are the common offenders. Since the victim already has a sore throat as a result of acute tonsillitis, he may not be aware of the new invasion. But before long he realizes that something new has been added.

Swallowing becomes a difficult and agonizing procedure. Many sufferers are content to allow the saliva to dribble from the lips as inflammation encroaches on the muscles of mastication. Movements, such as opening the mouth, or turning the head are restricted because of the ensuing distress. The neck may be tender, especially about the glands beneath the skin. Should swelling be excessive, breathing may be interfered with.

The individual looks ill and exhibits an anxious expression. The face is flushed due to an associated fever, the tongue coated, and the breath fetid. The senses of taste and smell are diminished. The back and roof of the oral cavity on the affected side may be so puffy that neither the tonsil nor the posterior wall can be seen on examination. The soft palate and the uvula are often displaced from their normal position.

Sometimes early cases can be aborted by applying cold compresses externally; and internally thru cold gargles or sucking on cracked ice. Once it is evident that the pus is "coming to a head," however, heat is more useful. This can be supplemented by hourly irrigations with a hot saline solution.

Should the "gathering" point to the surface, an incision into the region is advised to release the discharge. More than one opening may be needed. Penicillin and the sulfonamides are not always necessary except in severe cases. These products may delay localization, but are helpful occasionally in controlling the infection once drainage has been instigated. After complete recovery, removal of the tonsils is advocated by most authorities.

The abscess may rupture spontaneously. In rare instances, infection extends into the near-by arteries and veins, causing hemorrhage or dissemination of bacteria thruout the body [blood poisoning]. Should nothing be done, and the process allowed to follow its natural course, healing may occur in five to ten days.

DRUGS IN ASTHMA

A. A. S. writes: Is penicillin, sulfa, or any new drug being used in asthma?

REPLY

Many cases of asthma are associated with a respiratory infection. Some of these have responded to the newer drugs. An allergist friend tells me that he has been able to ward off some attacks by treating the causative infection immediately with these drugs. Relief of seizures may follow the inhalation of a vaporized penicillin solution.

A DISEASE SPREADER?

B., M. writes: Is it safe to use the glass applicator in a bottle of iodine without contracting an infection? I work in a factory where dozens of people with various kinds of ailments use the same rod.

REPLY

The chances are that iodine will kill the organisms. There are other antiseptics on the market, however, which are not so potent and there is a possibility that infections may be transmitted in this manner.

THIN-SKINNED

C. F. O. writes: What does a transparent skin indicate? Is there anything to be done about it in a man up in the seventies?

REPLY

This is part of the aging process. The skin atrophies and becomes thin. There is little that can be done for it, altho in some individuals gain in weight will make the condition less noticeable.

Nomenclature, etc.

Don't expect us to tell you how it all came out, but one of the most fascinating news stories in the New York papers last month concerned the grave dilemma of a Mrs. Dudgeon who lives in fashionable Nassau county on Long Island. Mrs. Dudgeon, so the newspapers said, is a director of Girl Scouts, president of the Ladies Aid society of the Reformed church, secretary of the local Red Cross, chairman of the War Fund drive, member of the PTA, and a splendid member of the Honor Roll committee, whatever that is. Last month she was arrested, and released on bail, on a charge of bookmaking at her home on Buckram rd. She was reported in high etc. about the whole thing.

The Trials of Royalty

THE TRIBUNE'S Jack Thompson voyaged to Europe recently on the same ship as the Edward Windsors. Wally said the duke spoke fine Spanish and German, but atrocious French. When asked why his French was poor, Edward explained that he had only been sent to France to attend funerals. "O," quipped an American wit, "hearse French."

Brother Harry Goes Home

President Truman paid a homey visit to his old haunts in southeast Missouri a week or two ago, and altho his every doing was chronicled in the national press by the scores of correspondents who accompanied him, no more colorful résumé was given than that in the bulletin of the Caruthersville [Mo.] branch of Rotary International. The lawyer who sent it this way termed it a more than fair report of the general opinion down his way of "Brother Harry's country politicking during the off season." The complete report:

"The President has come and gone. We now have that let-down feeling that the emperor of Japan must have felt after a B-29 flew over Tokyo and unloaded. One minute he was seated on his throne, the next minute he was thrown on his seat. The community is almost back to normal. God is the biggest man in town again. But He has been here so long not many of us pay much attention to Him any more. We can't pin Him down close enough on His politics for Him to be very popular in this section.

"Not many got to see the President. The FBI and plain clothes men, the state guards, the Missouri highway patrol, the secret service, and reporters formed a solid first line. Some were too short to see over; others were too tight to see.

"At church the politicians crowded out all the church members but the choir and the preacher. One office holder who hadn't been to church since the Sunday preceding the last election tapped a man on the arm and said, 'Scram, bud. Hell fire, you're only a Christian. Let a Democrat in there.'

"At the fair [the only stock there was ground into hamburger; the vegetables consisted of cabbage rolled into cigars selling for 27 cents; there were a few peaches—O, boy!] the President spoke. Hayti, five miles away, was selling parking space. A Baptist took in $28 in cash and eight pints of Old Crow, renting out space on top of the Methodist church, telling them they could see and hear from there as well as any place.

Big Money

A soldier who came nome on the Queen Elizabeth this month told of watching crap games aboard ship in which the men, their pockets bulging with back pay and savings, wagered as much as $10,000 on a single throw of the dice. Altogether, he said, the troops brought $2,100,000 aboard with them. One officer ended up in the brig for winning $40,000 with crooked dice. An enlisted man, who also used loaded dice, received different treatment. The men he had rooked first took from him the $9,000 in his pockets [he had started out in the game with $3,000], divided it equally among themselves, then handled him "roughly." They decided that was punishment enough.

TIRED OF EXPLOITATION

New York, Oct. 17—World War II. is over. Americans have sacrificed over 1,000,000 casualties to secure victory over fascism and oppression. The countries in Europe are free. But how about Asia? There are 800 million colonial subjects who would like to know more about the Atlantic Charter and the noble intentions of the united nations. These peoples of South and Southeast Asia before the war were suppressed, exploited, and kicked about. No adequate provisions were arranged for giving them proper education, decent wages, and democratic government.

A handful of Dutchmen were ruling 70 million Indonesians and Javanese by force of arms. These Javanese people have an ancient culture. They like to live peaceably and desire freedom. Latest reports say that the Indonesians are revolting against return of Dutch imperialistic rule. An independent republic of Indonesia was established after the surrender of the Japanese. Indonesian seamen have struck against Dutch ships carrying troops and ammunition to the East Indies. They are revolting against undemocratic rule, monopolies, slave wages [20 cents a day], discrimination, and concentration camps, which the Dutch practiced before the war.

During this war many Indonesians gave their lives in the struggle for freedom side by side with the united nations. Indonesians are now fully united. They do not want to go back to a fascistlike colonial rule. Their leaders are all champions of democracy.

But in view of the vast supplies that our country is constantly reported sending to Russia, and the reports that vast amounts of Japanese arms and munitions seized in Manchuria now go to Russians, Chinese Communists, and Mongolians, might not one ask if we are not doing our level best to beat Russian ploughshares into swords?

Seem's the navy has forgotten us. No fresh meat at all, only C rations. It's getting so now that all any of us eat is coffee and bread."

My son continues:

"Our officer in command is really getting tough—putting men on report and probation for the slightest thing so they will have to stay here. It's worse than boot camp. He is a full commander making about $600 a month, and is afraid his bubble will break, so he's doing everything in his power to keep the battalion together."

BRING ON THE ATOMIC BOMB

MINDORO ISLAND, Philippines, Oct. 4—I have heard and read that some members of the clergy and other citizens of the United States denounce the use of the atomic bomb and flame thrower. The citizens of the United States sent us off to fight and win World War II. How can they criticize the weapons we use? If these people could have seen the battlefields of Okinawa their cry would have been "Bring on the atomic bomb and all the flame throwers you've got."

If the clergymen will preach and write sermons denouncing race and religious prejudice they won't have to worry about weapons of war, as there will be no war. We can all be very thankful that our nation discovered the atomic bomb before the axis nations.

HERNIA COMPENSATION

Chicago, Oct. 15—While loading the truck I operate I received an injury which a few days later developed into a strangulated hernia. I was ordered to the hospital for immediate operation, which was performed. My employer was informed a few days later. When I was able to get around, I discussed the matter of compensation with him. He said I had nothing coming because I did not report the accident immediately and therefore he assumed I was suffering with a hernia previous to the accident. Am I entitled to compensation?

J. L.

Sec. 8 [d-1] of the Illinois compensation act provides: "an injured employe, to be entitled to compensation for hernia, must prove:

"1. The hernia was of recent origin.

"2. Its appearance was accompanied by pain.

"3. Its appearance was immediately preceded by trauma arising out of and in the course of employment.

"4. The hernia did not exist prior to injury."

Sec. 24 provides that in case of hernia, notice must be given to the employer within 15 days after the accident.

TRUMAN'S ACTS WORRY NATION, SAYS HOFFMAN

Investigation Demanded by Legislator

BY WILLARD EDWARDS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22—President Truman's words and actions are beginning to worry a congress and nation which gave him whole hearted support when he took office last April, Rep. Hoffman [R., Mich.] told the house today.

Rep. Hoffman

Hoffman introduced a resolution calling for the appointment of a house committee of three to investigate the truth of an article attributing statements to Mr. Truman which "reflect upon his character as an individual and question his fitness to hold the high office of President."

Columnist Is Quoted

The Michigan Republican said he referred to a column published Sept. 27 by Drew Pearson, Washington commentator, which quoted the President as indorsing a profane and contemptuous reference to Gov. Dewey of New York. The same article quoted Mr. Truman as condemning Sen. Shipstead [R., Minn.], former Sen. Nye [R., N. D.], and former Rep. Fish [R., N. Y.] as men who "deserve to be licked again and again."

The White House refused comment on Hoffman's speech.

Reviewing some of the President's actions during six months in office, Hoffman said the following had "shaken hope and confidence" in the chief executive:

1. The President's message to congress containing "must" legislation, including the "full employment bill, which has caused speculation as to whether Mr. Truman favored state socialism."

"Dodging the Issue."

2. The Presidential failure to adopt a clear labor policy. "Instead, he has begun to travel, visiting here and there, arousing suspicion that he has no labor policy and is dodging the issue."

3. Mr. Truman's statement that unpreparedness at Pearl Harbor "was the fault of the American people."

4. The reported statement by the President that "the Yanks in Germany were treating the Jews as badly as did the Nazis, except that they were not exterminating them."

5. The President's acceptance of the hospitality at the Jefferson Island Democratic gathering on Sept. 22 and 23 of Russell M. Arundel, Washington lobbyist, who "picked up a large check for the festivities."

Arundel's Own Record

Testimony of Arundel himself before the special house committee investigating the federal communications commission, Hoffman noted, was that he was a negotiator for war contracts, represented a large number of corporations, including a number of foreign corporations, and banked $500,000 over a period of 58 months.

"The American people are deeply concerned," Hoffman said, "whether the head of our nation is the kind of man who would use the vile language attributed to him by the chronic liar, Pearson."

"But the American people, I believe, still have faith in Mr. Truman. They do not believe he is the kind of man who, having been taken up on the top of the mountain and shown a political future, would yield to the temptations put before him by that powerful, well financed group of individuals and organizations which, under the last administration, sought to substitute government by men, headed by a dictator, for government of law thru constitutional processes."

NAVY ACADEMY UNFAIR TO NEGRO, FORRESTAL TOLD

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22 (AP)—Rep. Powell [D., N. Y.] has told Navy Secretary Forrestal that his 1945 Negro nominee to the naval academy, Wesley A. Brown, "is not receiving fair and equal treatment."

Forrestal informed the Negro congressman he will ask the academy superintendent for a report.

Naval academy authorities at Annapolis withheld comment on the assertions, saying they had received no official notice of the protest from the navy department.

Powell issued a statement quoting a letter he wrote to the navy secretary saying he had been told that "a concerted effort is being made to bring about his dismissal—that his papers are being undergraded—and that he is not being informed in advance concerning offenses for which demerits are to be given."

There has never been a Negro graduate of the school.

Three detectives were commended for their courage by a coroner's jury yesterday which returned a verdict of justifiable homicide in the deaths of Victor Puzzo, 16, of 1111 S. Mozart st., and Charles De Cola, 19, of 2941 Arthington st. They were slain Friday night while attempting to flee in a stolen automobile, used earlier in a robbery.

Three other occupants of the car who were captured are: Phillip Puzzo, 18, a brother of the victim, their uncle, Frank Randazzo, 26, of 1047 Belden av., and Charles Sineni, 17, of 2858 Taylor st.

Sgt. Frank Pape and Detectives Rudolph Friedl and John Moss testified they pursued the five, exchanging shots during the chase which ended when the bandit's crashed their car into a telephone pole. Two pistols recovered at the scene were said to have been procured from the basement of De Cola's home. Phillip Puzzo, who has no police record, said he knew his brother had been performing robberies but that neither he nor Sineni were aware that the other three had committed one that night.

ARMY'S EXPERT PRAISES CITY'S WAR ON SMOKE

Joseph Harrington, advisory engineer of the army coal conservation program and the author of several books on the burning of coal, yesterday told a City club forum luncheon in the La Salle hotel that Chicago possessed a good smoke ordinance and a good smoke abatement department.

His observation followed an address by Raymond R. Tucker, head of the department of mechanical engineering at Washington university, St. Louis, Mo., and former St. Louis smoke commissioner. Tucker had described legislative reforms that resulted in the clearing of St. Louis' smoke filled atmosphere.

Dr. J. H. Mackintosh, dean of the London school of hygiene, who is in the United States to study small home heating methods as a representative of England's ministry of fuel and power, also spoke briefly.

20,000 SAILORS SPEED EAST IN PULLMAN CARS

Approximately 20,000 sailors and naval officers of the Pacific fleet were en route east from west coast ports yesterday on between 600 and 700 Pullman cars, the Pullman company said.

The cars were assembled in California at San Diego, San Francisco, Los Angeles, and at Seattle, Wash., before the fleet's arrival, the company said.

A pool of more than 4,200 Pullman cars, as well as 1,200 troop sleepers, with a capacity of 151,000 persons, is engaged exclusively in troop movements.

At the same time a group of 125 GIs from Europe left Camp Shanks, N. Y., for Chicago aboard a new type Pullman troop train. The troops, en route to Fort Sheridan, Ill., found they could open car windows, screens and othe appurtenances with the touch of a finger. The men were the first to use the newly released sleepers.

Forrestal Asks Creation of Security Council

BY PHILIP DODD
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22—Navy Secretary Forrestal, leading the navy's fight to head off merger of the army and navy, today proposed two super policy committees, one to coordinate military activities and the other to plan for the use of industrial and natural resources needed in war.

Secretary Forrestal

Forrestal made his proposal to the senate military affairs committee as it opened the fourth day of hearings on pending bills to combine the war and navy departments in a single agency with branches for land, sea, and air forces and for research, intelligence, and procurement.

The navy secretary's plan would continue the independent existence of the army and navy but would set up a third military department for air. Secretaries of the three departments would sit as members of a "national security council" and "national security resources planning board."

Active Coördination

Under the Forrestal plan the national security council would be composed of the secretaries of state, war, navy, and air, and the chairman of the security board. The President would be an ex-officio member and the chairman would be a civilian not necessarily connected with one of the departments represented.

Functions of the security council would be "to maintain active, close, and continuous coördination between the departments and agencies of government responsible for foreign and military policies and their implementation."

The membership of the security resources board would include the three military department secretaries, the chairman of the security council, the chairman of the military munitions board—also provided for in the plan—and the heads of emergency war agencies, or of the regular departments which take over the functions of those agencies.

The resources board would "establish and keep up to date—in times of peace as well as war—policies and programs for the maximum use of the nation's natural and industrial resources in the support of national security."

Cites Similarity of Plans

Acting Chairman Johnson [D., Col.] bluntly told Forrestal that if his plan had made the security council chairman a cabinet officer, with undersecretaries for the three military arms, the proposal would have been similar to that of the pending bills.

Forrestal said his proposal was based on a survey made for him by Ferdinand Eberstadt, New York investment banker and former vice chairman of the war production board. Both Forrestal and Eberstadt formerly were with Dillon Read and company, New York investment house.

Trends in the twists and curls that made up the styles of women's coiffures in the immediate past were displayed last night by 14 models before delegates to the 25th annual convention of the National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists association in Hotel Sherman. Hairdressers figure three years to a trend, Mrs. Margaret Condos, president, said. That length of time is required for a fashion to begin, extend over the entire country, and then recede, leaving in its wake a few diehard adherents who cling to it despite succeeding trends.

Mrs. Condos said a picture of the fashion trends was obtained in a questionnaire sent to the association's fashion group. Hair styles were divided into two categories, long and short. Short hair was subdivided into the old shingle, the three inch cut, and collar length. Long hair included the page boy, chignon, and upswept fashions.

FIGHT SIMMERS IN D. A. V. FOR JOB ON FUND BOARD

BY THOMAS MORROW

Simmering beneath the placid surface of the Disabled American Veterans' national meeting last night in the Congress hotel lay a bitter controversy which threatened to reach open conflict on the floor.

All but three of the national commanders have at their term end found a position as a member of the board of the National Service fund of D. A. V., a money raising adjunct which channels funds to the various organization projects. Board members have turned a cold eye on the present commander, Milton D. Cohn of Buffalo, and are said to prefer William E. Tate of Washington, D. C., a paid employe.

Cohn yesterday disregarded peace pleas and threatened to take the matter before the delegates when the board recommendation is placed before the convention.

Walker New Commander

Dow V. Walker, of Newport, Ore., was unanimously elected commander last night. An army captain in World War I., Walker served as a liaison officer with the French general staff.

Sgt. Harold Dixon, 27, of Mount Ranier, Md., a decorated hero of World War II., was elected first junior vice commander, first veteran of the recent war elevated to office in the D. A. V. Dixon lost both legs at Aachen, Germany, and is possessor of the distinguished service cross, the Purple Heart, bronze star, and oak leaf cluster.

Rankin Draws Attack

Rep. John Rankin [D., Miss.] drew the ire of the veterans during the day. He was charged by Cohn with blocking legislation for disabled veterans because he wants to retain the chairmanship of a minor committee. The organization adopted a resolution asking that a major committee in each house take care of veterans' legislation.

"Veterans' affairs in our national legislature should be handled by a major committee in both senate and house," he said. "The situation as it now stands, especially insofar as the house is concerned, is that most legislation for disabled veterans is routed thru the so-called world war veterans committee headed by Rep. Rankin.

"This is a minor committee. The chairman has consistently refused to agree on veterans' affairs being in the hands of a major committee because he then would be obliged to relinquish his place on other committees."

Similar Situation in Senate

Cohn said a similar condition prevails in the senate "where veterans' affairs are in the hands of two committees and may I point out here that the senate committee has no veterans known as such, and that most legislation for veterans comes out of the senate finance committee."

Cohn reported that the D. A. V. now has assets of about $2,000,000. He recommended that the organization support a program of compulsory military training and that "we favor maintenance of an armed force on land, sea, and air, equal to any in the world in order that we may be prepared for further aggression."

The organization announced that it will purchase the Ident-o-Tag company, 2222 Diversey pkwy., manufacturer of miniature license plates suitable for key rings, which the D. A. V. has purchased and distributed in years past. Last year the organization disposed of 20,000,000 of the tags at a net profit of $713,000.

Costly Laces Trim Blouses with Luxury

BY REA SEEGER

This season is marked with some breath taking hats, bags, belts, jewelry, and other costume accessories. The latest are the "trousseau blouses" of spider web thin batiste, chalk crepe, or bridal satin. What makes them luxurious is the lace—rare museum pieces of rose point and Alençon, every minute stitch made by hand. One of the real bridal creations is of heavy white satin with an exquisite curved piece of real rose point inset around the lower neckline from shoulder to shoulder. There isn't a tuck or fold or bit of drapery in the satin, just the deep two and a half inch deep motif of rose point.

The chalk white crepe blouse is another legitimate trousseau extravagance and is made with the same simplicity. It has the same long sleeves, but instead of the rose point motif, there's a wide fragile band of real Alençon across the upper half of the front. The satin and the fine quality crepe are cut out under both the Alençon and the rose point so that the lovely pattern of the lace shows. And tho the prices are staggering, the lace alone is worth every penny of the price mark.

Exquisite batiste blouses with fine cut work and motifs of shadow thin net and fine Alençon lace have less staggering price marks. The handwork is just as fine and beautiful, the appliqued workmanship just as minute, and the finished blouses are one-of-a-kind pieces. Brief sleeveless models and those with short sleeves are available. Some have only the front half of the lace, heavy net being used for the back; other blouses are made completely of lace, the equally sheer net and the fine cut work embroidery.

Opening lead: Ace of diamonds.

Partners are expected to help each other. The player who is constantly putting his team-mate up against all sorts of guesses, is hardly likely to show a profit. While implicit faith should be placed in signals issued by your partner during the defense of the hand, there are nevertheless occasions when he has made these signals without certain knowledge, which you happen to have and which has not yet been made available to him. In those cases you are privileged to disregard the suggestions of your mate.

Then, once in a while, not very often, a situation develops in which it is very evident that your partner has temporarily lost his mind. Such a condition provides a sufficient excuse for ignoring the message that he is attempting to transmit. A case of this type, is the one recorded today. The bidding, it will be observed, is very colorful. East and South vieing with each other in caginess. West did not double the six diamond bid because he was not sure he would cash the ace of hearts, but when South persisted to six spades West doubled because he was sure his partner could ruff a diamond, inasmuch as dummy had not bid six spades after the six diamond call. North redoubled because he deemed it high time that he got in the action.

The ace of diamonds was led and East discarded the jack of clubs, which was silly. In a confused state of mind he explained that he was afraid that his partner would try to cash the ace of hearts and was therefore asking violently for the club shift. West did lead a club with the obvious result. This is just one time that West should have realized that his partner was suffering from temporary dementia. "I was afraid that you had no trumps, partner, that's why I didn't continue with the diamonds." In other words, West was afraid that declarer had 14 cards. He had already shown up with six diamonds. If partner is unable to ruff it will mean that South has all the remaining trumps [which are 8]. He would therefore have 14 cards, in which case there was nothing to worry about any how.

Exhibit Offers a New Star to the Art World

BY ELEANOR JEWETT

There can be nothing more exciting than to introduce a new star into any firmament. The Albert Roullier galleries, Fine Arts building, are introducing a new star to the art world with he opening this afternoon of an exhibit of paintings and drawings by Anne Harvey.

Miss Harvey is the granddaughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. E. C. Dudley and a niece of the painter, Katherine Dudley. She was born in Chicago but went abroad in 1929 when she was 12 years old. Even at that age she painted seriously, and in Paris her unusual talents soon won the interest of the best known artists.

This background gives Chicago a strong claim to Anne Harvey; a little of the brilliance of her art may at least be considered to have started shining here. That her first one man show is at the Roullier galleries is a following of friendship and tradition, for those galleries and their charming head, Miss Alice Roullier, have long been interested in Katherine Dudley's attractive work.

Miss Harvey has a sensitive, delicate technique and an imagination that contrives delightful fantasies from the most routine facts. Her "Back Yards in Yorkville" is a delicious affair of flying colors, running line, and dancing impressions, altho, reduced to facts, the view she paints is merely back roofs hung with variegated family wash. "Roofs in Autoire" has story book trees, and "Houses in Autoire" depicts the abode of witch and sprite. A medley of color and hats is "Interior, New York," a laughing medley, spirited and whimsical.

Matisse is bettered in the drawing "Hotel Bedroom, Paris," and in "Cat and Chair." "Tulips" is a superb still life, stunning in color, composition, and atmosphere. Atmosphere, by the way, is one of the very likable adjuncts to Miss Harvey's painting. Her portrait of Brancusi, the sculptor of abstracts, is revealing, gentle, and comprehensive.

We think a truly great star has been born in Anne Harvey, and we hope her light will be neither tarnished nor dimmed in the years ahead. The exhibition will run thru Nov. 8; do not miss the delight it offers.

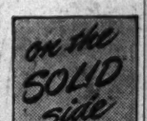
Sulkiness Is Not Quality to Attract Dates

BY SHEILA DALY

[Copyright: 1945: By The Chicago Tribune]

It takes two to make a date, and it takes two to make an argument, so if your boy-girl relations have been marred recently by an outbreak of petty disagreements between you and your date, give yourself the once-over-lightly to make sure you aren't to blame. After all, you're the number two character of that date duet, aren't you?



Maybe a gal sulks because her number one beau boy won't use his last nickel to play her favorite song on the juke box. Or a fellow may pull a long and dismal face because his particular piece of cheesecake casts a smile in the direction of the top man on the football team. A gal may be annoyed because a fellow calls too early or too late, or because he doesn't phone at all, and a boy can take a "we-was-robbed" attitude just because another fellow beat him to the draw by asking his best girl to the Halloween dance first.

For some reason, either real or imaginary, young high school characters often make with the sulks and sad faces as soon as everything isn't going strictly their way. Dating is a 50-50 proposition, and unless both halves are prepared to be good sports and willing to give in a little, almost every date could end up with the principals not speaking to each other.

What if the boy doesn't play your song this time?—wait till he has another nickel handy and you'll hear it then. And your best girl probably would have been happy to go out with you if you'd asked her first—just be a little quicker the next time. It's as simple as that to make good nature and a sense of humor a part of your good dater policy. So if you're looking for a more pleasant, and busier, date life, remember that old, old adage—"He who sulks last, lasts longest!"

French closed the door. "Sit here, please, Mrs. Duke. And Mr. Izenga, if you stay, it is on the condition that this is entirely confidential. Now, Mrs. Duke, I'm going to hear the truth from you. Why did you go to Miss Duprez' apartment?"

Hester swallowed. Her long sinewy neck stretched in anguish. Then she cried: "I . . . I just wanted to . . . to talk to her . . . about something. I can't tell you what. It has nothing to do with her . . . death. I found the door of her place not quite shut."

"At 8:43?"

"I suppose so. About then. I went in and nobody was there. The living room was empty. I . . . I thought she might be in the bedroom. . . ."

"Alone?" French asked very quietly.

Mrs. Duke's face turned a swift and violent crimson. "I . . . I just thought she might be in there," she repeated unsteadily. "So I opened the door. She wasn't there. The place was all upset. I remember especially a cut glass perfume bottle bound in gold. It was lying on the floor broken. It had been my mother's. She stole it. Almost everything in her place was stolen. Then I saw her bathroom door was open. I thought I could see a hand sticking out." She was talking in a high hysterical voice now.

"I peeked around the door. She . . . was there . . . lying half in the tub. She was dead. For a moment I was glad. I was so glad all the blood rushed up to my head as if it would blow up, then I began to get dizzy. I couldn't faint there. I ran thru the place and out. I found the elevator empty on the third floor and took it to the bottom. Just as I came out of the door I heard some one walking along the street. I hid in the shrubbery and saw Erica go in."

Mr. Izenga lunged forward in his chair. "You saw Erica go in and didn't try to stop her? You knew what was waiting up there . . . and knew she might get into trouble?"

Hester turned on him with a defiant shriek. "How did I know where she was going? She's always running in to see Miss Frobisher. Besides . . . I was nearly dead. I thought every minute I would faint. I wanted to take a taxi but was afraid to. I had to walk home. Just as I got there Harry drove in."

"And where had he been?" French's voice was a whip. "Don't pull that cigaret business again."

"I don't know . . . I don't know." Hester leaned back in her chair and shut her eyes. Her body slipped down.

French carried her to the couch at the side of the room. Mr. Izenga was hardly conscious of this movement. He was thinking, Hester's cleared Erica. Lucianna was dead before Erica got there. But does French believe that?

"Mr Izenga, will you please ask Harry Duke to step in here alone?"

Mr. Izenga moved toward the door.

"And Mr. Izenga, please don't forget, this was confidential."

Mr. Izenga jumped. That had slipped his mind. "Of course," he replied.

A telephone call came thru just as the Dukes drove away. A trooper answered it and French came to Izenga.

"This is John Carlton on the wire, Mr. Izenga. I've been trying to get hold of him for hours. Will you speak to him as if you had put in the call and wanted to know if Pomeroy is there, or expected?"

Mr. Izenga nodded.

Mr. Carlton knew nothing of any expected visit of Bennet Pomeroy, and did not appear overjoyed at the possibility. He agreed to have Bennet call the moment he appeared.

"Thanks. Good work," French approved.

"At least Bennet cannot be blamed for Lucianna's death," he remarked.

"Why not?"

"Why he's miles and miles away. He left at 5 this morning and . . ."

"We don't know that," French said quietly. "He said he was leaving town, but nobody saw him do it. He could easily have remained for the very purpose of finishing off Miss Duprez. You yourself told me how much he hated her, and with good grounds.

Mr. Izenga shivered. He stared miserably at the floor.

"There's something on your mind, Mr. Izenga," French said gravely.

"Yes . . . but . . . I'm afraid it comes too late to do any good . . . if . . . if Bennet is involved. But I can't think he is."

"Suppose you let me judge that."

"Well . . . I found out, only a few days ago, that all this time . . . all these years . . . Lucianna has been drawing a duplicate income from another family in this county . . . for the same cause as she accused Bennet. She went away you see, and claimed there was a child. I investigated and it seemed to be true. She put it in a home somewhere. And we paid . . . and this other family paid . . . and we all kept quiet. Dear, dear, what a devil she was! And there was no child at all. She bought that poor infant from its parents. Judge Brooks has never given up investigating the facts. Of course I knew he was handling something for these other people. But I didn't know it concerned Lucianna."

"Did Miss Duprez know, before her death, that she was found out?"

Mr. Izenga's smile was grim. "Thank heaven I had that satisfaction. But you see, this enlarges the field of possible suspects."

"Did Bennet know all this, Mr. Izenga?"

"No. At least not from me." Mr. Izenga groaned. "I'm afraid I was very remiss there. If I'd only told him. . . ."

"I wouldn't fret about that," French said. "There's a big field, as you say, and they can't all be guilty. I'm convinced these murders are the work of one man."

"Lieutenant," Mr. Izenga eyed him keenly. "Do you think Bennet Pomeroy is capable of committing all these crimes?"

Bill French smiled engagingly. "Mr. Izenga, since I've been working here with you I've acquired a very healthy respect for your proficiency. I think I know who is guilty. And I think you do too. And I'm 110 per cent sure it is the same person."

Mr. Izenga's eyes gleamed. He found the lieutenant a man after his own pattern.

"I can't think why Bennet's car hasn't been found." He changed the subject a bit. "That fantastic blue. So conspicuous. And even if the poor fellow is a victim himself at least his car should be in existence."

"We'll get him," French said crisply.

Mr. Izenga watched him stride so confidently out of the room.

Betsy Stone's Name Added to Debut List

BY JUDITH CASS

A hint to those who wish to do their Christmas shopping early: For the debutante, there hardly could be a more appropriate gift than an engagement book, for the holiday season already is so filled to overflowing with parties that it seems that nothing short of a social secretary could keep a bud's list of invitations in order. The latest name to be added to the ever lengthening debut list is that of Miss Elizabeth Stone, whose parents, the Herbert Stuart Stones of Lake View av., have reserved Dec. 22 as the date of her party.

Mr. and Mrs. Stone have been vacationing in Tryon, N. C., folowing Mr. Stone's release from the naval reserve, in which he served as a lieutenant commander. Shortly after their return tonight or tomorrow they expect to decide on the type of party at which they will introduce their daughter to society. Miss Stone, who is called Betsy, was graduated from St. Timothy's and now attends the University of Chicago. She is a great-niece of the Chauncey McCormicks and a great-granddaughter of the late Melville E. Stone, co-founder and general manager for more than a quarter of a century of the Associated Press.

Other Debut News

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar F. Burch Jr. have changed the debut date of their second daughter, Elise, from Dec. 27 to the following day. After a tea-dance in her parents' home Miss Burch's assistants and their beaux will stay for a buffet dinner-dance, at which they will be joined by Miss Katherine Ann Kittleman's assistants and their escorts. Miss Kittleman will be presented to society that day at a tea given by her parents, the H. Halford Kittlemans. The Frederick W. Woodruffs, who will give a tea-dance the same day in the Casino for their daughter, Kay, will take her assistants to dinner in the Pump room.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Street will arrive from the east Dec. 15 to stay at the Ambassador during the festivities connected with the debut of Mrs. Street's daughter, Miss Ruth Lee. Her party will be a tea Dec. 17 in the Fortnightly, followed by a small buffet dinner-dance. The Streets will return east Dec. 18, but Miss Lee will remain in Chicago thru the holidays.

Several parties are being planned for Miss Mari Bahe, the Kenneth E. Bahes' debutante daughter. Among them are a luncheon Dec. 22 in the Woman's Athletic club, to be given by Mrs. Robert Walker; a luncheon which Mrs. George Carolan will give Dec. 24 in the Indian Hill club, and a cocktail party Dec. 30, with Mrs. Norman Ibsen, the bud's aunt, as hostess.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferre C. Watkins, who are spending the winter at the Ambassador, are planning a hockey party followed by supper on New Year's day for Miss Cynthia Wirtz, debutante daughter of the Arthur M. Wirtzes.

On the Calendar

The latest distinguished Latin American visitor to pay a visit to Chicago is Juan Antonio Rios, president of Chile, who will stop over for a day Thursday en route to San Francisco, Cal. Mr. Rios and his retinue will be met at the airport at 3 p. m. that day by Max Henry Ehlert, Chilean consul in Chicago, and from there the party will proceed to its Chicago headquarters in the Blackstone. Mr. and Mrs. David A. Bennett will give a reception from 5:30 to 7:30 p. m. in the Gold room of the Drake hotel for the visiting president.

At 11:30 a. m. the following day the party will visit the city hall, preceding a luncheon to be given by the Pan-American council and a tour of the University of Chicago. Among the dignitaries traveling with Mr. Rios are the Chilean ambassador

Why Girls Quit Jobs

Bernadine Bailey in an article in the Altrusan quotes an employment manager of a manufacturing company as saying, "Our own survey of the reasons why people leave their jobs shows that physical conditions account for 23 per cent of the separations, transportation problems account for 12 per cent and a dislike of the nature of the work accounts for 10 per cent."

Other reasons doubtless included in the survey are: Desire to enlarge the pay check or to seek more congenial working conditions, disagreement with the immediate superior, illness in the employe's family or retirement to domestic life. And at present there are numerous migrations from one city to another, especially when husbands come back to civilian life.

One personnel director with whom we spoke recently said the "trek toward the home town" was the main reason why girls were quitting. In many instances, the young husband is discharged from a camp near Chicago, the wife leaves her job, and they board the train for Elmira or Keokuk. Except for such causes, according to this personnel manager, there is little change.

Parks Will Give City Opera on Popular Basis

BY GLADYS PRIDDY

Opera performances of professional worth will become as easily accessible to Chicagoans as the neighborhood movies when plans of the newly organized Chicago Park District Opera and Operetta guild develop this winter.

Results may go beyond localized public entertainment, however. Sponsors are hopeful that the guild will be the stepping stone by which aspiring singers who can measure up to the guild's high standards will move into professional work, and that their opportunities may enhance the city's reputation as a center for music study.

Walter L. Larsen, managing director of Grant park concerts and general supervisor of music in the Chicago park district, conceived the idea of the guild while looking for talent for an operatic performance at Grant park last summer. He thought it would be an advantage to draw from the city's own organization.

Established Oct. 14, the guild meets, or rehearses, every Sunday in Austin town hall, Central av. and Lake st. From 2 to 2:30 p. m. new applicants are auditioned. From 2:30 p. m. until 5 p. m., there is rehearsal.

When Larsen set about building the organization he sent out notices to every singer who had been auditioned last spring, at that time with the hope of appearing at Grant park. He also inserted notices in the papers. To date, 150 voices have been accepted.

The first opera will be Mascagni's "Cavalleria Rusticana," and three casts have been chosen for it. William Fantozzi, a first violinist with the Grant park symphony and artistic director of the Midwest Opera company, is the musical director. William F. Bergman, an assistant director, is training the chorus, and Miss Maxey Mann of the park district staff at Hamilton park and a graduate of Goodman theater, is assisting with the dramatic end of the production.

As soon as this opera is well into rehearsal, another, requiring different voices in the principal roles, will be cast. Larsen emphasized that opportunities would be passed around as principals are selected from the chorus.

Larsen added that the guild, while offering excellent musical experience, is no school but rather a workshop wherein the singers can develop what they have learned in private studios. Guild members are encouraged to study privately.

The park district's scenery and wardrobe departments will be at the disposal of the guild. As the productions are made ready, they will be taken into the various park district auditoriums and fieldhouses thruout the city. The singers, thru their own organization, will assist with various details.

Larsen, who has played the violin professionally, foresees a cycle of mutual benefit and pleasure from the guild. Good voices of something less than opera timber will have a hearing, too, in the contemplated production of operettas, he says.

Nancy Orr's Wedding Set for Saturday

Of interest here is the news that Miss Nancy Orr, daughter of Mrs. Robert C. Orr and the late Mr. Orr of New York City and formerly of Chicago, will be married in New York City Saturday afternoon to Rudolf F. Talbot, son of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Talbot of Hingham, Mass.

The wedding will take place in the chapel of St. Bartholomew's church, with the Rev. Robert W. Woodrose officiating. A small reception will follow in the apartment of the bride's mother. Mrs. Volney W. Foster, the former Adair Orr, will be her sister's only attendant, and Lt. Foster of the navy will be Mr. Talbot's best man.

Miss Orr is a graduate of the Shipley school. Mr. Talbot, who recently was discharged from the army air forces, in which he served as a captain in both the European and Pacific war theaters, was graduated from Trinity college.

Miss Virginia Carol Dearlove became the bride of James D. Witherspoon, son of Mr. and Mrs. William P. Witherspoon of Evanston, at 3 p. m. last Saturday in the Covenant Methodist church, with a reception following in the Georgian hotel, Evanston. Richard P. Dearlove gave his sister in marriage. Mrs. Reynolds E. Staffel was her sister's matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Miss Helen Witherspoon, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. Calvin Durand Allen Jr. Mr. Witherspoon and his bride will be at home in Chicago after Nov. 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Eric Folke Grundin of Oak Park announce the marriage yesterday of their daughter, Rosemary, to Joseph Whitfield Royer of the naval air forces reserve, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Henry Royer of River Forest. The ceremony took place at 4 p. m. in St. Giles church, Oak Park. Mr. Royer and his bride attended the University of Illinois. They have gone to Canada on a wedding trip.

A Physician's Kindly Manner Can Gain Child's Confidence

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

The ordinarily sunny-faced baby, a little more than a year old, had that touching, somewhat wan, and listless look that follows really hard crying.

"What's wrong with your 'Incendiary Blonde'"? I asked. Her mother sighed; I knew she had just come out of the doctor's office.

"Well I haven't had the baby to a doctor since Dave went overseas and we left the town where she was born. This was her first visit to this pediatrician, and it certainly was a fiasco."

"What do you mean?" I asked.

"Well, the doctor rushed the whole thing thru so that I don't think she was thoro. She'd never seen Dorothy before, so I expected her to take time on this first check-up to go all over her. Also I needed to tell her a few things which I didn't have a chance to. But what I minded most was that I had no sooner entered her office than her assistant came, practically snatched the baby out of my arms, took her into another room, for measuring I suppose, and shut the door. The baby took it for a few minutes and then began to cry and kept on crying as if her heart was broken.

"When she disappeared I tried to protest, especially because she'd had a fright not long ago and was just getting over it, but the doctor brushed me aside. 'O, they all cry and scream,' she said."

The mother continued, "You know yourself what a venturesome and sociable baby Dorothy is. I'm very disappointed. I'm not going to that doctor again."

Another young friend had only the day before been telling me of her experience with her six months' old baby who has been very ill. She had to take him to her doctor's office on his first day out—a busy office filled with young mothers, their babies, and little children.

This pediatrician happened to be a woman, too, but how different her handling of her little patients!

She talks to the babies reassuringly. They're not just robots to her; you can see she loves them. She let this mother hold her own baby during part of the examination, or stand close by when it was necessary for the nurse to handle him. She listened to the mother's report and gave her time to ask questions. And the baby didn't cry a tear. As time goes on, this little boy will not dread the necessary visits to this doctor, nor will his mother.

There are several other comments I would like to make on these two incidents, but they will have to be embodied in a future column.

Thru the Looking Glass

It's always fun to experiment with new shades of lipstick and nail polish. In the last few days we and our co-workers have had a fine time trying out the latest offering of a house whose products are well known for quality and color rightness. They've hit the bull's eye with this newest addition, a bold, bright red that couldn't miss being a sensation.

The polish and lipstick are a magnetic, tempting, red tint with just a hint of blue in their depths to give them body and subdue garishness. The polish is a hand flatterer if ever we saw one. It makes hand skin seem shades whiter, and the high sheen of the polish seems to impart a look of transparent delicacy to the fingers. The glossy finish is lasting, too. It stays bright and fresh looking for days, one of the qualities that has endeared the polish to so many women. To make the most of the color and for a more lasting manicure, two coats should be applied, first a thin one and then a second, heavier coat.

The lipstick matches the nail polish exactly in color and is just the right shade to pep up fall complexions and blend with new costume colors. It's the kind of lipstick you enjoy wearing, ultra smooth in composition, durable, and lasting as can be. The color doesn't change after it's on the mouth a while, and when you wear it you'll discover that there is small need for retouching during the day.

Face powder in a tint to harmonize with the lipstick and polish is also offered. It's a warm, not too deep, shade that will blend with almost any complexion and gives the final, right note for a matching makeup. The powder is beautiful in texture as well as in color, being exceptionally light and airy but none the less clinging, and gives the skin a smooth, velvety finish.

ON THE RECORD

By Claudia Cassidy

Bruno Walter, Nathan Milstein, the Menuhins, and Koussevitzky Fill Some Albums

Bruno Walter, who arrived yesterday to begin rehearsals with the Chicago Opera, had a letter in his pocket that touched both his heart and his sense of humor. It was an invitation to return as conductor of the Vienna Philharmonic orchestra, of which he so often was an honored guest before the days of Hitler. That letter was addressed to "Bruno Walter, Paris, France," and it was forwarded to him in care of the New York Philharmonic.

Besides playing postoffice for Mr. Walter, the New York orchestra plays Mendelssohn with him for a new record album of the violin concerto, with Nathan Milstein as soloist [Columbia M-577; four 12-inch records]. This is just about what you would expect from such a combination—a glowing performance with the vital warmth of the conductor, the crackling virtuosity of the violinist. You may suspect, and I agree, that Mr. Milstein slurs the opening theme a trifle, but the effect as a whole is lustrous, particularly the brilliance with which the orchestra plucks the peak of a phrase from the crest of violin tone. The final side holds a charming performance of the scherzo from Mendelssohn's "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Brilliant Beethoven

Singher's Arias

My own choice for a Martial Singher album would be the rare type of song he sang at the Arts club a year ago, the sort of thing in which he seems to have no rival. But Columbia has chosen to introduce him in French operatic arias [M-578; four 12-inch records], and the set includes Lully's "Bois epais" from "Amadis," Gretry's Blondel's Air from "Richard, Coeur de Lion," Mephisto's Air, Serenade, and "Song of the Flea" from "The Damnation of Faust," the Queen Mab aria from Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet," the drinking song from Thomas' "Hamlet," "Vision fugitive" from Massenet's "Hérodiade," Dapertutto's Aria from Offenbach's "The Tales of Hoffmann," and the Toreador's Song from Bizet's "Carmen," all with accompaniments by the Metropolitan Opera orchestra under the direction of Paul Breisach. They have intelligence and musicianship, but the fact remains that Mr. Singher is primarily a singing actor. If you can't see him you remember that his voice lacks the sustained brilliance of the top-flight baritone.

Koussevitsky's "Tyl"

The complete recording of Strauss' "Tyl Eulenspiegel," played by Serge Koussevitzky and the Boston orchestra [Victor DV-1; two 12-inch records], is now available, as everybody knows, in the ruby red unbreakables recently launched on the willing market. I wouldn't say the performance captures all the wry humor of this scapegrace and his adventures, but it is a rarely beautiful one which fully understands the innate violence of the score.

Looking at Hollywood

By Hedda Hopper

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., Oct. 22—Elizabeth Taylor's next is "Now That April's Here," a story about English children sent over here during the blitz who didn't want to return home. Now that they are in England many of them write their foster parents to please bring them back. You see, they got a taste of our hot dogs, ice cream sodas, baseball, and football games and they liked it. They also liked living in a place where kids are not only seen—they're heard. Elizabeth's mind is now set on doing "Green Mansions." The girl in the story is 16, but she's growing so fast I'll bet she makes it. Remember they said she was too little for "National Velvet," but she made up her mind to grow into the part—and she did.

Bing! Bing! Boomerang

I ran into Lt. Bob Crosby who said, "Hedda, last Christmas Eve you sure gave me a laugh. I read one of your columns in which you told how worried mother was about Bing's being in Europe. There I was in the South Pacific, with shells flying all around me, in the thick of everything—and mother was worrying about Bing! . . . Westmore's had a customer who wanted her hair dressed like Bette Davis'. The operator explained that she might not look as well a la Davis; that she should be more fluffy around the edges. But she went to work on her. When the job was finished, the vain one said, "Now see what you've done—you've gone and made me look just like Norma Shearer!"

Hurrah for Dogdom

Florabel Muir has a story cooking. It's about our dogs—and it stars Lassie. She'll also tell about a red setter called Rhett Butler who digs up the body in Orson Welles' "The Stranger." Henry East trained him, but his owner is a captain in the air forces. . . . The studio that's suffering—and really suffering—from the strike is Universal. If they can't continue working on the Deanna Durbin and Maria Montez pictures, they won't be able to finish them for more than a year, 'cause storks don't strike! . . . Al Deebs, New York linen merchant, is visiting here with his daughter. He beat the ponies last year to the tune of $20,000. Maybe this is why. He takes the girls from his office, picks the horses, bets his own money, they shout 'em in for him, then he divides the loot with his guests. That's a nice kind of boss to have.

Long, Long Road from Capetown

This is hard to believe, but it's true. Last March Bill Grady, Metro's talent head, had a letter from Capetown, South Africa, written by Constance Blair. She inclosed a couple of snapshots of herself, stated she was 34 and was considered a good actress, and wondered what chance she'd have to get into the movies. Bill wrote her that he couldn't tell from the tiny picture she sent whether she'd photograph or not; that we have many fine actresses here; but if she ever came to Hollywood he'd grant her an interview. And that was that. Two days ago she turned up, and got the interview. Bill found that she was a sweet little woman, read well, but he couldn't offer her anything. He wondered what in his letter would have caused her to travel 9,000 miles. She said, "In Capetown I run a drugstore. Everybody tells me I act well, but I wanted the advice of an expert. Now that I know I haven't a chance, I can return and live a satisfied life. I've had a wonderful trip. It's only costing me $2,000." She thanked him for his courtesy and left for home that afternoon. . . . Seeing half a dozen waitresses buzzing about one customer at Vesuvios, I thought Van Johnson must be there. But it turned out to be Sam Diamond, nylon distributor from Chicago, who never gave me a nod—or a nylon.

Here and There

Mrs. Gerald V. Wellesley, who arrived 10 days ago from her home in England for a visit with her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Otho F. Ball, is being welcomed back to Chicago by her many friends here. Mrs. Wellesley expects to remain in this country until after Christmas, and within the next two weeks she and her mother will go to Lake Wales, Fla., for a holiday. Mr. Wellesley and their sons, Robin and Julian, remained in England. Just before Mrs. Wellesley left for this country she and her family enjoyed a reunion with her brother, Peter Ball, who was en route to Frankfort, Germany, his new post with UNRRA. He recently received his discharge from the army air forces, in which he served as a captain.

Mrs. Seymour Wheeler left yesterday for New York to join her son and daughter-in-law, Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Morris Eddy, for the Navy day celebration Saturday. Comdr. Eddy will be in charge of some of the festivities. Mrs. Eddy went east earlier to welcome her husband back from the Pacific with the 3d fleet. He served aboard the U. S. S. Missouri, on which the Japanese surrender was signed, and in that ceremony held the post of officer of the deck. Comdr. and Mrs. Eddy, and Mrs. Wheeler will return to Lake Forest next week, and until the Eddys and their year old daughter, Clare, find a home of their own they will stay with the Wheelers. Comdr. Eddy is being released from the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. McGowen will have all three of their children at home in Lake Bluff to receive with them between 5 and 7 p. m. today when Mr. and Mrs. McGowen will celebrate their silver wedding anniversary. Corp. Thomas McGowen Jr. of the marines is back and will be present with his sisters, Miss Lucile and Miss Mary Anne McGowen.

Mr. and Mrs. Earle Adare Channer Jr. [Isabelle Johnson] have given their new daughter, born Oct. 12 in Presbyterian hospital, two family names, Darley Adare. Since Mr. Channer's discharge from the army air forces, in which he served as a lieutenant, he and his wife have been staying with Mrs. Channer's mother, Mrs. Homer H. Johnson of Kenilworth. Mr. and Mrs. Channer of Libertyville are the baby's paternal grandparents.

The Woman's Guild of Christ church, Winnetka, which reached a record breaking total of $10,250 at its rummage sale last year, increased that amount by $500 at this year's event, held recently in the village. The proceeds, which now have climbed to the substantial sum of $10,850, were garnered in a single day, making the event the largest one day church rummage sale in America, the committee believes.

Today's Events

Members of the women's special gifts division of the Community and War Fund drive will meet for luncheon at noon today in the Casino club to give reports.

Mrs. Joseph J. Cavanagh will entertain at tea today for the committee in charge of the South Shore league benefit cocktail party Nov. 16 in the Casino. A preview of the styles of 1895, which will be one of the features of the benefit, will be given at the tea. The league contributes to the support of the Chicago Maternity center.

The second in a series of book reviews by Mrs. Sarah Weidner Younggren will be given this morning in the Evanston home of Mrs. George B. Dryden to benefit the work of the senior board of the Evanston Infant Welfare society.

Representatives of the junior auxiliaries from various parts of the city who aid in supporting the Mary Bartelme clubs will meet for luncheon at 12:15 p. m. today in the Pump room. Hostesses will be Mrs. Don Hayden Rose and Mrs. Harry A. Dow Jr., who are co-chairmen of a performance of the Ballet theater Christmas night in the Civic Opera house, from which the clubs will benefit.

Household Forum

—By Louise Bargelt—

Mrs. Hazel Watkins, Broad street, Grinnell, Ia.—I find a pair of canvas gloves more convenient than pot holders for lifting hot covers, pots, and dishes in the kitchen. Steam cannot burn your hands and wrists.

Mrs. Fred A., Chicago—To remove a slight grease spot from silk hose, I take another silk stocking and rub it over the stain.

Dorothy F., Coldwater, Mich.—To keep the neck of a sweater from losing its shape, when laundering it I run a string around its neck. Then when the sweater has dried, I don't remove the string until I have slipped on the sweater.

Big Sisters' Board

Board members of the Jewish Big Sisters will meet at 11 a. m. today in headquarters at 203 N. Wabash av.

There's a scarcity of lettuce these days, but salad fanciers are finding most of the available vegetables excellent alternates. Shredded cabbage offers numerous variations, while slivered carrots or beets mixed with a little vinegar and sugar is an easy way to tempt finicky appetites.

Hot bacon dressing is wonderful on crisp shredded spinach. If you have the bacon, simply dice and cook 4 strips and add ½ small onion, minced; 1 tablespoon sugar, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ cup vinegar, and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Pour over spinach while hot.

More and more apples are beginning to appear on the market. They're mainly Jonathan and red delicious, but a few Rome Beauties are coming in, which means we'll be baking our apples soon. California grapes are still available, and pears are in good supply, the they're selling at high prices. Among the citrus fruits, small juice oranges are the best buy. Nutritionally they rate as high as other varieties but are available at much lower prices.

Sauger pike fillets and steaks are delicious baked fish. The fillets are good put together sandwich fashion with a stuffing between them, or dip the fillets into milk, sprinkle with salt, roll in fine bread crumbs, and place in a greased baking pan. Pour melted butter over the fish, or place strips of bacon or salt pork over them. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 to 30 minutes.

Fish Steak and Mushrooms

½ pound mushrooms, chopped
1 small onion, minced
6 tablespoons water
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
3 cups milk
Salt, pepper, paprika

Place steaks in oiled baking dish. Cook mushrooms and onion in water and butter for 3 minutes. Combine flour and milk and add to mushroom mixture. Bring slowly to a boil. Season with salt and pepper and pour over fish. Sprinkle with paprika and bake in a 400 degree oven 25 minutes.

If you're looking for a really good recipe for pumpkin pie, try this one. It's one of our favorites.

Honey Pumpkin Pie

[One 9-inch pie]

1½ cups canned or fresh cooked pumpkin
2 cups milk and cream
3 eggs, well beaten
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg

Mix all ingredients together in order listed and pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake in a hot oven [450 degrees] for 10 minutes, then reduce temperature to 350 degrees for 30 to 40 minutes longer or until firm in center.

Official Hints Rationing End Before Jan. 1

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22 (AP)—Rationing of meat, butter, fats, and oils may end before Jan. 1, a department of agriculture official said today.

Dr. D. A. Fitzgerald, director of the department's office of requirements and allocations, told a senate small business subcommittee that he favored a removal of ration points from the products "by the first of the year or earlier."

Previously Secretary of Agriculture Anderson testified that he was "reasonably sure" all controls on fats and oils can be lifted by New Year's and possibly before then. He added that further reduction in ration points for butter was under "immediate discussion" by his department and the office of price administration.

Eugene Brockenbrough, chief of the fats and oils and dairy products branch, OPA food rationing division, said any change in red point requirements would be announced on Thursday. He said proposed changes could not be made public previously, because of the effect on the market, but listeners inferred that butter points will be lowered.

Brockenbrough said he believed the rationing system was breaking down in that "people are losing respect for it."

Fitzgerald testified that $10,000,000 pounds of meat have been allocated for foreign export during the last quarter of this year. He said no grade A or AA meat will go overseas. Utility cuts and canned meats already off the rationed list will be shipped.

The subcommittee, headed by Sen. Stewart [D., Tenn.] has been investigating the shortages of fats and oils, and seeking measures to relieve the situation.

DEMOCRATS SET SIGHTS ON PARTY GAIN DOWNSTATE

Meet Tomorrow to Map Campaign in Counties

BY GEORGE TAGGE

A Democratic drive for the county offices which give the Republican organization a great part of its superior strength downstate will be mapped at a meeting of the Democratic state central committee in Springfield tomorrow.

Earlier talk of revamping the patronage setup has subsided. Mayor Kelly, who is Democratic national committeeman for Illinois, will continue to control his vast pay rolls in Cook county. Sen. Lucas at the latest report is not of a mind to toss any of his federal jobs into a common pot, and Secretary of State Edward J. Barrett will handle his own patronage matters, except for the Cook county jobs which clear thru the Kelly organization.

Mayor Probably Won't Attend

Sen. Lucas and the secretary of state will be at the meeting, but Mayor Kelly has been ailing and probably won't attend. Ald. George D. Kells [28th], who is state Democratic chairman, said he has invited three party leaders of the legislature —House Minority Leader T. J. Sullivan of Springfield, Rep. Paul Powell of Vienna, Johnson county, and Senate Minority Leader R. J. Daley of Chicago.

"We're out to pick up three or four additional seats in congress downstate, in addition to the one we have now," Kells said. "We intend to put on a campaign to win a lot of the county offices that mean so much to party strength; the courthouse offices are the nucleus of downstate organization."

Hold 25 Per Cent of Offices

Outside of Cook county, the Democrats hold only 274, or 25 per cent, of the 1,111 county offices. Their record is even poorer in the list of county commissioners in 17 counties having such offices; Republicans have 48 of 52 of these officials.

To be elected next year are county clerks, county judges, county treasurers, sheriffs, and county superintendents of schools. Counties with more than 70,000 population also will elect probate judges and clerks.

WIDER EXCHANGE OF U.S., BRITISH AIR SHOWS URGED

The departure of American troops from England is leaving a gap which the British Broadcasting corporation will strive to fill "as best as possible" with radio programs reflecting the culture, industry, and romance of America, Charles Brewer, North American director of B. B. C., yesterday told the Association for Education by Radio, which is meeting in conjunction with the School Broadcast conference at the Morrison hotel.

"Radio has the greatest powers for bringing nations together for better understanding," said Brewer, a veteran of 20 years of broadcasting. "Now that the war is over it is our desire to continue to promote the widest possible exchange of programs between American and British radio."

Harold B. McCarthy, director of WHA, the University of Wisconsin station at Madison, is to receive the award of merit of the conference at its luncheon meeting today for outstanding service in educational radio.

Eight Chicago teachers are to receive citations for their application of broadcasting to the classroom. They are Miss Mary Grace, Orr school; Miss Mabel J. Norton, Ruggles; Miss Emilie B. Cuson, Irving; Miss Marie G. Kestly, Cameron; Mrs. Genevieve B. Watts, Ruggles; Miss Lucy J. Goodwin, Libby; Miss Adele M. Erickson, Fernwood, and Miss Agnes A. Oliver, Sumner.

THIEVES LOOT PUBLIC SCHOOL

Thieves who broke into the Jefferson school, 1522 Fillmore st., over the week-end stole a radio, four boxes of pencils, and an undetermined number of books owned by the school board and by the public library, school officials notified police yesterday.

DR. FISHBEIN URGES U. S. TO ESTABLISH SCIENTIFIC BOARD

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22—Dr. Morris Fishbein of Chicago, editor of the Journal of the American Medical association, today gave his approval to a national research foundation in testimony before a joint subcommittee of the senate commerce and military affairs committees.

Dr. Fishbein emphasized the foundation must be organized in such a way as to avoid "burocratic domination of research." However, he remarked, the work of the office of scientific research and development during the war had demonstrated that federal funds could be used satisfactorily to promote research and to speed up the use of medical discoveries.

The witness also opposed the inclusion of social sciences in the federal support program on the grounds that findings might be used to affelt legislation and influense political opinion.

Boy, 2, Drowns in Pond at Grandfather's Home

John Wiencek, 2, of 2830 S. 48th ct., Cicero, was drowned yesterday when he fell into a shallow fish pond behind the home of his grandfather, Joseph Kocuinas, 1435 S. 50th av., Cicero. Kocuinas, summoned by John's 5 year old brother, pulled the child out several minutes later. A pulmotor squad worked 45 minutes in a futile attempt to resuscitate him.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

Oct. 23 — Yanks' First Shot in World War I.

GERMANS entrenched near Luneville, France, may not have taken special notice of a certain shell which arched toward their positions at 6:05 a. m. on Oct. 23, 1917. But they should have. This shot had a greater symbolic importance than any other of the whole tortured year.

It was fired by Battery C of the American 1st division's 6th field artillery and it is recognized as probably the first American shot of the war. America was finally in the fight—six months and 17 days after the formal declaration of war.

In the first World war, as in the second, the giant strength of the United States could not be thrown against the enemy until enormous problems of training, transport, and supply had been at least partly solved. Thru the summer and autumn of 1917 and thru the winter of 1917-'18, the back breaking and seemingly almost hopeless task went on of readying a peace loving nation to take its part in the greatest and most demanding war the world had ever seen.

The historic shot of Oct. 23 was an early result of the herculean efforts the country had been putting forth. Yet this first appearance of Americans in front line trenches had little practical importance, for the 1st division was still in training and its front line duty was not regarded primarily as combat service but as a means of obtaining experience.

The great American blows were to be delivered the next year. They were to constitute a critically important part of the allied operations which sent the German armies reeling back toward their own border and which forced the armistice of Nov. 11.

POSTAL CLERK ROBBED

WILDCATS OPEN DRILL AGAINST PURDUE PLAYS

Try to Bolster Pass Defense

Northwestern university's Wildcats settled to the task yesterday of preparing for Saturday's homecoming game with Purdue's undefeated Boilermakers, current leaders in the Big Nine football race.

The Wildcats feel that they are stronger than their one sided defeat by Minnesota would indicate and hope to prove it against Purdue. Saturday's game will mark the 50th anniversary of the football rivalry between the two schools. The series, which started in 1895, finds the Boilermakers holding an edge of 14 victories to 12 with one game ending in a tie.

Weak on Pass Defense

Against Minnesota, the Wildcats revealed a weakness on forward pass defense that permitted the Gophers to score three of their four touchdowns. This defensive department will receive considerable attention in practice this week as the Boilermakers have one of the finest passers in the conference in Bob De Moss, who completed nine out of 13 attempts against Ohio State. Two of his passes went for touchdowns.

Coach Lynn Waldorf was also displeased with Northwestern's running game which fell off sharply from its showing in previous games. The one bright spot in the Minnesota game as far as the Wildcats were concerned was the forward passing attack which clicked for a total of 182 yards.

NO LETDOWN AT PURDUE

Lafayette, Ind., Oct. 22 [Special]—Altho elated by the unified team play that enabled Purdue to take over the Big Nine leadership in routing Ohio State's defending champions, Coach Cecil Isbell warned the Boilermakers today that "the season is only half over."

Launching preparations for the invasion of Evanston on Saturday to meet Northwestern in the fourth successive conference encounter for the untied, undefeated Boilermakers, Isbell indicated he would stand pat on the same starting lineup that piled up a 22 to 0 lead over Ohio State before the Buckeyes had registered their opening first down.

Following a study of reports, Isbell pointed out that there can be no letdown against a Wildcat combination that will be inspired by a homecoming crowd. "Northwestern's line has shown unusual strength," said the Boilermaker coach. "It stopped Indiana's versatile attack effectively, and Minnesota's victory last Saturday was largely due to aerial superiority."

Ritchie Taken by Brookfield and New Moon

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 22 (AP)—H. L. Straus' New Moon, winning the first division of the Ritchie handicap at Pimlico today, broke the stake record in registering a four length victory over Mrs. P. A. B. Widener's Polynesian, while Brookfield Farm's Brookfield captured the second division of the six furlong sprint.

A crowd of 15,225 attending the opening of Pimlico's 35 day fall meeting made Polynesian, the 1945 Preakness winner, the favorite in the first division of this feature for 3 year olds and up, but New Moon came along to take a length advantage at the three-quarter pole and won with ease. New Moon, 5 year old son of Discovery, was timed in 1:11.

In the second division, Brookfield, from Harry Isaac's Brookfield Farm, the favorite, scored a length and a half triumph over Pentagon Stable's The Doge, with Christiana Stable's Alexis a length farther back in the field of 10.

Brookfield, 3 year old son of Bimelech, cover the distance in 1:11 2-5 over a fast track, and rewarded his backers with a $5.80, $4, and $3.50 payoff.

ELMER LAYDEN, commissioner of the National Football league, still smiles, he says, when he recalls those stories of how Notre Dame overpowered this team or that team by using 60 or 70 men. . . . Eye Doctor

And make the world a place that's new and bright;
The lenses merely looked like glass to me,
And yet, because of them, how much I see!
And yet with glasses on the hours go by
And often I forget my special need
While I'm engrossed in something good to read.
But sometimes there occurs an accident—
They're broken, lost, or even badly bent—
With gratitude, it's then I realize
A doctor's skill adds sight unto my eyes. —Hilda Butler Farr

The University of Chicago basketball team, whose return to a full Western conference schedule this season after a one year lapse was announced in THE TRIBUNE last spring, will open against Indiana's Hoosiers on Jan. 5 at the Midway, Coach Nelson Norgren said yesterday. Chicago's Big Ten schedule follows:

HAWKS AWAIT SEASON OPENER ON BOSTON ICE

They'll Battle Bruin Six Tomorrow

BY EDWARD BURNS

The Blackhawks glided out on Chicago Stadium ice late yesterday afternoon, just as Sonja Henie's little ladies finished their skating didoes for the day. Which is not a prelude to some terrible metaphor about beauties and beasts, but a happy reminder that the winter sports season is, indeed, upon us, even tho the town may have to go without a six day bike race for another year.

The gals who are practicing for the Sonja show seem prettier of face, shapelier of limb and torso, and more sparkling than ever, but we don't have to write about them until along about Christmas eve. The National Hockey league season opens tomorrow night and that's what has got us all a-twitter, even tho the season's first game takes place between the Hawks and the Boston Bruins in far off Boston. And besides, a week from tomorrow night, the Hawks and the New York Rangers will be in the Stadium for the first Chicago big league game in what well may be the boomingest hockey season in history.

Farrell Wasn't Kidding

It certainly seemed fine to see all those young men skating around yesterday, tho there was nothing about the chore at hand to cause any one to break out in a rash of experting. It was enough for a Chicago hockey addict simply to identify some of the favorites of one, two, and three years ago to make sure that Joe Farrell, the club press agent, wasn't having hallucinations when he sent his rosters out of the Regina, Sask., training camp.

Yes sir, we saw 'em in the flesh. We didn't have to pay any attention to Farrell and his inspired babblings. There was Max Bentley, absent these last two seasons, and at his side, Brother Doug, so sorely missed last year. And their line partner, Bill Mosienko, seems eager to get going as one of a trio that's bound to cause excitement.

That big red headed fellow they elected captain. We shook hands with him and scrutinized him carefully. No doubt about it—Red Hamill, looking stronger and tougher than he did before he went away to give two years to his country's service.

Cooper's Happy to Be Back

Joe Cooper, the people's cherce, as he would be called if he played in Brooklyn, was skating yesterday. Joe is suffering a few muscular agonies but he thinks the club is better than it has been since he joined up after getting out of the Canadian service. He welcomes the chance to play defense alongside the rugged and rough Johnny Mariucci.

It definitely has been decided that Doug Stevenson, will supplant the veteran, Mike Karakas, at goal, at least in the Boston opener. This does not mean Karakas will be sent on his way. Manager Johnny Gottselig has expressed himself as believing goalies should be relieved, just as big league catchers are relieved for double headers. John said most of the National league teams will carry two netminders this year. Both Doug and Mike were in full regalia during yesterday's workout.

Hamilton Is Injured

All the other players who will start the season were present, but Reg Hamilton, defenseman obtained from the champion Maple Leafs, was not on the ice. He is suffering from an injured ankle. George Allen and Eddie Wares were paired in one of the defense lines, but the team will carry five defense players, Gottselig said.

Working with Hamill was Don Grosso and Pete Horeck, and the present plan calls for this trio to stick together. The third line had Alex Kaleta, Clint Smith, and Wingy Johnston lined up. Johnston and Kaleta are fine defensive players, and frequently will be seen on the ice when a Hawk player is serving a penalty.

The Hawks will have two league games in the books before they make their bow to the home folks a week from tomorrow night. From Boston they will go to Montreal, where they will open the Canadiens' home season. Their first Sunday game will be with the Champion Leafs on Nov. 4.

GARDINE LEADS CITY TRIALS FOR ALL-STAR MEET

BY CHARLES BARTLETT

Tony Gardine, a sound journeyman bowler who can step in and pitch in any league, is the current leader in the city-wide elimination trials for the fifth annual All-Star match game battle to be conducted by Chicago Tribune Charities, Inc. and the Bowling Proprietors' Association of America in the Auditorium service men's center from Dec. 1 thru 9.

Gardine is pacing the eight leaders at Bowling Lanes, operated by Ralph Olsen and Jack Samuelson at 5221 Broadway, with a three game total pin effort of 701, off games of 213, 266, and 222. Gardine now has a record of four consecutive 700 plus series, the others being a 728 in the Marigold Major, a 706 in the Classic league and a 708 in the North End Traveling circuit. Nearest to him in the Bowling Lanes All-Star trials is Fireman Charles Sena of Hook and Ladder Co. No. 19. Sena, who bowls with the Subway Parts team at Stratford Recreation, assembled three neat games of 231, 221, and 236 for a 688.

D'Amato's 673 Still Tops

Vie in Five Other Centers

Mysterious Mr. Jones May Be Just What Bears Need

BY EDWARD PRELL

Seldom have the Bears been as interesting in defeat as they were Sunday in the rain at Wrigley field. Their third quarter surge led to hopes, false hopes it developed, that they would upset the talented Cleveland Rams.

Edgar Jones

Another soothing factor was the spectacular professional debut of Edgar [Special Delivery] Jones, from the University of Pittsburgh and the Fleet City [Cal.] Marines. The Bears had Jones primed as their secret weapon and he was just that in the blistering third quarter which put them ahead of the Rams momentarily. Special Delivery's name wasn't even on the program and no one paid much attention when the announcer yodeled before the game that Jones, No. 19, was an added starter.

Selected in 1941

Jones is 26 years old, 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighs 175 pounds.

In the 1941 college draft for the 1942 season the Bears selected Jones. But it took them a long time to get around to Edgar. He was the 17th on their 20 player list, which was headed that year by Stanford's Frankie Albert, a T formation quarter back. Jones went into military service soon afterward.

In 1946 Jones will be playing for the Cleveland Browns in the All-America conference. He has been signed to a contract by Arthur McBride, owner of that team. When Jones recently was released from service, McBride gave him permission to play with the Bears the remainder of the season, inasmuch as the All-America will not begin operating until next fall.

Daniell Another Surprise

Jim Daniell, the other mystery man who was sprung Sunday by the Bears, was 10th in this same 1941 draft ceremony. Daniell, who was an All-America tackle at Ohio State, is 27, 6 feet 2 inches tall, and weighed 230 when he was bowling over the opposition for the Buckeyes.

Addition of Jones and Daniell has prompted smart observers to suggest that the Bears may break their record four game losing streak Sunday in Detroit against the Lions. The Bears will build some new plays this week around Special Delivery. The young man's first play Sunday gave no hint of the whirlwind he would be. Sid Luckman tossed the ball to Jones, who retreated to his right to throw a pass. But Sonny Liles, Cleveland guard, broke thru and tackled him for a 15 yard loss.

MacPHAIL CASE GOES TO GRAND JURY ON NOV. 12

Bel Air, Md., Oct. 22 (AP)—President Larry MacPhail of the New York Yankees waived preliminary hearing today on two assault charges and one of disorderly conduct and was ordered bound over to the November grand jury by Trial Magistrate Stanley S. Spencer.

MacPhail, whose arrest on the three warrants followed an Oct. 5 disturbance in the Bel Air telephone exchange over his inability to place a long distance call from his showplace stockfarm near Bel Air, furnished the same bond of $550 pending grand jury action. A nation-wide four hour work stoppage of telephone employes occurred that afternoon. The baseball official's case was designated by the magistrate for grand jury consideration on Nov. 12.

2 THOROBREDS MAKE 380 MILE JOURNEY BY AIR

San Mateo, Cal., Oct. 22 (AP)—Two thorobreds, without knowing what all the fuss was about, helped to contribute a page to the history of horse racing today as they were flown from Los Angeles to the Bay Meadows track, south of San Francisco. The trip of about 380 air miles was made in 3 hours and 50 minutes.

BASEBALL MUST EMPLOY 2,500 BACK FROM WAR

Fear Present Plan Inadequate

BY IRVING VAUGHAN

Who showed up during the night, what can he do, and how many are on hand at the moment? This, in the near future, may become the daily post-breakfast greeting in any big league office and while the magnates, at this time are not fearing the worst, they are prepared to act.

It has to do with the players returning from service, a parade that will involve about 500 men on the big league rosters alone, and a couple thousand on the national defense lists of the minor leagues.

Funneling back all these athletes into baseball clothes entails not only expense but the setting up of many of the minor leagues abandoned during the war. Only 12 minor circuits operated last season.

May Alter Post-War Plan

The magnates, wishing to protect the returned service-player, set up various rules covering post-war procedure. It was agreed that along with the 25 on the regular roster during the greater part of the playing season there could be added a maximum of five ex-service men. During the off-season 40 players and eight dischargees are allowed.

Whether the allowance for service men on club rosters now is sufficient is becoming a matter of doubt among some of the owners. Only a few came back late this season but it was enough to indicate that a sudden deluge of dischargees could be confusing as well as embarrassing. It may be that the owners will discard all restrictions on ex-service men except as to guaranteeing them an unlimited tryout.

Salary Guaranteed for Year

Another part of the present rule is that a player, returning to a club that carried him on its defense list, must be paid a minimum of 15 days salary during the season or given a 30 day tryout in spring camp. In other words, a reinstated service man can't be released until these guarantees have been observed, and if he's eventually released to a minor league on option the big league club remains responsible for his salary for one year.

Not a little part of the solution to the problem, beyond making the rules more flexible, lies in the speed with which the disbanded minor leagues are reëstablished. A few of these are already functioning on paper and stand ready to absorb much of the major league excess.

The new leagues, if there are enough of them, also will be able to relieve the minors that operated during the war of the men on their service lists. Some minor league clubs have in excess of 100 names on their service lists.

4 Notre Dame Men Hurt in Pitt Contest

Notre Dame, Ind., Oct. 22 [Special]—Coach Hugh Devore sent the Irish thru lengthy limbering up drills today, but refrained from contact work following the Notre Dame victory over Pittsburgh Saturday.

Four Irish stars came out of the Pittsburgh tussle with slight injuries, but all are expected to be in shape to appear in the Iowa game next Saturday. The injured are: Bill Fischer, tackle, bruised shoulder; Tom Potter, guard, slight shoulder separation; Terry Brennan, half back, bruised shoulder, and Bob Skoglund, end, wrenched knee.

IOWA STAR BACKS HURT

Iowa City, Ia., Oct. 22 [Special]—Clem Crowe took inventory today of Iowa's injury list from the Indiana game as the Hawkeyes started preparation for Saturday's game at Notre Dame.

Walter Thorpe, No. 3 full back, who proved Iowa's leading ground gainer against the Hoosiers, has only a bruise, not a rib fracture, as had been feared. Nelson Smith's back was reinjured, but he is expected to be ready for at least partial service against the Irish.

PARSONS RALLIES; EARNS 8 ROUND DRAW WITH BELL

Bill Parsons, Danville, Ill., welterweight, survived a no count knockdown in the second round to earn an eight round draw with O'Neil Bell of Detroit, before a crowd of 1,595 which paid a gross gate of $3,406 in Marigold Gardens last night.

Referee Tommy Thomas voted for Parsons, 42-38, and Judge Harold Marovitz scored for Bell, 42-38, but George Kenny, the other judge, called the bout a draw.

Robert Pryor, Chicago 144 pounder, stopped Marty Ferro, Detroit, in the first round; Andy Duncan, 123 pounder, scored a technical knockout over Nick Kachardus in the second; Ernie Stevenson, 156 pounder, knocked out Ted Newsome in the third, and Art Brown, south side 149 pounder, won a decision over Robert Fowler in eight rounds in supporting bouts.

FAVORITES HAVE TERRIBLE TIME AT SPORTSMAN'S

Jockey Job Jessop Wins on Anything

BY MAURICE SHEVLIN

Winning favorites are a dime a dozen at Sportsman's park this fall. In marked contrast to the spring meeting, which showed an extraordinarily high percentage of 50, figures for the first week of the current 30 day session at the Cicero half miler reveal that the public choices have found the winner's circle only 22 per cent of the time.

The spectacular riding of Jockey Job Jessop, the Nibley, Utah, youngster, may have much to do with the condition, for he's been booting in all kinds of mounts and holds almost a 2 to 1 advantage over Billy Nichols, who set the pace this spring and last fall.

Jessop Keeps Winning

Jessop rode his 15th winner of the meeting in yesterday's third race, and his mount, Mrs. A. M. Creech's Tawny Lady, went postward the 6 to 5 money favorite, paying $4.60.

Nichols scored previously, winning the opening event aboard M. H. VanBerg's Take Courage, which returned $15.20. It was Nichols' eighth victory in seven days. Claude Hooper brought Rivermount ranch's River Jack down in front in the second half of the daily double, worth $98. River Jack paid $11.40.

He Misses on Favorite

Nichols had the leg up on Knight's Gift, the favorite in the fourth, but it was Tommy Bates who rode the winner, C. U. Yaeger's Fire Dog, a 7 to 1 shot, while Knight's Gift ran out of the money. Fire Dog paid $17.80.

Nichols put over another favorite, Mrs. G. H. Emick's Three Clovers, in the fifth race. The 8 year old gelding paid $4.20.

The mile and five furlongs sixth race, titled The Grand Rapids, was taken by Miss Bobolink, which races for the Happy Hour farm. Jockey J. W. Martin was aboard the winner, which scored by three lengths over Seventeen Guns. Stand Easy was third. Corydon, the favorite, was fourth. Miss Bobolink, overlooked by the crowd, returned $21.

Two Riders Injured

Jockeys Willie Hawksworth and Tommy Bates were injured, neither seriously, during the afternoon's racing. Hawksworth was thrown in the fourth by Pouting Mac and Bates in the seventh by Diesel Sand.

Lunn Slated to Start for Illini Saturday

Champaign, Ill., Oct. 22 [Special]—Bob Lunn, 18 year old freshman from Spring Valley, Ill., has won the first string left guard spot on the Illinois football team, it was indicated today. Lunn went into the Wisconsin game last week as a substitute and gave an outstanding performance.

WOLVERINES RESUME WORK

The Wolverines will meet Illinois in Champaign Saturday in a return to Western conference competition. Coach Fritz Crisler, who watched the Illini and Wisconsin struggle to a 7 to 7 tie last Saturday, offered his charges the benefit of his scouting report and sent them thru a hard scrimmage this afternoon.

GOPHERS RETAIN NAVY STARS

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 22 [Special]—Minnesota's football team went thru practice today for its game with Ohio State here Saturday following its 30 to 7 victory over Northwestern. The squad also learned thot two of its Navy men—Quarter Back Merlin Kispert and Center Dick van Dusen—who had received transfer orders, will not leave until next month. Van Dusen will depart for destroyer escort duty on Nov. 13 and Kispert will remain with the Gophers thru the Iowa game Nov. 17.

BUCKEYES OPEN DRILL

Columbus, O., Oct. 22 [Special]—A bruised and battered Ohio State football team started drilling today for its game with Minnnesota at Minneapolis Saturday. Except for Paul Sarringhaus and Dick Fisher, half backs, who suffered reinjuries of a shoulder and leg, respectively, the rest of the squad came thru with minor bruises.

After viewing films of the 35 to 13 Purdue victory, the team took to the field for individual instruction.

At a press luncheon today, Coach Carroll Widdoes reported that the team would spend most of its time in offensive maneuvers in preparation for the Gophers and indicated that forward pass defense would come in for considerable time in the three days remaining before the Buckeyes leave Thursday for Minneapolis.

TULSA ALARMS INDIANA

McMillin and his coaching staff studied scouting reports on Tulsa this morning and sent the team thru a heavy workout on offense and defense to be used against Coach Henry Frnka's squad.

Nimrods Glum as Ducks Stay in Northland

BY BOB BECKER

Last week-end was not a happy one for hundreds of duck hunters along the Illinois river because the shooting was anything but good, except in a few areas. A checkup of a number of shooting spots showed that few hunters were getting a limit of birds.

Frank Bellrose, game technician of the Illinois Natural History survey, reports that only about 75,000 ducks are in the Illinois river valley.

Still Up North

Bellrose calls attention to an interesting fact about the present poor shooting along the Illinois. The trouble is that the puddler ducks, like mallards, pintails, etc., are not coming down because they have lots of water and plenty of grain to hold them in the north country. The birds must figure that they would be chumps to leave their open air cafeteria up north until a blizzard forces them south.

On the other hand, the diving ducks are right on time. They showed up in October about the same time they appeared in Illinois last year. And the few black ducks that come to Illinois from the east each fall also are on time. About 20,000 geese have arrived at Horseshoe lake.

Big Flight Is Needed

Today the duck situation along the Illinois is this: About 10,000 ducks are using the Chautauqua Wildlife refuge. A month from now there should be about a million or so there. There are 15,000 bluebills on the Illinois and more than 5,000 blackjacks. The water is going down and may soon be back to normal. But the hunting is way below par and won't be good until we get a big flight.

Some say shooting spots along the Illinois already are sold out way into December, which tells the story of the unusually heavy hunting pressure this fall. The situation highlights the fact that this state needs many more public shooting grounds to take care of the shooters who like waterfowl hunting.

PRO SUB RULES PLEASE FANS BY SPEEDING GAMES

Colleges Could Do Well to Follow Suit

BY WILFRID SMITH

When a professional football game, in which the Bears and Cleveland score nine touchdowns, can be played in 2 hours and 21 minutes, there must be sound reason for the unusually short time. The reason apparently is the professional football rule on substitutions.

The mechanics of officiating in both collegiate and professional football have been improved in recent seasons. For purposes of this discussion it is well to assume that ball handling by professional and collegiate officials is equally fast and reduces time lost in spotting the ball to a minimum. The obvious fact, then, is that the substitute rule in professional football—Hugh Ray, technical editor of the National Football league rules, calls it "free substitution"—speeds action.

Two hours and 20 minutes generally has been considered the minimum for 60 minutes of football time. Fifteen minute intermission, legal times out, and time out for penalties, out of bounds, incomplete passes, touchbacks, and scores account for the remainder. The professional substitute rule was developed to eliminate loss of time and satisfy the public's desire for action.

Brevity Is Pronounced

"If a substitute enters while time is in [other than the last two minutes of a half] or after referee's whistle following a time out, no official is to signal his entry and the field judge continues his timing of 30 seconds, if and when it has been started. [NOTE: Professional football permits a maximum of 30 seconds in which a play must be run off.]

"A substitute has reported and becomes a player when [a] he informs a teammate he is replacing him, [b] he communicates with a teammate, [c] a teammate voluntarily withdraws upon his entering, or [d] in the absence of any of these he is on the field at the snap [of the ball] or free kick.

College Speedup Negated

Now consider the college rule on substituting players:

"—An incoming substitute must report to an official. Until an incoming substitute has been accepted by an official he shall not communicate with any one other than the officials."

While collegiate football permits only 25 seconds for a play—that is, from the time the referee spots the ball until it is in action, the apparent speedup of five seconds over the professional rule is negated by the substitutions which can be made on every play.

Substitutes generally come into the game when time is officially out for out of bounds, incomplete passes, and penalties, etc. Stopping the time for substitutions is permitted without penalty three times in each half by both collegians and professionals. The increase in elapsed time of a college game stems from delay in a substitute reporting and the spotting of the ball by the referee for the next play.

COUNCIL GROUP VOTES TROLLEY DEBT STANDOFF

Surface Lines' Claims Near 9 Millions

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK

Without a dissenting vote, the city council committee on local transportation yesterday recommended enactment of an ordinance that would square off more than 7 million dollars of claims against the Chicago Surface Lines and nearly 9 millions of surface lines claims against the city.

The action was taken at the request of the Chicago Metropolitan Transit authority, which intends to purchase the surface and elevated lines, unify them, and operate them under public ownership. The council is expected to approve the committee's recommendation at its next meeting.

Terms of Settlement

One of the items the city would give up is $5,800,000 in a compensation fund built up to pay the city for use of streets. The lines would give up about the same amount alleged due for expense incident to the construction of subways.

Several aldermen present complained that the city was giving up too much, but the authority, represented by Chairman Philip Harrington and Atty. William H. Sexton, urged that the deal be made so the traction plan would not be endangered.

Action Advised by SEC

The authority purchase must be made thru the United States District court, which controls both lines in bankruptcy. The securities and exchange commission, acting as adviser to the court, reported recently that the waiver of the compensation fund was necessary if the offer for the surface lines was to be made fair.

Ald. Keenan [49th] objected to waiving an item of $470,000 due the city for snow removal in car line streets. He said the city had counted this sum as income and appropriated against it. There was no legal way, he said, to surrender the money.

MASONITE'S NET EARNINGS GAIN IN FISCAL YEAR

Masonite corporation, Chicago hardboard producer and building industry supplier, expects a large demand from its major markets, and soon will be operating on an "unrestricted basis," M. P. McCullough, president, told stockholders yesterday in his annual report for the fiscal year ended Aug. 31, 1945. Net earnings were higher for the year.

Many priorities and controls have been lifted, McCullough said. Orders were mounting, especially from the building industry. The automobile industry is expected to be an important customer.

Northwest Airlines' net earnings in the fiscal year ended June 30 were $727,714, or $1.35 a share, against $517,889, or $1.45 on a much smaller number of shares outstanding a year earlier. Operating revenues rose 57 per cent as a result of additional planes put in service, said Croll Hunter, president.

GRAIN FUTURES RISE ON BUYING OF CASH WHEAT

More large sales of cash wheat to the Commodity Credit corporation, announcement that the agency had asked for offers for cash oats at Duluth, and expectations the house would begin consideration within a few days of the Pace bill to include labor costs in computing parity prices caused grain futures to advance generally yesterday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Altho trading was not heavy, prices rose quickly on buying by commission houses and shorts. Wheat gained ⅝ to 1⅛ cents a bushel, corn ¼ to ½, oats ⅝ to 1¼, and barley ¾ to 1½. Rye closed ¾ higher to ⅛ lower.

STOCK MARKET PRICES CLIMB; DEMAND LIGHT

Trend Stiffens After Uneven Start

New York, Oct. 22 (AP)—Selected rails, industrials, and utilities pushed upward in today's stock market altho demand was relatively light and many leaders suffered from neglect. Prices in general closed higher.

In the "new high" division were J. J. Newberry, up 10½ points at 105 on a single 100 share sale; Schenley, up 3⅝ at 79¾, and National Distillers, up 2⅜ at 60¼.

Higher were Bethlehem, Chrysler, Santa Fe, Southern Pacific, Great Northern, Sears-Roebuck [up 4¼ on the eve of the four for one split], Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, American Water Works, Houston Oil, Johns-Manville, du Pont, Owens-Illinois, and United States Gypsum.

BOND MARKET STEADY

New York, Oct. 22 (AP)—Bond market prices were steady today under limited demand for rails and investment rated corporates as underwriters got off to a good start on the last week of activity before the Victory loan drive. Foreign dollar bonds were stimulated by heavy demand for some of the Peruvian loans. Total sales of $6,070,000 compared with $8,790,000 Friday.

CHICAGO LIST GAINS

Prices were higher on the Chicago Stock exchange yesterday on turnover of 34,000 shares. Volume leaders included Commonwealth Edison and Swift, each down ⅛; Chicago corporation, up ⅛; Middle West, up ⅝, and Trane, unchanged. Eight issues reached new highs.

SUPPLY OF LIVE STOCK SHRINKS, PRICES STRONG

Cattle receipts in Chicago yesterday totaled only 17,500 head, second smallest for a Monday in 10 weeks, but slightly above last week's 17,133. Sheep receipts dropped to 7,000, smallest in five weeks, and the hog run, at 6,500, was among the lowest for Monday on record.

Strong prices prevailed for most classes of meat animals. Cattle buyers arrived before dawn in an effort to increase their volume. More than 80 carloads of steers, including some heifers, reached the $18 a hundred pounds ceiling.

NEW PRIORITIES PLAN TO SPEED SURPLUS SALES

Government Units Get Reserves

Modification of the priorities of federal agencies and state and local governments will expedite the disposal of surplus government property, Albert M. Carter, Chicago regional director of the Smaller War Plants corporation, predicted yesterday.

Instead of allowing governmental units a priority of 30 days on all goods offered, the surplus property administration has adopted a procedure of establishing special reserves for preferred groups.

Under the reserve plan estimates are submitted at intervals by the SWPC to disposal agencies of the amounts and kinds of surplus property needed by the preferred groups. The reserves are based on experience and demonstrated demands.

Speaks to Conversion School

"Now is the best time to dispose of surplus property. The American economy needs all kinds of goods which are in large part available only from surplus. Furthermore, the speedy distribution of much needed surplus equipment and materials will be of great value to American industry in reconverting to peace time production. It was primarily to meet the objective of speedier sales that this priority period was eliminated."

Altho the SWPC, as surplus purchaser for veterans and small business, was affected by elimination of the 30 day period, said Carter, "it is hoped that much of the fruitless labor of the past will be eliminated."

Many Items of No Interest

William A. Murphy, acting director of the regional surplus property office of the department of commerce, also approved the change. He said government units were not interested in many of the surplus items on which they had been given priorities, needlessly delaying sales.

M. O. Hoel, acting manager of the Chicago regional office of the Reconstruction Finance corporation, reported "a lot of interest is being shown in surplus war plants in the Chicago area, especially the Buick aircraft engine plant in Melrose Park. He added:

Hoel declined to disclose the prospective buyer, but the Westinghouse Electric corporation and International Harvester company have been reported among large concerns interested in the property.

Vet Files Suit to Regain His Pre-War Job

The first suit to be filed in federal District court seeking to compel an employer to restore a war veteran to his old job under the provisions of the selective service act of 1940 was instituted yesterday by Jack Kasrel, 33, of 1915 W. 62d st.

Employed for 13 Years

Kasrel, who accumulated three battle stars during two and a half years in the Southwest Pacific, was honorably discharged from the army Aug. 9 with the rank of technician 5th grade. When he entered the army in 1942 he was a salesman for the defendant company, earning approximately $10,000 a year, his suit said.

He had been employed by the company for 13 years, beginning as a clerk in the mailing room of the company's advertising department in 1929. Subsequently he became a sales correspondent, assistant sales manager, advertising manager, and later a salesman. In his first year as a salesman, his suit said, he increased the business in his territory from $38,000 to $65,000, and when he entered the army had built it up to an annual volume of $109,000.

Salesmen Not Needed

The suit said that when Kasrel applied for his old job back, within 60 days of the date of his discharge from the army, as provided in the selective service act, he was informed the company had no job for him because it no longer has any need for salesmen.

He asked that the court issue a writ of mandamus ordering the company to restore him to his job. He is represented by Atty. James W. Cotter.

A. & P. WITNESS UPHOLDS FREE TRADE SYSTEM

[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

Danville, Ill., Oct. 22—Dr. Paul D. Converse, professor of marketing at the University of Illinois, today testified in the anti-trust trial of the New York Great Atlantic and Pacific Tea company that the competitive system in American business has not failed and "I don't know that it is going to."

Dr. Converse, a defense witness on cross examination, was questioned about charts showing A. & P.'s lessening share of food retailing and the increasing business of food brokers during a period when the government has charged that A. & P.'s produce buying subsidiary dominated markets.

He said he had not made the charts but had checked them. Government lawyers attacked the accuracy of his source material. He replied he had used government reports, either department of commerce or census bureau.

John A. Hartford, A. & P. president, from whom Elliott Roosevelt, son of the late President, obtained a $200,000 loan on which $4,000 was repaid, is expected to be a witness tomorrow. With other officers of the company, he is under indictment, facing a possible sentence of one year in prison.

COUNTRY-WIDE JOBLESS PAY BY STATES URGED

New York, Oct. 22 (AP)—Paul G. Hoffman, president of the Studebaker corporation and the Committee for Economic Development, today urged that state unemployment compensation be provided for all the country's workers. He said this was necessary to provide individuals with the confidence required to sustain consumption and maintain high production.

"We are not going to have the basis of individual confidence until we extend unemployment compensation to the whole working population," said Hoffman, addressing the first National Marketing forum.

Hoffman said the states should provide unemployment compensation on the basis of local conditions and living costs. No individual should face "the spectre of starvation because he might lose his job thru no fault of his own," he said.

PACKER IS FINED IN VIOLATION OF PRICES, PRIORITY

Fines totaling $3,500 were levied against the Illinois Packing company, 911 W. 37th pl., yesterday by Judge William J. Campbell in Federal District court on charges of violating price ceilings and failing to fill an army priority order for beef. The company pleaded guilty to two indictments.

The first indictment, with 19 counts covering overcharges from June to August, 1943, brought a fine of $2,500. The second charged the company with filling less than one-fifth of a 75,000 pound army beef order while delivering 519,000 pounds on low priority orders in May, 1943. Asst. United States Atty. Raymond L. McClory represented the government.

U. S. OFFICIAL URGES FISCAL CONTROL UNIT TO HELP ACCOUNTING

Immediate establishment of a federal fiscal control unit to make accounting a major factor in every government project from its inception was urged last night by T. Coleman Andrews, director of the corporation audits division of the general accounting office, Washington, D. C.

"The government often has been placed at great disadvantage in its business undertakings, especially those with other countries, by failing to introduce accounting, auditing, and fiscal control generally at the planning stage of such undertakings," Andrews asserted at a meeting of the governing body of the American Institute of Accountants in the Palmer House.

"Had such a group been brought in to establish fiscal control of lend lease at its very inception, we would have known who owed whom and how much from day to day. As matters now stand, there is no telling when or even whether an accurate accounting of lend-lease operations will be made."

OWNERS OF TWO STEEL FIRMS TO VOTE ON MERGER

Directors of American Rolling Mill company and Rustless Iron and Steel corporation yesterday approved special stockholder meetings of the companies in December to vote on a proposal to merge Rustless into American. The proposal included a provision that each share of Rustless common stock be converted into one share of American common.

American's stockholders will meet Dec. 7 with holders of record Oct. 23 eligible to vote. Rustless stockholders will meet Dec. 28 with holders of record Nov. 22 permitted to vote. The merger will become effective at the end of the year if the stockholders approve.

Halsey, Stuart Wins Montana Utility's Bonds

Several sizable securities offerings moved toward the market yesterday in corporate financing operations scheduled for completion before the Victory loan campaign, which begins next Monday, to avoid conflict with government financing.

The largest was a 40 million dollar issue of Montana Power company first mortgage 30 year bonds, awarded to Halsey, Stuart & Co., Chicago, on its top bid of 100.2799 for a 2⅞ per cent coupon. Reoffering was expected tomorrow at 101, subject to securities and exchange commission approval.

The Burlington railroad asked underwriters to submit bids by Friday for 65 millions of 40 year first and refunding mortgage bonds. Proceeds will be applied to the refunding at a premium of $69,493,000 of 3½s and 3¾s by Jan. 15.

Debt Reduced 23 Per Cent

The refunding will extend a program which since Dec. 31, 1941, has sliced funded debt 23 per cent, or more than 58 millions. The new bonds will be issued under an existing mortgage, of which the First National Bank of New York is trustee. No Chicago banks will participate.

White, Weld & Co. and associates won 13 million dollars of Union Electric Company of Missouri bonds on a bid of 100.63 for a 2¾ per cent rate. Reoffering was planned later this week at 101.02. First Boston corporation made the high offer for 40,000 shares of Union Electric preferred, 100.5499 for a 3.70 dividend rate. Reoffering was planned at 101¾ subject to award by the company and SEC approval.

A block of 539,240 shares of Florida Power corporation common stock was won by Kidder, Peabody & Co. and associates on its bid of $16.261. Reoffering at $17 a share was planned. Florida Gas sold 142,857 of the shares and its parent, General Gas and Electric corporation, sold 396,383.

Books Closed After Two Weeks.

Halsey, Stuart announced books had been closed on its offering of 75 millions of Southwestern Bell Telephone company 40 year 2¾ per cent debentures. The sale had extended over the last two weeks in contrast with recent Bell System financing which was snapped up by investors in an hour or two. The Southwestern issue moved slowly, said a Halsey spokesman, because institutional demand, usually strong on Bell financing, was weak at the outset.

Offerings today will include 6,799 shares of Devoe & Reynolds company class A stock at $64.75 a share by Shields & Co., and 60,000 shares of National Battery company common at $26.50 a share by Goldman, Sachs & Co.

Crosley Motors, Inc., registered with the SEC 235,099 shares of no par value common to be offered at $6 a share. Proceeds would be used to buy additional machinery and to cover cost of a real estate purchase in Marion, Ind.

PAY BY OUTPUT, NOT BY CLOCK, SAYS TOOL MAN

Urges Productivity Hike to Aid Jobs

Workers' wages should be determined more by their output and less by their time clock records, Joseph L. Trecker, outgoing president of the National Machine Tool Builders' association, asserted yesterday. Increase the workers' productivity and more jobs will be created, he said.

"The idea of hourly wage rates arose back in the days when time was in fact at least a fair measure of productivity," he said at the group's annual meeting in the Edgewater Beach hotel. "But today this assumption has completely gone by the boards. The idea now is that a man should turn out only as much work per hour as is permitted by his shop steward.

Says It Reflects Union Policy

"This is a reflection of the overall union ideology that there is only so much work to be done and that unless it is spread out the greatest possible extent there will not be enough jobs to go around."

Labor's idea is that by limiting productivity more jobs can be maintained, he asserted. Industry believes increased productivity will not only maintain jobs but will create them.

Tho Trecker did not advocate a return to the straight piece work system of pay, he urged that a worker's output be a strong consideration in the weight of his pay envelope. In any event, hourly rates are not a fair measure of compensation under the volume production system, he said.

Asserts Action Opposed

He charged New Deal ideologies have opposed almost every move taken by industry toward larger employment as the result of increased productivity. The government has encouraged the unions in their "restraining productivity" philosophy, he asserted.

Trecker said the government has imposed a penalty on the installation of productive equipment thru the treasury's depreciation policy, and urged that industry be given an incentive for installation of equipment which will lead to increased output.

Bendix Sets Goal of 600,000 Washing Machines in a Year

BY ANNE DOUGLAS
[Chicago Tribune Press Service]

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 22—Bendix Home Appliances, Inc., expects to market 600,000 automatic home washers in the next 12 months if manufacturers of components can prevent bottlenecks, J. S. Sayre, president, said today. He addressed a meeting of 125 suppliers called to South Bend to hear the company's merchandising plans.

J. S. Sayre

Sayre said deliveries of parts have been only slightly behind schedule, and production is running at 450 to 600 units a day at one of Bendix's assemblers, Clyde Porcelain Steel Products company, Clyde, O. Assembly work will start at Ingersoll Steel division of Borg-Warner corporation, Chicago, in December.

Others Assemble Machines

All assembly work will be done by others, with company headquarters devoted to expansion of engineering research and sales, Sayre said. Bendix manufactured no parts before the war and found it preferable from an economic standpoint after the war to contract for its assembly work, he said.

Office of price administration policies have proved a difficulty both to Bendix and to its parts manufacturers, Sayre asserted. Its two models of home laundry units, similar to pre-war models but with several mechanical improvements, are priced to retail at October, 1941, levels. Manufacturing costs have increased 20 to 25 per cent, but Bendix, along with the rest of the washing machine industry, was permitted only a 7.7 per cent price increase, to be absorbed partly by the wholesaler and partly by the dealer.

Some Reaching Retail Market

The company had placed demonstration models with each of its 8,738 dealers a month after V-J day. It has taken 573,814 retail orders since that time. Regular shipments are made to distributors and washers are reaching the retail markets, altho in small totals, Sayre said.

He said Bendix also will market ironers and dryers by next spring or summer. Plans for the ironer are complete. Details of the dryer have not been announced. Assembly of both will be by other companies.

Bendix made only 330,000 automatic washers in five years of production before the war, but expects pent up demand for washers, particularly the automatic type, will provide a ready market for the 600,000 planned in the next year. The washer is patented, and Bendix will protect its position patent-wise, Sayre said. Westinghouse Electric corporation is making a washing machine under a Bendix license.

Bendix has tripled its sales outlets and plans a 3 million dollar promotion program next year, said W. J. Daily, advertising director.

REFRIGERATOR PRICE CEILINGS TO AVERAGE LEVEL OF MARCH, '42

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22 (AP)—OPA said today that retail price ceilings for new refrigerators will average the levels of March, 1942. A spokesman for the agency said that altho in some cases ceilings will be above or below prices of three and a half years ago, the difference will be "only about $2 or so."

OPA said manufacturers would be given an increase over March, 1942, ceilings if they qualify under the reconversion pricing formula. To hold consumer prices to 1942 average levels, distributors' and retailers' profit margins will be narrowed regardless of ceilings assigned to manufacturers.

OPA asserted that despite this, "there will be no actual reduction" in dealers' over-all profits, because they "will not find it necessary to accept trade-ins at more than their resale value," or hold special sales to stimulate consumer buying.

Ice Cream Officials Fined for Exceeding Milk Quota

Federal Judge Campbell yesterday fined two officials of Jersey Ice Cream company, Sandwich, Ill., $1,250 each for violations of the war food administration's ice cream order. A. B. Henry, owner, and William V. Francis, plant manager, pleaded guilty to using more than their quota of milk solids previous to last March.

BILL FOR CEILING PRICE ON HOUSES MAY BE OFFERED

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22 (AP)—Sen. Wagner [D., N. Y.] today said he may sponsor legislation to impose price ceilings on houses.

"I had a conference with some interested government officials this morning and something may be introduced soon," he told a reporter. Wagner is chairman of the banking committee, which handles price control legislation.

Price Administrator Bowles has been vigorously urging that ceilings be placed on prices of dwellings. He said sales prices in many communities had gone up 50 to 100 per cent. John B. Blandford Jr., national housing administrator, also has advocated such ceilings.

OPA Hikes Basing Point Prices on Pig Iron Today

Washington, D. C., Oct. 22 (AP)—The OPA today announced an increase of 75 cents a ton in maximum basing point prices for pig iron, effective tomorrow. It said the increase was granted to assure the industry a rate of return at least equal to that of 1936-'39.

WESTERN UNION TO BUILD RADIO RELAY SYSTEMS

7 Year Cost Placed at 62 Million

New York, Oct. 22 (AP)—The Western Union Telegraph company today announced plans for a 62 million dollar radio relay system to link the nation's major cities in the next seven years and eliminate thousands of miles of poles.

Super-high frequency radio beams each will be able to transmit as many as 1,080 messages simultaneously over one beam—many more than wires they will replace, said A. N. Williams, president, and company engineers.

"A Most Significant Advance"

Dr. C. B. Jolliffe, vice president in charge of Radio Corporation of America laboratories, termed it "one of the most significant advances in the communications field in modern times," climaxing more than 20 years of research and development by R. C. A. engineers.

Western Union already has applied for federal communications commission approval to establish experimental radio relay networks between New York and Washington, New York and Pittsburgh, and a secondary system between New York and Philadelphia.

Experiment Meets All Tests

These networks alone would permit removal of 2,500 miles of pole lines with 54,000 miles of wire, and 180 miles of aerial and underground cables. Present lines will not be removed until the radio system is in full and successful operation.

An experimental circuit operated between New York and Philadelphia last spring met all tests, Williams said.

Towers spaced at intervals of about 30 miles will pick up and relay radio beams between cities. They will be located at high points—mostly hills or mountains.

CHICAGO SLUM CLEARANCE AIM HELD UNSOUND

Builders and Realty Men Condemn CHA Plan

BY AL CHASE

Vigorous opposition to turning Chicago's 10 million dollars in slum clearance funds over to the Chicago housing authority for what was described as an unsound housing program was voiced yesterday by representative builders and realty men.

They charged that the city plans to use the 10 million dollars as the basis of a request for a 90 million dollar federal loan, and that the entire 100 million dollars would then be spent exclusively in Negro districts.

As Predicted, Warterfield Says

J. Soule Warterfield, former president of the Chicago Real Estate board, recalled that he had predicted that all money allocated for slum clearance would be given to Negro public housing, adding:

"Now the cat is out of the bag. The council housing committee favors giving the money to the Chicago housing authority for use on three sites recommended by the slum clearance coördinating committee, made up of representatives of the city council, the county board, and the CHA. All three sites are in Negro districts. It may be politically expedient to give all to this organized minority, but it's not a sound program."

Revolving Fund Advocated

Warterfield said the fund should be used as it was intended—as a revolving fund for acquiring slum sites, to be resold in turn to private builders of housing for the deserving white collar class, both Negro and white.

Arthur Fossler, president of the Chicago Metropolitan Home Builders' association, said "this housing should not be confined to any one district or to the special advantage of any group of citizens with one exception. That exception is the veteran."

Farr for Private Enterprise

Newton C. Farr, president of the Civic association, said the money should be used almost entirely for acquiring land in a variety of areas and that private enterprise should do the building wherever possible.

Floyd Dana, president of the Chicago Real Estate board, said putting 100 million dollars into public housing would create a new tax drag by removing that much property from the tax rolls. "The returning veterans don't believe in public housing," he said. "They want their own homes."

The 10 million dollar fund is composed one-half of state funds and one-half of city funds, for which the voters approved a 5 million dollar bond issue.

OPEN U.S. INQUIRY ON PRICE FIXING IN OPTICAL TRADE

George B. Haddock, special assistant to the United States attorney general, said yesterday that he had begun a "sweeping grand jury investigation" of alleged conspiracies to fix prices between eyeglass manufacturers and eye specialists and a system whereby the specialists got rebates on fees paid by customers sent to manufacturers.

It was reported that the first of 30 to 35 witnesses were being taken before the federal grand jury. Firms to be involved in the investigation, which will extend across the country, include Bausch & Lomb Optical company, 5 N. Wabash av., Riggs Optical company, 58 E. Washington st., and the American Optical company, 10 S. Wabash av., it was reported.

TWO DAUGHTERS BRAND HEIRESS AS A DRUNKARD

The alleged drinking proclivities of Mrs. Alice Lyons, 45, of the Stevens hotel, heiress to an Indiana traction fortune, were described yesterday by her two daughters, Alice, 22, and Jane, 15, and her husband, Dr. Horace Lyons, 54, ear, nose, and throat specialist, before a jury in the Superior court of Judge John A. Sbarbaro.

Miss Jane Lyons

Mrs. Lyons is suing her husband for separate maintenance, alleging that she turned over $400,000 to him during their marriage. He has countered with a cross bill for divorce, in which he charges his wife with habitual drunkenness. Both suits are being heard simultaneously. The hearing began last Monday.

The younger daughter, who followed her sister to the stand, repeated the latter's testimony as to seeing her mother in an intoxicated condition frequently during the last several years.

ADMITS LOOTING FRATE DEPOT OF $6,000 SWEATERS

Sam Bongiorno, 21, of 2448 Webster av., son of John Bongiorno, a Stateville convict serving 199 years for murder of a Chicago policeman, was held to the federal grand jury in $2,500 bond by Commissioner Edwin K. Walker yesterday when he pleaded guilty to a charge of stealing $6,000 worth of sweaters from the Erie railroad frate depot at 14th and Clark sts.

A companion, Vincent P. Mangogna, 19, of 1330 Cleveland av., a carpenter and army veteran, pleaded not guilty and was held in $2,500 bond for a further hearing next Monday.

The men were seized last Saturday by railroad police after they had loaded the sweaters on a truck while posing as frate handlers, according to George McSwain, head of the federal bureau of investigation here.

J. A. Walsh Appointed County Welfare Aid

Clayton F. Smith, president of the county board, announced yesterday that Joseph A. Walsh, 7200 South Park av., had been appointed assistant director of the county bureau of public welfare.

WOMAN ACCUSED OF $6,000 THEFT BY REALTY FIRM

Miss Veronica Frymark, 40, of 3453 N. Ridgeway av., a bookkeeper for the Edward Glenicki Real Estate company at 4200 Milwaukee av. for the last 13 years, was arrested yesterday on a charge of embezzlement, preferred by Glenicki, who told Irving Park police Miss Frymark had taken $6,000. Miss Frymark, police said, admitted taking small sums during the last five years, but denied that it would aggregate the figure named by her employer. She will be arraigned in Felony court today.

County Treasurer Lays Off 145 for Lack of Cash

County Treasurer Victor L. Schlaeger said yesterday that because of lack of money for payrolls, he had laid off 145 employes in his office and said that 50 more would have to take an enforced vacation before Dec. 1, when the county fiscal year ends. With his force cut almost in half for the time being, Schlaeger said he was conducting an "acceptance office" only and was doing no field work in the collection of taxes.

SEARING LOVE OF TRUMPETER COSTS $50 FINE

Reginald Ashbaugh, 28, a trumpet player, whose love burned so intensely that he seared his wife, Madeline, 25, with a hot iron when he heard her in a telephone conversation with another trumpeter, was fined $50 for assault by Judge Jay A. Schiller in South State court yesterday.

Ashbaugh told the court that he left a dance band in Texas to see Madeline, but that when he entered her home at 4121 Sheridan rd. her coolness increased after the phone call and that she went on ironing instead of talking to him. Mrs. Ashbaugh, showing burns on her arms, wrist, and neck, said he began to iron out their troubles on her.

Ashbaugh said she ironed him first and Mrs. Ashbaugh admitted trying to prod him out the door with a bread knife. There were three prods, she said. Later the couple had coffee, they said.

GETS 10 DAYS FOR STABBING

Loren McEwen, 21, of 1637 N. Talman av. was sentenced to 10 days in the Bridewell by Judge Edward P. Lucas in Racine av. court yesterday for stabbing Claude Drabeim, 32, of 1630 N. Richmond st., in a fight outside a tavern at 1637 N. California av. Saturday night. Drabeim's wound was slight.
